United Minister Wins New Trial

OTTAWA (CP)—Warning against the validity of unsupported evidence from accomplices, the Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Russell Horsburgh, a former United Church minister, on five charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

HORSBURGH
. . . jailed 107 days

In a 4 to 3 decision, the court said the original trial judge erred in treating as independent witnesses a group of boys and girls who swore in 1964 that the Chatham, Ont., clergyman encouraged them to have sexual intercourse in a church apartment.

Mr. Justice Ronald Martland, writing the main majority judgment, said the youngsters, who were 14 and 15 years old at the time, should have been treated as accomplices in the offences alleged.

As accomplices, their evidence would have required corroboration in order to be acceptable.

GAVE KEY EVIDENCE

Five girls and three boys were the main witnesses against Horsburgh, who resigned from the United Church ministry in June of 1965 after the Ontario Supreme Court rejected his appeal.

They testified about a series of incidents at the Park Street United Church in Chatham between July of 1963 and June of 1964. The theme of their evidence was that Horsburgh on numerous occasions persuaded them to use the vacant apartment for sexual activity.

A year later one of the youngsters, and another witness who was 19, made out affidavits stating that their trial evidence was false and was part of a conspiracy designed to ruin Horsburgh while taking the blame away from them.

Horsburgh heard the high court's decision today at the Kent County jail in Chatham where he surrendered himself Sunday night.

Mr. Horsburgh, who had been free on bail until 6 p.m. Sunday, has spent 107 days of his one-year sentence in jail.

DESPITE FRIENDLY SUMMIT SESSIONS

Kosygin's Hard Stand Jolts Peace Hope

By WILLIAM R. FRYE
Times UN Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The official public report by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on his Glassboro, N.J., talks with President Johnson is:

● Little if any progress on the Mideast or Vietnam.

● "Significant forward movement" on a treaty to ban the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Kosygin gave his report here Sunday at a televised UN news conference.

If Israel does not withdraw from territories conquered in the Mideast war, the Soviet Union wants the UN security council to impose "sanctions" on her, Kosygin said.

If, on the other hand, Israel does pull out, there then can be negotiations on a wide range of subjects, including limitations on arms shipments to the area, he declared.

He acknowledged that on this order of priorities, he and the president "did not reach agreement." Johnson, he said, wants to "consider the entire complex of questions" as a single package.

Kosygin was careful to portray his position as one of continuing solidarity with the Arab states. Observers said he obviously was trying to ease Arab fears of a possible Soviet-American accord behind their backs.

On Vietnam, Kosygin similarly sought to reassure North Vietnam he remained tough.

Indeed, he went a step further than the Kremlin has done in other recent pronouncements, demanding not merely a halt in the bombing of the north but also a withdrawal of all troops aiding South Vietnam.

There are "profound differences" between President Johnson and himself on the subject, he observed. "We discussed Vietnam for quite some time, but no decisions were reached."

The news conference served to dispel some of the atmosphere of bonhomie which had been generated at Glassboro by smiles, handshakes and talk of saving the peace for grandchildren.

However, it was recognized that any progress which may have been made by the two heads of state would not necessarily have been reflected in a public statement by Kosygin, who has Peking, Hanoi and a dozen Arab capitals looking over his shoulder.

Moreover, neither Soviet nor American policy is made on the spur of the moment at a face-to-face meeting of two individuals, however high-ranking. It goes through a long and torturous process in which "hawks" and "doves" pull in opposite directions, and many divergent influences are brought to bear.

Hopeful signs discerned amongst Kosygin's more negative remarks included:

● That Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will continue discussing the Mideast, seeking agreement.

● That similar efforts will continue for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

● That, while disagreeing with Washington on when and under what conditions an overall Mideast settlement should be attempted, Moscow nevertheless does agree that it is desirable to make the effort. No Arab state has said this much in public.

Balancing these glimmers of hope were other, much more sombre, comments.

Asked whether as a result of his talks with Johnson he expected steps could or would be taken to end the Vietnam war, Kosygin replied: "I wouldn't say that."

In order for Soviet-American relations to show improvement, or for President Johnson to have a cordial welcome on a return visit to the Soviet Union, the United States would first have to "end" its "aggression" in Vietnam, he said.

He indicated, without saying so, that little or no progress had been made toward an agreement to curb the installation of expensive anti-ballistic missile systems in the two countries.

In an interesting aside, he remarked that he opposed nuclear-weapon tests by all countries. He was answering a question about Red China's H-bomb test, but ovservers noted that France is also preparing at least one weapons test in the Pacific.

Differences Remain Between Soviet, U.S.

'Summit Back Stab' —Albania

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Albania, an ally of Red China, charged today that Russia called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its treachery against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with U.S. President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world".

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana, Cuba.

Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-country assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He said the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson.

King Hussein of Jordan addressed the General Assembly this afternoon and accused UN members of observing a double standard on Arab and Israeli problems.

Hussein said there would have been demands for an immediate withdrawal from the big powers if the Arabs were occupying Tel Aviv today.

Nasi called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that the Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

FAILED ARABS

The Russians, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to co-ordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet revisionists he said:

"We repulse your friendship.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to frighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premediated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

RESPONDING TO CHEERS in Glassboro, N.J., Sunday, are Soviet Premier Kosygin and President Johnson, who emerge after summit talks. The world leaders wave to crowd in response to friendly chant.

'PEOPLE WON'T ASK WHERE IT IS ANY MORE'

Glassboro Still Blinking From Glare of Spotlights

GLASSBORO, N.J. (UPI) — This sleepy college town in the heart of the South Jersey farmland was struggling back to normal today but things never again will be quite the same.

"Hollybush," for 10 hours the meeting place of the two world leaders, is once more just the home of the president of Glassboro State College.

But the 118-year-old brown fieldstone mansion may someday become a national historic shrine.

The town itself is ready to once again pick up its role of a quiet college community.

But, as 16-year-old Barbara Marshall put it: "People won't ask where Glassboro is any more."

A giant cleanup effort was launched at dawn today to remove tons of paper cups, soda bottles and assorted trash left by the 3,000 spectators who crowded around "Hollybush" Sunday for a glimpse of President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Within minutes after the two world leaders exchanged farewells, the campus was virtually deserted.

Seven state troopers were stationed in "Hollybush" during the night to guard against souvenir hunters, and workmen today began converting the mansion back into a home for college president and Mrs. Thomas E. Robinson.

The Robinsons, who have been living in a men's dormitory while Johnson and Kosygin made history in their home, voiced hopes some of the modern conveniences installed for the summit would be left behind.

The White House installed 17 new air conditioners in the old mansion and also put in a complete kitchen with all the latest conveniences.

Most of the air conditioners were coming out, but a spokesman said several would probably be left behind for the Robinsons.

Workmen were also busily taking down hundreds of feet of wooden snow fence erected Saturday after the secret service decided to tighten security arrangements for Sunday's session.

Though their flowers were trampled and their lawns used as shortcuts, the people of Glassboro were on the whole mighty pleased to have been able to host the two leaders.

"I don't think we'll ever forget it," said Mrs. Bonnie D'Amico. "I hope some good will come out of this meeting, and I believe it has."

JORDAN CLOSES ESCAPE ROUTE

AMMAN (UPI)—Jordan today closed the Allenby Bridge across the River Jordan and refused to accept any more refugees from Israeli-occupied territory.

Panic-stricken refugees have been pouring across the war-damaged bridge at the rate of 1,000 per day since the Arab-Israeli war ended two weeks ago, presenting Jordan with a chronic refugee problem.

Israelis have been openly encouraging inhabitants of the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River to flee to the east bank, still held by Jordan.

Appeals by King Hussein and other Jordanian officials to west bank citizens to stay in their homes have fallen on deaf ears.

Kosygin Flies To Cuba

GLASSBORO, N.J. (CP)—The United States and the Soviet Union concluded a two-session summit conference Sunday without resolving their differences over major world issues.

U.S. President Lyndon Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin expressed fervent hopes for peace after nearly 10 hours of talks Friday and Sunday.

Then they left to deliver statements showing deep differences remain on the major issues of the Vietnamese war, the Middle East's continuing crisis or halting a costly competition in building rocket defences against nuclear - bearing missiles.

Today Kosygin left the United States by plane for Cuba.

The two leaders continued Sunday their first personal exposure fo each other and the first Soviet-U.S. summit since 1961.

But this second round of talks delved directly into the war in Vietnam, Soviet backing for the defeated Arab states at the hands of Israel and other issues.

Kosygin via a nationally-televised press conference from New York, and Johnson in a more optimistic statement a half-hour earlier from Washington, showed how far apart the two nations remain on the main points.

NO PACT IN SIGHT

Johnson said he feels the world is a "little less dangerous" as a result of the talks. But "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis and . . . our well-known differences over Vietnam continue."

Kosygin — a soberer, more dour figure at New York than had been on display here—gave his TV audience the Soviet line as it has stood.

Both sides felt it "useful" to compare positions, he said.

But Israel is the aggressor in the Middle East and Israel must be censured, with damages to be paid for its aggression, he said.

The key point was that Israel must retire behind its original territorial limits.

"Profound differences" existed on Vietnam between the two countries. The U.S. must halt the bombing of North Vietnam and withdraw its troops from the South to bring about peace.

The president acknowledged that "agreement on Vietnam is smaller than on issues such as

CONVENTION PROGRAM GIVES THE CLUE

Tory Tip-Off That Dief Will Retire

By JOHN MIKA

John Diefenbaker has let the leadership convention planning committee know he will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

That was a leading interpretation at a Progressive Conservative picnic here Saturday after word spread the committee unanimously had scheduled Mr. Diefenbaker as one of the three main speakers on the convention's opening day.

Gene Rheaume, executive secretary of the committee which held a major planning session in Victoria over the weekend, denied the group had received any word from Mr. Diefenbaker.

"We have just decided to invite Mr. Diefenbaker to speak to the party as its leader," Mr. Rheaume said.

But both grass roots supporters and some of the party "brass" at the picnic said the decision was a symbolic double-edged sword indicating Mr. Diefenbaker has decided to cut out.

They reasoned that the committee had to know Mr. Diefenbaker's intentions before making such a decision 2½ months before the Sept. 7-9 leadership meeting in Toronto because:

1. If he ran, then it would be loading the dice to allow him to speak to the delegates once as leader on opening day and a second time as one of the candidates the next day.

2. If he didn't run, it would be a travesty to have failed to put on the list of speakers one of the party's greatest leaders at what is expected to be the party's biggest convention.

DIEFENBAKER
. . . swansong speech?

So the betting inside the party now is that a little bird told the planners that when Mr. Diefenbaker rises to address the 7,000 delegates, alternates, wives and observers in Maple Leaf Gardens, it will be to deliver his swan song.

An informed source fortified the theory Saturday when he revealed that "50 members of the caucus got together to ask Donald Fleming to be a candidate. None asked Mr. Diefenbaker and I think that's what finally made up his mind."

Dalton Camp, national party president and the man who engineered the leadership convention in a move to retire Mr. Diefenbaker, was not at the planning session here when the decision was made on the speaker lineup.

He was to have attended the two-day meeting behind closed doors in the Empress Hotel but missed it due to "unexpected" and unexplained business elsewhere, Mr. Rheaume said.

(Mr. Camp predicted during the weekend that at least one of three Conservative premiers he has urged to enter the leadership race will become a candidate.

(None of the three declared candidates—George Hees, Donald Fleming and Alvin Hamilton—who showed up for a Saturday barbecue picnic here said such an eventuality would affect their bids for the job.)

Two others will address the leadership convention opening day besides Mr. Diefenbaker and they will be billed as the keynote speakers, the planning session decided. They are:

Roger Regimbal, MP for Argenteuil-Deux Montagnes and co-chairman of the planning committee;

Peter Lougheed, who led the Alberta Tories out of the political wilderness into the official opposition by winning six seats in the May 23 provincial election.

Doctor Acquitted Of Assault

OTTAWA (CP)—The act of a Richmond, B.C., doctor in allowing a friend to watch a vaginal examination of a woman patient was not indecent assault, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled today.

The court directed a verdict of acquittal on the charges against William, Lloyd Bolduc, who has since lost his licence to practise medicine, and David Bird, a night club musician at the time of the original trial last November.

The man had been convicted of indecent assault and sentenced to two years each. The B.C. Appeal Court turned down their appeals.

Bolduc introduced Bird to the patient as a medical intern and obtained her consent to have him watch the examination. Bird, wearing a white laboratory coat and stethoscope, was introduced to her as "Dr. Bird."

Mr. Justice Emmett Hall, writing the majority opinion, said Bolduc's conduct "was unethical and reprehensible in the extreme and was something no reputable medical practitioner would have countenanced."

However, this unethical conduct did not fall under the scope of the Criminal Code section dealing with indecent assault.

the prospect of a mutually-arranged draft treaty on curbing the spread of nuclear weapons."

"Yet even in Vietnam I was able to make very clear, with no third party between us, that we will match and we will outmatch every step to peace that others may be ready to take," Johnson said.

Johnson said high-level talks will continue next week on what he called the "question of arms limitation."

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, both now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accords out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollybush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met.

At his press conference Kosygin seemed nervous about China, which exploded its first hydrogen bomb June 17, the day the UN General Assembly convened in emergency session on the Middle East at Soviet request.

He said China should obey the spirit of the 1963 Moscow treaty banning tests of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere, although it didn't sign the treaty. "We are against all tests by nuclear powers and China is a nuclear power."

QUERY BRUSHED OFF

He was asked about the possibility of China supplying nuclear arms to Arab countries in an effort to undermine Soviet influence. Brushing this question off in a hurry, he said: "I don't think the question arises of China giving nuclear weapons to the Arab countries."

The first formal press conference ever given at the UN by a Soviet premier, it lasted for one hour and 17 minutes.

Kosygin reviewed recent events that have led up to the present situation in the Middle East and read a statement on his talks with Johnson. He then answered questions that had been submitted in writing to Chakravarthi Raghavan of India, president of the UN Correspondents Association.

He was asked whether Stalin's daughter Svetlana, who has defected to the United States and is having her memoirs published, is free to visit the Soviet Union and her children free to visit her in the United States.

Stalin's daughter "is a morally unstable person and a sick person," Kosygin said, with obvious contempt in his voice. "I can only pity those who wish to use her for any political purpose and to discredit the Soviet Union."

In her case, "travel questions just do not arise."

Kosygin's daughter, Mrs. Ljudmila Gvishiana, 38, was a virtually unnoticed spectator at the press conference. She followed the proceedings intently and chatted now and then with two men in neighboring seats.

Rigid Rules, Modern Methods Planned for Tory Convention

The Progressive Conservative party plans to add American know-how and eliminate Tory backbiting at its leadership convention this fall.

That's the word from the man who will be "floor manager" for the Sept. 7-9 convention in Toronto—Gene Rheaume, executive secretary of the convention planning committee.

With a staff of 20 in a Toronto headquarters, he's responsible for proposing rule changes and organizing the mechanics of accommodating some 7,000 persons in 28 hotels, running sub-committee meetings in the Royal York and the main convention program in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Here for a planning session with the national executive, one of four held so far outside of Ottawa, he outlined some of the more important rule changes decided over the weekend.

PREVENT RIGGING

These mainly centred on preventing the bitter quarrelling and accusations of "delegate packing" that emerged after the annual convention earlier this year in Ottawa which saw Dalton Camp succeed in forcing the party-wide meeting to choose a new leader.

The B.C. delegation particularly was accused by some prominent Tories in the province of being "rigged" in favor of Mr. Camp and against John Diefenbaker because a number were selected arbitrarily by the provincial headquarters.

"There will be five delegates from each constituency.

"They are to be elected at a constituency meeting which must be advertised in the press and it must be open to any person who holds a Conservative party card.

"This is definite and it is very rigid. Every constituency must file a copy of such an advertisement with me and it must explicitly say that everyone is welcome to the meeting for choosing delegates."

RIGID RULES

Each constituency will be entitled to five delegates but another change requires that there be at least one woman and one Young Progressive Conservative club member or someone under 30 years of age in each delegation.

There also will be delegates-at-large selected by another rigid rule that the president, vice-president and two federal party representatives in each province must agree on the choices.

A third category of delegates will have ex-officio status but will be able to vote and these include all sitting and former MPs, senators, privy councillors, official representatives of the women's, YPC and university PC clubs.

All told, there will be about 2,400 delegates to the convention including 1,320 from constituencies, 480 ex-officio and 600 at large.

"B.C. will have a very large delegation to this convention, something around 200," said Mr. Rheaume. "It has been allocated 30 delegates-at-large which is about 10 more than last time.

"This convention is going to be much closer to the American conventions and not just in the large number running for leadership," he added.

"Indeed, we are going to have some observers from the American parties watching our convention which is something of a new wrinkle.

"They're interested because they think 2,400 delegates is a very big affair and they're intrigued that each one will decide his own vote instead of going by delegation blocs."

Mr. Rheaume spent a week in Washington consulting with both Democratic and Republican officials to learn their convention-managing techniques.

"Our biggest innovation will be to use voting machines as they do," he said. "We will have 20 of them on wheels with curtained booths.

"They are absolutely foolproof and so efficient that when the last guy has voted on a machine you just press a button and presto—you have the total votes for each candidate.

"It will take only half an hour to have close to 2,500 delegates cast their votes and have the ballots counted and confirmed so no recount is needed.

"It will take only 15 minutes to re-program the ballots into the machines so even if we have seven or eight candidates and it takes five or six ballots to pick the winner, there'll be no trouble at all.

"We start voting at 1 p.m. and we will be all cleaned up by 6 p.m. at the very latest on Sept. 9, Eastern Daylight Time.

"This will be the very first time voting machines have been used in a Canadian convention and I'm confident the other parties will have to follow our lead.

"In fact, I think we'll be using them in general elections before long because they're so fast and sure."

If you're talented enough to roll your own, you'll find it a breeze to like new Samson

Because Samson is different from any cigarette tobacco you've ever smoked before.

It looks and feels different because it's a Dutch Cut. This means the individual strands of tobacco are longer and finer. The result: easier rolling and cooler smoking.

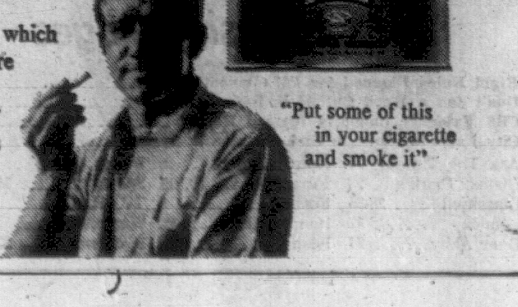
It tastes different, because it's from Theodorus Niemeyer, Holland's leading tobacco blenders since 1819. (Experts from Niemeyer spent 2 years experimenting with the world's finest tobaccos before they came up with blends satisfying enough to become Samson).

And it's packed differently because we put Samson in a handy double-folded roll-up pouch that keeps your tobacco sweet and fresh. If you prefer, Samson comes in a convenient tin, too.

Samson comes in two blends. Samson Super Virginia for those smokers who'd like to get more satisfaction out of a Virginia cigarette.

And Samson Special Blend which gives a richer body and a more masculine taste.

So why not try them both? After all, your talent deserves the best.



"Put some of this in your cigarette and smoke it"

PITCH PLEAS AT PARTY FAITHFUL IN FAIRGROUNDS

Tory Hopefuls Politic at Picnic

George Hees grinned and called it "painless politics."

Donald Fleming sombrely reminded everyone that 10 weeks to the day, it will be mortally painful for the party if it doesn't reunite behind a new leader.

And Alvin Hamilton earnestly outlined his formula for winning the next election with "policies for people" but diffidently added he knew most present "just want to take a look at the three of us and make up your own minds."

That's how the three leading declared candidates for the national Progressive Conservative leadership made their pitches to about 700 party faithful at a cook-out in Saanich fairgrounds Saturday.

The crowd came from the lower mainland and up-Island points as well as Greater Victoria and ranged from bare-foot miniskirted beauties to old men hobbling around with canes.

But they all seemed to like the combination of barbecued chicken, salad and strawberries on the same plate and Hees, Fleming and Hamilton on the same platform, all under Tory-blue skies.

And judging by the rounds of applause and clusters of well-wishers they towed behind them as they "mingled," the crowd liked each of the former Tory cabinet ministers about equally well.

That seemed to bear out the consensus of the "insiders" who mingled by the platoon to take a pulse reading of the crowd.

Standings Unchanged

(The insiders were some 30 members and staff assistants of the leadership convention planning committee and most of the national executive who were in Victoria for a special weekend meeting.)

One of these said there is no groundswell developing for any of the declared or mooted candidates yet but—if it means anything—George Hees is in front, Donald Fleming is coming up fast and Alvin Hamilton is keeping the pace as a dark horse.

And that's about the way the chicken barbecue committee must have seen it unconscioulsy when they deorated a makeshift platform with "Welcome" signs.

They put Hees high in the centre with the other two flanking his name lower down—Fleming to his right and Hamilton to his left.

All three were campeigning hard between mouthfuls of chicken as they buttonholed potential delegates who will be among the 2,400 voters that decide their fates Sept. 9 in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

Projected Images

Their clothes as well as their speaking styles indicated the "images" they were building.

While most persons dressed informally, all three were in jackets and tie, their grey hairs and slight moustaches adding to outward similarity.

Mr. Hamilton, eschewing his "farm boy" past despite the farm fairgrounds locale, was the most citified in iridescent dark grey suit, black patent shoes, white shirt and stripe tie.

Mr. Hees wore brown brogues and a loose and comfortable-looking grey summerweight suit but he dolled it up with a silky striped shirt, gold tie bar and heavy gold cufflinks.

And Mr. Fleming wore white shirt, plain tie, solid green blazer, light grey slacks and heavy rubber-soled brown walking shoes that fit his platform observation he would have remained retired from politics and on a golf course that day but for his love of party.

Fast Patter

A toss of the coin gave Mr. Hees the lead-off speaking position and he delivered five minutes of fast, folksy patter, opening with praise for the cook-out idea "as one of the finest examples of painless politics as I've ever seen."

"It's so very pleasant here. I don't know when I've enjoyed myself so much."

He said many had asked him if the multiplicity of candidates for the leadership would hurt the party.

"I don't think so," was his answer. "I think that the more people we have in the competition for the leadership of our party the better."

He said the next Tory leader will be prime minister soon because of Liberal "incompetence" so it is important for the party to pick the best man available and unite behind him.

"United we can go anywhere we want and we are going to form the next government if we are united," he said.

Gesturing at his opponents, he assured the spectators "we are all good friends and whoever is chosen at the convention, the others will support him 100 per cent.

"We will move forward, eliminating friction losses so we can form a government."

Mr. Hees said the party must aim its appeal more at urbanites and youth, then praised the existing Conservative caucus.

"Our MPs could put up two or three cabinets, any one of which would be better than the one we have in Ottawa now, and we still would have good bench material left over.

"So on to Toronto. We're all good friends and like each other and you're going to choose the one who will do the job so heaven help the Grits and the NDP."

Fervent Plea

Mr. Fleming also blasted the present federal government and made a fervent appeal for Tory unity.

Describing himself as at a disadvantage with his "good friends George and Alvin because I'm covered in political rust," Mr. Fleming said he ended a four-year retirement from politics to crusade for party unity as a leadership candidate.

"Ten weeks from this afternoon, the decision will be made by the party on who will be its leader for the next years," he said.

"One thing transcends all others in importance and that is that out of that convention should come complete unity—unity of purpose, unity of loyalty."

He said the Conservative Party had great traditions of advancing Canada's destiny and must remain viable because the country needs it.

"In the face of fumbling and faltering and the mismanagement at Ottawa, surely the need is evident to every Canadian—the need for the Progressive Conservative party in strength and virility to meet the needs of Canada in the second century.

"If we can submerge our differences and bury our recriminations, then we will form the next government."

Practical Talk

Mr. Hamilton was the only one who didn't make any unity appeal, concentrating on a discussion of practical politics—and displaying some in his speech.

He was the only one to mention incumbent leader John Diefenbaker's name and got an extra hand for doing so.

Speaking slowly and quietly, he said he was grateful for the chance to meet so many British Columbians from the Prairies.

He said his theme would be the same urging of party reorientation that he proposed after its defeat four years ago.

"The Conservative party in Canada has had some tough sledding," he declared.

"We have been unable to get a solid hold on our cities. We made temporary breakthroughs in 1957 and 1958 and I give the credit for that to the Right Hon. John Diefenbaker.

"No party in Canada has successfully enunciated a coherent and logical urban policy but I think that we are beginning to work one out based on the needs of people, young marrieds and the others who are moving into our cities with their special problems.

"My objective, as I said four years ago, is to do for the city what we have done for the country," the former agriculture minister said.

He said the party's new leader must initiate a three-pronged program in order to win the next election.

"First, he must hold our present big base of 96 seats.

"Second, can he move into rural Quebec. We must extend our base into rural Quebec which is demanding a better deal economically.

"They (rural Quebec) have one thing in common with us and that is that they want to keep on the north half of this continent a country which is our own.

"Third, and the major objective, is to remedy the weakness of our party in the last 30 years by developing an urban policy that can win and hold seats in the cities."

Guest of honor George Chatterton, Tory MP for Esquimalt-Saanich whose constituency organized the cook-out as a gesture to him, was on the platform too but only got to say:

"Three cheers for all three (candidates). Hip, hip . . ."

Israelis Fire At Red Cross

ALLENBY BRIDGE, Jordan (AP) — Israeli troops fired on two International Red Cross representatives Friday, apparently by mistake, as the two approached the uneasy ceasefire line along the River Jordan.

Witnesses said the Red Cross men and their driver took cover and were not hurt.

They were eventually allowed to cross the Jordan for a conference with Red Cross colleagues on the Israeli side. The discussion involved the return of wounded Jordanian soldiers from Israeli-occupied territory and the return to eastern Jordan of Jerusalem school children.

Clear Warning

THE UNITED STATES FREquently provides Canada with an example of what we should do. Just as frequently it gives us a picture of what we should not do, and we would be wise to accept the lessons.

The problems of pollution, urban sprawl, traffic congestion and similar developments in the United States show us clearly what to avoid. In the matter of public parks and wilderness areas, our neighbor shows us an example of foresight in saving parklands for the future, but also exemplifies the dangers of overcrowding and lack of planning.

The heavy traffic in the favorite American national parks has been described, and has reached a point where quotas and reservations may be necessary. The national parks, national forests and state parks in the United States average about one-quarter acre per person. In Canada the national and provincial parklands come to about one acre per person. But this includes the more than 17,000 square miles of Wood Buffalo Park—about half of the national park total—a buffalo refuge which is remote and constitutes more of a reserve for the future than a usable public area today.

Our favorable average in comparison with the United States derives from our relatively small population. The lesson to be learned is that as our population inevitably increases the ratio of persons to acres will rapidly go up and we shall ultimately arrive at the congested situation which now poses a serious problem in the neighboring country.

Obviously, what we should be doing today is adding to our park and public wilderness holdings, not only to obtain choice areas before they are occupied or privately owned, but to obtain them while they remain unspoiled.

Both federal and provincial governments should get together on this matter and ensure that we shall be properly served in the future by adequate recreational areas. These breathing spaces will become increasingly valuable, increasingly essential, as the population expands and the pressures of urban living demand a recuperative return to nature.

One serious problem that we face, at least in British Columbia, is the provincial government's policy of hacking away at existing major parklands by permitting industrial exploitation of priceless scenic sites. The mining operations in Strathcona Park, with the accompanying tree cutting, road building and townsite establishment — and other mines are reportedly taking shape there — are a case in point.

The provincial government's readiness to change park boundaries to accommodate commercial projects, or reclassify parkland to permit commercial intrusions—such policies make a mockery of any parks program. Only the public can force the government to change its ways and recognize the value of unspoiled wilderness as an alternative to ready cash.

Mr. Arthur Laing, federal minister of Indian affairs and northern development, notes that visitors to our national parks have been increasing in numbers by more than 10 per cent a year, and that last year the jump was as much as 17 per cent. Such statistics carry their own warning to all who can see further ahead than a mere half-dozen years.

As Mr. Laing says: "The pressure on our parks threatens to overwhelm them. No nature reserve can withstand the influx of visitors and preserve its natural character . . . the parks systems are going to have to be vastly expanded . . ."

British Columbia should get in step with the continent.

Difference on School Finance

A PAMPHLET CIRCULATED by the British Columbia School Trustees' Association emphasizes the difference in opinion between that body and the Greater Victoria School Board—one of its members—on the question of school finance.

The provincial association defends the existing system. The Greater Victoria board considers it unrealistic and inequitable and contends that a broader tax base must be found to ease the growing burden on the home-owner and municipal taxpayer.

The B.C. association makes the point that district boards should have their municipal revenue sources to pay for projects in which the provincial government refuses to share. Local boards should be able to say: "Our people want it and we will buy it ourselves."

If financing were thrust entirely onto the province, runs the argument, that option would be lost. A board would be frustrated if, being dependent entirely on provincial funds, it were told by provincial authorities "You cannot do this or buy that because we will not give you the money." Even under the present conditions, of course, the government has a veto on referendums.

A strong local voice is necessary in school matters, just as it is in the case of universities or hospitals, and this is best assured by having at least a portion of the costs paid by locally raised funds.

The basic problem in school financing at present is that the share of costs carried by local school boards is raised from the tax on property and in many cases, as in Greater Victoria, this levy is reaching a point at which adverse side effects come into being. Too heavy a tax burden on homes creates a deterrent to home ownership and improvement, and these trends in turn have adverse social and economic results. Another effect is that property owners eventually seek to evade further tax increases by voting against money bylaws for school expansion and improvement of educational facilities, necessary though these may be.

Obviously a compromise position should provide an answer. Property taxes—which must also be levied for the other municipal services such as roads, police and fire protection, and public works—should be kept at a level which can be reasonably managed by owners, and the additional funds needed for education should come from the broader base of provincial revenue provided by income and sales taxes.

What the situation needs at present, in short, is a rearrangement of emphasis, a better balancing of provincial and local revenues, rather than a complete revolution. When will the provincial government recognize its duty in this regard and agree to meet the municipalities for a full discussion?

Rather Switch Than Fight

SMOKE SIGNALS FROM RHODESIA tell a story largely overlooked by the more dramatic events far to the north.

The smoke is growing thinner. The tobacco crop — prior to sanctions the leading earner of all the country's exports and four times the value of that next in line—has not yielded its old returns. In neighboring Zambia and Malawi, leaf similar to that of Rhodesia's has sold for twice the amount Rhodesia was able to guarantee its farmers—and the latter have been told to halve their planting for next season.

The sanctions, scoffed at as they were in many quarters, are apparently making themselves felt on at least part of the Rhodesian economy. The quandary created for the Ian Smith government is obvious. Its former customers for tobacco apparently would rather switch than fight for his quality product.

Over the Sales Tax Bridge From Hull

Western

THERE IS a popular political theory, dating at least from the times of Lord Sydenham, that lavish public spending is the answer to disunity and discontent. At the moment it is not producing very happy results in communities along the Quebec-Ontario border. Not only has it landed about 40 normally law-abiding citizens in Quebec courts; it has also brought into play a Quebec law which may not offend the letter of our constitution but which plainly violates its spirit.

The provinces, in their desperate search for revenues, have become more and more dependent on the yield of retail sales taxes. Need varies, of course, from one capital to another. Ontario is presently able to get along with a 5 per cent tax but Quebec now requires 8 per cent in order to maintain the standard of expenditures to which its governments have lately become accustomed.

As might be expected in these circumstances, Quebec shoppers have been crossing the Ottawa River to deal with Ontario merchants. An objective observer might conclude from this that they are thrifty, prudent, concerned for the welfare of their families and generally endowed with those traditional Canadian virtues on which ministers of finance are wont to dwell on budget night.

Court Cases

The practice is, however, considered reprehensible by Hull merchants who, to save their business, have spurned their role as tax collectors and in consequence now face charges. The Quebec government also frowns on this form of interprovincial trade, holding that Quebec citizens should think less of themselves and more of the treasury.

Numbers of Quebec residents, combining initiative with a sound grasp of economics, have discovered that it is possible to escape either provincial tax by shopping in Ottawa for delivery in Hull. Unhappily, these promising ventures have been spoiled (at least for Ottawa merchants) by a few unscrupulous persons who have carried freedom of trade beyond reasonable limits. Not content with avoiding sales tax, they have been avoiding their bills also.

An Ottawa merchant who did attempt to collect, lost his case last week in a Hull court. Judgment was based on a Quebec law passed three years ago which states: "Persons having neither residence nor commercial establishment in the province cannot recover a debt arising out of the sale or delivery of goods to a person either residing or doing business in Quebec, if the former persons are not registered under the province's existing retail laws."

The significance of registration is that the Ontario merchant would be obliged thereafter to be a tax collector for the Quebec government in respect to sales made to residents of Quebec.

The merchant has broken no law. He has been swindled. He could obtain justice if the customer was a resident of his own province. But he is denied access to the courts of another province unless he agrees to something which has nothing whatever to do with the judicial process. It is thus possible for one province, in the exercise of its power over property and civil rights, to deny citizens of another provincial jurisdiction some part of their own civil rights.

There is, of course, a federal power of disallowance and at certain times provincial acts have been disallowed, not because they were ultra vires but because they were opposed (as Sir Lomer Gouin once put it) to "principles of right and justice".

But federal governments for years have shrunk from disallowance and even if the power was reasserted, as it could be, it is almost inconceivable that a minister of justice would now base himself on this strong doctrine.

What will happen is fairly predictable. It seems to be the view of Ottawa merchants that they will lose less through bad Quebec debts than they would by incurring the costs of registration in Quebec province. But in the end, no doubt, there will be some sort of Ontario-Quebec treaty requiring merchants on both sides of the border to act as collectors and police agents. The more the provinces are pressed for money the more theoretical will become the freedom of inter-provincial trade.

We need not doubt, however, that any such arrangement will be a challenge to bold spirits on the Quebec side, evoking the same stirring response that animated so many Canadians in the great days of American prohibition. Sales tax covers a great range of articles; luxuries, even clothing; and there is nothing like a practical problem in economics to test the moral fibre and free-trading instincts of our people. Naturally law and order will prevail in the end but there should be some interesting times before we all become accustomed to presenting our passports when we enter the stores.

Aden: The Difficulties of Letting Go

Traynor

THERE will be no martyrdom for the latest victims of Middle Eastern violence. Unlike the casualties of the Arab-Israel war, they were not borne to their death on a wave of patriotic fervor. They were simply caught up in the everyday reality of the seething cockpit called South Arabia. There, British troops fight a bloody and continual holding action against terrorism and disorder arising from a power struggle between rival political factions. The British aim is to develop a government within the South Arabian Federation strong enough to take over full control without becoming an easy prey to Egyptian aggression or subversion.

It was against this background that the latest spate of killings took place. A mutiny among Arab police troops — supposedly for non-political reasons — sparked an outbreak of terrorism in Aden, South Arabia's port. The first day's fighting alone claimed the lives of 17 British soldiers and one British civilian.

The was nothing glamorous about the demise of these troops, nor is there any guarantee their efforts will not turn out to have been futile. If anything, the outlook is worsening. Alleged British support for the Israeli war effort has further aroused South Arabian opinion against Britain and the current pro-British federal ministry, to the advantage of the opposing political factions.

There are some indications that the Egyptian defeat in Sinai may force President Nasser to disengage himself from the civil war in Yemen, directly to the north of the Federation. But observers here take little encouragement from this, fearing he will try to offset his losses by increasing his efforts to bring South Arabia under his wing.

There is also dismay here about the British government's plans for withdrawal. The intention of leaving the colony of Aden and the 20 federated protectorates in 1968 had been announced several years ago, but the actual timing and method had been the subject of much controversy.

January Pull-Out Date

The government has now decided to pull out the British garrison, numbering more than 10,000 in early January rather than later in the year. For six months after the withdrawal date, a British aircraft carrier will stand off Aden with planes and troops aboard. Thereafter, a measure of protection will be provided by British Vulcan bombers based on one of the sheikdoms of the Persian Gulf. Internal security will be in the hands of local forces whose present armament will be greatly supplemented. Trial by jury will be suspended in an effort to enable the courts to deal more summarily with terrorists.

Full independence will be granted and three additional protectorates are expected to join the Federation but there will be no elections beforehand, an arrangement unprecedented in the history of British decolonization. Implementation of constitutional provisions for voter registration and elections by 1971 will be left to a provisional government. The intention is that the composition of this body should be decided at negotiations between the various political factions under the aegis of the United Nations. To this end, the ban has been lifted from one of the chief terrorist groups but full participation is considered extremely unlikely and it is far from clear that the UN will agree to it. It may well turn out that Britain has to hand over full power to the present administration, which is strongly identified with the traditional rulers of the area. The feeling here is that such a regime could not long survive the departure of British troops and that the way might soon be open for a takeover by the pro-Nasser faction.

Questionable Military Aid

Theoretically, this could be forestalled by the military aid Britain has promised, but it is considered likely that this would prove ineffective in the actual event. On the one hand, the Vulcan bombers are strategic weapons designed for nuclear bombing and not for putting down insurrections. Yet they will be Britain's only direct means of intervention by mid-1968.

At the same time there is little encouragement to be drawn from the arming of the local troops. It need only be noted that the mutineers who sparked the latest battle were members of the force on which the South Arabian government will depend for its security.

Moreover, it was only the day before that the independence plan had been announced.

No panacea is conceivable for South Arabia but there is a tendency here to feel that the government's plan is the passport to the worst of all worlds. Its tough tone could aggravate anti-British feeling throughout the Arab world, without affording much security to South Arabia. And arms deliveries will increase at a time when the talk is all of limiting arms shipments to the Middle East.

The hope, as expressed by many commentators, is that Foreign Secretary George Brown will reconsider. They are encouraged by the fact that he has indicated to Parliament that this may have to be done.

Looking Back

From the Times, June 26, 1907.

Dr. F. Montezambert, chief quarantine officer of the Dominion government, is in the city today making his regular inspection of the quarantine station at William Head and other matters affecting his department on this coast.

During his stay he will make a full inquiry into the small-pox epidemic in Washington State.

About nine or ten men have been stationed on the international boundary to prevent the spread of the disease to Canada.

Classless?

I should like to commend you on two very fine articles.

(1) Hellyer's hokum on the "classless" Canadian Society by Scott Young. Of course Mr. Hellyer is talking rubbish and he knows it. However it is extraordinary to find countless native born Canadians and Americans who truly believe this fantasy. Class here in Canada, as in the U.S., is based on money and not on culture, education and background as in Europe.

(2) Two views of the U.S. race problem. If this represents U.S. ideas of freedom and democracy it is little wonder that it takes some 500,000 U.S. troops in Viet Nam to try and impose the blessings of U.S. democracy on that wretched people.

Senator Eastland and the other plantation owners reap a harvest of a quarter billion dollars from cotton whereas the median Negro income in Sunflower County is $443 per annum. Domestics work for $12 for a six day week and cotton workers earn $3 for a 10-hour day. These same Negroes are citizens when they are drafted for military service.

I think it is abject impertinence for our Southern neighbors to try and impose their way of life in Vietnam and other parts of the World. — M. P. B. Wrixon, 2530 Lansdowne.

A "Fix" for Fido

I saw recently an article in the press stating that Dr. Harvey Sanders, a professor at the University of British Columbia, is going to do research using the hallucogenic drug marijuana on dogs. I expect the next time I visit your fair province, to see a lot of dogs running around begging for a "fix."

My advice to all students is to become a university professor and forget about working for a living. The professors and the pseudo scientists wax fat under that delightful vague empire called "research." As one newspaper editor put it so aptly "The great research boondoggle continues ad infinitum!" — G. Y. Ferguson, 727 33rd Street N.W., Calgary.

Noise Pollution

I concur with the unanimous decision of the public works committee in rejecting the application to install speakers on Block 700 Yates Street, or any other street as far as I am concerned.

The stand taken by Mayor Stephen was quite justified.

It is too bad that some people do not, or will not, give a little thought to help curtail these "noise pollution" problems, which are upsetting so many people throughout the world. — Oswald J. Hutchings, 1907 Fort.

Easing Abortion

New York Times

California and Florida are the latest states to sweep away some of the cruel and archaic legal barriers to abortion. Governor Reagan, despite strong pressure from California's eight Roman Catholic bishops, announced that he will sign a liberalized bill passed by the state's legislators. It permits abortions in cases of rape, incest or when a woman's physical or mental health is gravely threatened.

Florida's Senate has approved similar legislation. These states follow the trail-blazing law enacted in Colorado and North Carolina earlier this year; their essential sections permit abortion when the birth would cause serious mental harm to the mother or when it is likely that the child would have a grave physical or mental defect.

New Jersey's abortion law is unchanged after 118 years; New York's after 84 years. In this state, as in California Roman Catholic bishops were the principal opponents of reform. There was one difference: New York's legislators succumbed to the pressure, California's did not. Now New York must wait until next year's session to catch up.

Until then, the subterfuge, the needless guilt, the expense of seeking safe abortion havens will continue. For the poor there will be no legal chance to prevent the births of unwanted children. For the inexperienced and the ignorant, the alternative to legal therapeutic abortion will be criminal abortion—possible death.

The Court-Martial Of Dr. Howard Levy

By NICHOLAS VON HOFFMAN

(The recent court-martial and conviction of a young American Army doctor, Capt. Howard Levy, has been interpreted as a major effort by the army to crush dissent within the military to the Vietnam war. Mr. Von Hoffman, who covered the entire trial for The Washington Post, reviews his impressions in the following article.)

"There was . . . a cytologist from the zoology department at Harvard who had been shanghaied ruthlessly into the Medical Corps by a faulty anode in an IBM machine and spent his session with the dying colonel trying to discuss Moby Dick with him."—Catch-22

Dr. Howard B. Levy wasn't impressed into the army. He entered in July 1965, after being deferred to complete his medical education as a dermatologist.

Instead of reading allegories he gave his military patients anti-war lectures, defied the colonel who was his commanding officer, and on June 3 was sentenced to three years at hard labor by a general court-martial at Fort Jackson, Columbia, South Carolina.

The flippant 30-year-old doctor from Brooklyn didn't go down easily. Before the army had the satisfaction of cashiering him, Levy's lawyers, four civilian and two military, had called forth the ghost of Nuremberg, impeached the Uniform Code of Military Justice and brought forward evidence indicating that the service may have some serious personnel and organizational problems.

Political Rustics

At the least, this court-martial, perhaps the most celebrated in a generation, gave those of us who sat through it the impression that too many army officers are political rustics of savage convictions, little ingenuity and less common sense.

The charges against Levy were preferred by Col. Henry F. Fancy, head of the post hospital, who ordered Levy to co-operate in giving medical training to Special Forces combat soldiers, the famous Green Beret anti-guerrilla fighters. When the doctor refused, Colonel Fancy began disciplinary action of a minor sort.

Levy's chief counsel, Charles Morgan Jr. of the American Civil Liberties Union, extorted a confession from the rather wooden colonel that he had only asked for a general court-martial after being shown a secret intelligence dossier.

What the dossier contains was never revealed since it is classified information. Morgan, who has no security clearance, wasn't permitted to look at it, although Capt. Charles Sanders, Levy's army-appointed military counsel was, provided he didn't tell Morgan what the file contained.

Thus Morgan had to defend the entire case without knowing the nature of the information which caused the charges against his client to be made. No wonder Morgan kept a copy of Kafka's The Trial in his motel room as each day he bellowed that the court-martial was a spit-and-polish lynching.

He was able to bring out that the intelligence agent who showed Fancy the file is a resident of Prosperity, S.C., a small town where Levy in his off hours had helped the local civil rights organization in a voter registration drive.

Morgan fell short of proving his accusation that it was the doctor's civil rights work that really got him into trouble, but throughout the trial you got the feeling the captain might have done better if he hadn't been Jewish and something of a pop-off with a splendidly nettlesome manner.

Wouldn't Salute

Virtually from the day he arrived in Fort Jackson, two years ago, Levy caused trouble. He refused to join the Officer's Club and got in a stink over it that rose up to the commanding general. Instead of saluting he would wave back at the enlisted men.

If Levy was the most fractious of doctors, his court-martial produced other army physicians who said they also would refuse to train Green Berets. The reasons they offered were proffessional, namely that the soldiers were being given license to use dangerous drugs on the civilian Vietnamese population with less medi-training than an American practical nurse.

Several doctors gave their not-so-snappy salutes to the 10-man court-martial and climbed on the witness stand to say they had been intimidated and to hint pretty broadly that if given immunity from reprisals they would have a lot to say in support of Levy.

Col. Richard Coppedge, a career army doctor and a reluctant witness for the defence, told a visibly uncomfortable court that the already wobbly morale of physicians drafted into the service would sag even more if Levy were put in jail.

The composite picture of all the doctors' testimony was of widespread resentment at the nearly 100 per cent draft of physicians and of considerable discontent at the subordination of medical to military judgment. The signs all pointed to the army's having a serious staff-line tug of war, certainly with the doctors and perhaps with other highly trained, technical personnel.

Off the witness stand several doctors observed that it was among physicians and other professionals that opposition to the war is highest, so that a number of spectators began asking why people in such categories have to be drafted and put under military discipline.

Only a small percentage come within 5,000 miles of being shot at; almost nothing they do requires their actually being in the army. They could just as well be in the Public Health Service or some other civilian organization and, in fact, the doctor who took Levy's place at the hospital is a local, civilian dermatologist.

HOWARD LEVY
. . . nettlesome man

Judging from the training the army gave Levy it too doesn't really think it's necessary to militarize the behavior of people in such technical occupations.

Upon his arrival Levy had captain's bars slapped on his shoulders and subsequently received six hours of orientation on army usages and organization.

Living off base, unincorporated into the military system, the outspoken 30-year-old Levy was still psychologically and socially a civilian. He continued to act like a civilian, and had he remained one he couldn't have been hauled into a traffic court for what he did, which, in essence, was to voice opinions not so very different from J. William Fulbright's.

Legally, he was in the army, and when, on duty and in uniform, he pulled his brand of anti-war dialect on a small number of enlisted men, he pulled a general court-martial at the same time.

Tried for Words

If the army had simply tried him for disobedience, the Levy case might not have attracted so much attention, but the authorities elected to try him for his words. These words, both spoken and written in a letter to a sergeant in Vietnam, were in the language of the indictment, unbecoming to a gentleman and an officer as well as uttered to promote disloyalty and disaffection among the troops.

That may have been quiet clear to the army, but to civilian lawyer Morgan the charges sounded highly unconstitutional.

The army sent Col. Earl V. Brown, its top judge, down from Washington to hear the case. A likeable man, the colonel appeared to have the impossible job of satisfying the federal courts, making an example of the insubordinate Levy and appearing lenient enough so that the army didn't wind up with another Dreyfus case on its hands.

The consequence was a trial of unmatched confusion. Both prosecution and defence fumbled their way, confessing to be at a loss as to what, if any, rules the court was working under. Hearsay, irrelevance and opinion were allowed in "as mitigation," or "subject to connection later," or for no discernible reason.

One day out of the blue an astonished courtroom heard a Green Beret testify that he assisted Dr. Levy in removing a wart from the penis of another soldier. In fact, there was so much testimony of this nature that the press began making jokes about "Private Parts, Major Confusion and General Psychosis."

Morgan and the other civilian lawyers complained unceasingly, that the key words in the accusation, "disloyalty and disaffection," were legally incomprehensible, the sour fruit which comes of trying a man for exercising the right of free speech.

Only verbatim excerpts can do justice to the miasma:

Morgan: He (Levy) never made you disloyal, did he?

Witness: No.

Morgan: He never made you disaffect, did he?

Witness: What does disaffect mean?

Morgan: I don't know. (Much laughter.)

Brown: Mr. Morgan, if you don't know the questions, don't ask 'em.

Morgan: I don't know the meaning of the word disaffection.

Brown: Well, do not use it in questions then.

Morgan: May I have instructions from the court then as to the meaning of the word?

Brown: You should have asked for it before you asked the question.

Morgan: I asked for a ruling . . . the other day.

Brown: . . . You should have asked me some time ago.

Morgan: I asked you . . . the other day.

Brown: It's not a proper legal proceeding to pose questions and then come back with a quick retort that you don't know the meaning of the words you used in your question.

Morgan: The witness said he didn't know. . . . Colonel, I'm trying to get from you . . . the legal definition of disaffection. (This in the third week of the trial.)

Brown: You don't need it at this time. . . . I told you I'd give you a legal definition . . . at the end of the trial.

Morgan: . . . If I don't know the definition I don't know how to proceed.

Brown: Certainly as a lawyer you can reach that (a working definition) through questions.

Morgan: I don't think I can, Colonel.

Brown: If you can't then maybe you should withdraw from the case.

Under the circumstances Morgan and his colleagues gave up playing man to man and dropped back into a zone defence covering the court with every conceivable kind of argument in hopes of coming up with the right one.

Wide Variety

The prosecution followed as the trial took up and dropped war crimes, atrocities, race relations, the use of para-medical personnel, the history of the development of the conventions of war, pharmacology, the major diseases of the skin, epidemiology with special reference to venereal disease, the sanctity of the doctor-patient relationship, the morality of war and the need of discipline in the armed forces.

None of the defences worked. Successively Colonel Brown ruled out truth, morality and professional ethics as grounds for acquittal.

By the second week the defence had conceded losing the court-martial and was now at work building an appellate record. (Levy can appeal up through the army to the civilian United States Court of Military Appeals. If that fails he can go back into the federal judiciary and work his way up the ladder.)

Legally, much of that record must be irrelevant, but for us laymen it reveals some disconcerting army attitudes about people who didn't have the brains to get themselves born white.

There was talk by both judge and prosecution to the effect that if the Vietnamese murdered and tortured each other with or without our complicity, life is cheap among the Asiatics.

There was a callousness as when one government witness referred to the VC as "Luke the Gook," or another declared, "If I were a Viet Cong and my medical prospects weren't good I'd rather have a Green Beret shoot me than someone untrained because it's logical to assume that if he didn't kill me, in a few minutes he'd help me."

By the trial's end, when the doctor was dragged off to something close to solitary confinement even Levy appeared relieved. If its purpose has been to make the captain repent it had failed, but the trial had called into question the wisdom of conscripting people for a war they despise and will not fight.

"How can you ask American fighting men to lay down their lives in a cause they don't believe in?" the prosecutor had asked during the trial. He was denouncing Levy for promoting disaffection. Yet no matter who it is asked of, the question is valid. If the young men who are chanting, "Hell, no! We won't go!" mean it, conscripting them is little better than drafting them into the penitentiary.

A Landscape Without People

By RICHARD J. NEEDHAM
The Globe and Mail

I've spent the last year getting out of the world of print and into the world of people. This has meant almost continuous travel around Canada, and continuous exchange of views with men and women of all ages and walks of life. Here are some impressions.

Needham

Canada is a lonely country. You go mile after mile without seeing a human being or indeed a human habitation.

This is the case even in Southern Ontario, which is Canada's most populated area. I went on the bus to Barrie the other day (Highway 400) and, once we'd left the Toronto sprawl, didn't see a human being all the way—other than those who were travelling on the highway itself.

This loneliness is even more marked, of course, when you get to the Maritimes or the Prairies or into Northern Ontario.

Maybe this is a good thing; we've lots of space. But there's a certain spookiness about it. A landscape without people may be spectacular, may be—as the saying goes—unspoiled, but it's empty, lacking in warmth. Not even a child exploring, or a couple taking a walk, or a family having a picnic on the grass. Nobody.

I wonder sometimes how long this can or will go on. The world, so we are told, is overpopulated, overcrowded; it is poor, it is hungry.

Lack of People

Yet here we are in Canada, a bare 20 million of us, with all this land. Much of it won't produce a good living, but much of it would produce a living of sorts. Here we are, too, with a chronic lack of people to develop and use our resources.

A result of this is what you find in British Columbia, an immensely rich province with fewer than two million people. It's shipping coal and ore to Japan, whose 100-million people make them into finished products, sell them all over the world (including B.C.) and get by far the better part of the deal.

But I don't find Canadians much interested in this situation. I don't find them much interested in any national situation, whether it's high taxes or resource development or foreign ownership or the petrification of the national political parties.

Canadians, I would judge, are content with what they have, and simply want it to continue. They don't want change or action; and those who do, go on to say it's impractical.

Things are as they are, nothing can be changed, perhaps nothing really needs to be changed. The nation is in no mood, as apparently it was 10 years ago, for visions.

One thing you notice travelling around (especially by train) is the messiness on the outskirts of towns and cities, the junk strewn all over the ground—rusting cars, abandoned furniture, empty packing cases, domestic and industrial waste of every type.

A Clean-Up

I wonder if any community in Canada ever has (or ever will) set about to clean itself up. I wonder if one did, how long the cleanup would last.

Canadians may be tidy as individuals, in their homes, but collectively they don't seem to care. Any vacant space is good enough for a dump-heap. Who cares?

And yet, for all this, there is Expo. Here's a Canadian event which denies the foregoing impressions. It's adventurous, imaginative, inspiring, seething with people, dynamically alive. A lot of Canadians cared a lot, dared a lot, to bring this wonderful show into being.

Is Expo going to have a real effect upon Canada, or is it just a flash in the pan—here today, gone and forgotten tomorrow?

Do the talent and energy and courage it reflects have any lasting place in Canada's life? I'll think about this as I stand in the line-ups, and report back early in July.

Progress Threatens Atoll Life

By BRIAN SILCOCK

LONDON—The British Ministry of Defence plan for turning Aldabra Atoll in the Indian Ocean into an island base has run into some unexpected opposition from the scientific community, which says this is probably the most interesting island in the world from the biologists' point of view.

The Royal Society has taken the unprecedented step of sending a delegation to plead with the minister, Denis Healey, for Aldabra's preservation.

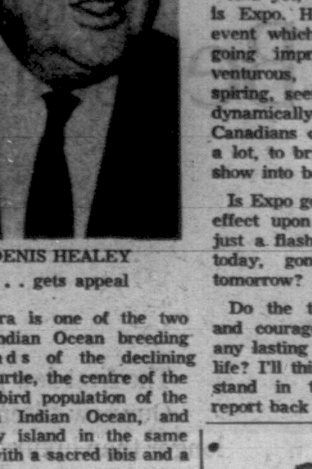
Aldabra is the last remaining home of the giant land tortoise that was once common in the area. The island's birds include a rail, sole survivor among many flightless species in the Indian Ocean; the dodo was one of them.

Twenty of the 173 known plant species on the atoll, about 30 of the 127 different kinds of butterfly, and many other insects, shellfish and animals, including a fruit-eating bat, are found nowhere else in the world.



DENIS HEALEY
. . . gets appeal

Aldabra is one of the two main Indian Ocean breeding grounds of the declining green turtle, the centre of the frigate bird population of the Western Indian Ocean, and the only island in the same ocean with a sacred ibis and a flamingo.

It is in the middle of this unique 60-square-mile natural biological museum that the ministry of defence wants to build an airfield and associated works, a harbor and 13 miles of road. There are also plans for a transmitter for BBC overseas services.

•

The airfield site is at the eastern end of the island, the only place where the land is reasonably flat and not covered with dense scrub. Unfortunately this is where most of the giant tortoise live.

The effect of the works on the flightless rails would be similarly disastrous. They have already been exterminated by imported cats on all but Middle Island and the road would allow the cats to reach Middle Island too.

An ocean island like Aldabra is colonized only by species able to spread over very large distances. The result is a peculiar collection of plants, animals and insects whose relationship to each other is of extraordinary scientific interest and which, in their isolation, evolve in odd directions.

The Man From Leningrad One of New Soviet Breed

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

In the past few days statements similar to the following have appeared in the press:

"Kosygin was almost an unknown when Khrushchev was ousted in the fall of 1964."

Fisher

Well, he was certainly less known than Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev. But Alexei Nikolayevich Kosygin in turn was better known than, say, Igor Vasilevich Kurchatov, the directing genius of the Soviet Atomic Energy program.

Kosygin in 1964 was better known in the West than the city of Chelyabinsk is known in 1967, with its population of close to a million, and industrial output rivalling that of Pittsburgh.

Where did Alexei Kosygin come from?

From a working class family in St. Petersburg, into the Red Army in his teens, and back into the working class in a Leningrad textile factory after the old regime had been swept away and the Western intervention to undo the revolution had been defeated. He received his education in a factory school, and tapped by the Komsomol as a bright young man found his way into the Communist Party in the late 1920s.

Crowe

This is almost a classic case of the origin of the new generation of Soviet Technocrats. Leningrad had a great concentration of textile mills and garment factories, and this worker, working up the industrial ladder from the lowest level, receiving his education on the job, joining the party to get his admission ticket to greater things, was the prototype of the emerging Soviet man.

* * *

By 1936, he was director of the October Textile Factory, and by 1939 had a wider responsibility as a "people's commissar" of textile industries, directing all textile enterprises in Leningrad. In short, he was a management man, within the context of the Communist system. In 1940 he became mayor of Leningrad. In Russia as in North America, management types hog the bulk of civic offices.

With the German invasion Kosygin was moved to Moscow and to the wartime capital at Kuybyshev, the upper Volga industrial metropolis which, incidentally, is still strictly out of bounds to all foreigners.

From this point on, Kosygin held a succession of vital jobs in the government and concurrently in the party. He was deputy chairman of the Council of People's Commissars until the death of Stalin, Minister of Finance in 1948, involved in the development of light industry and consumer goods, president of Gosplan, member of the Politburo and the Central Committee.

Although he did not rate the Presidium until 1957, he had been a front-bencher and an industrial magnate all through the piece. After 1957 only the Armenian master of survival, Anastas Mikoyan (and of course Khrushchev), spoke with greater authority on economic matters than did Kosygin.

* * *

A technocrat, an economic theorist, a bureaucrat, a loyal Communist, a Leningrader of working class and revolutionary origins, what manner of man is Alexei Kosygin? In the murky maze of Soviet officialdom it is probably better to ask: "What is a man like who has these labels, who has been processed into these forms?" And more particularly, "What is new?"

Alongside the old and continuing antagonism toward the West, perhaps there is developing a more orderly — one would hesitate to say "more businesslike" — attempt to settle differences and to set the rules for the kind of competition the economist, the technocrat, the businessman would be interested in.

There is another thought which may sound odd coming from someone writing in North America — the continent which has made such a fetish out of the frontier, the log cabin and rural virtues.

We felt happier when the man in the White House was from Boston, and not from Abilene or Johnson City or Independence. It is irrational and we come from the sticks ourselves. But in the society of the Soviet Union the thought is not irrational and it is not irrelevant. It is a matter of some hope that Kosygin is from Leningrad, and not from the village of Kalinovka (Khrushchev), the provincial city of Orenburg (Malenkov), or the Georgian village of Gori (Stalin).

Living in a great city, and being mayor of such a beautiful city as Leningrad, is helpful in learning how to live in a world of cities. And despite our cherished mythology, civilization is based upon cities and not upon villages.

* * *

Aside from the outlook of the businessman, and of the man of the great metropolis, might not the Communist, the economist, and the patriot, combine to fire a determination to produce a much more bearable standard of living for the Russian people?

The evidence seems to be that this is what is happening.

The Hon. John Gilbey catches the English Golden Arrow boattrain for Europe.

Surprise visit to Europe by the Hon. John Gilbey

Entraining for an unannounced visit to Europe, the Hon. John Gilbey tells of his responsibilities as Gilbey's international Quality Controller.

"My gin has been the best gin in the world for no less than 110 years," says the Hon. John Gilbey. "I am going to Europe to make sure that the European Gilbey's London Dry matches the original English standards. I expect to find the subtle flavour that people call . . . the perfect balance for mixed drinks."

Since Gilbey's International Quality Controller doesn't want elaborate arrangements made for his European visit, he kept his plans to himself.

Next time you see Gilbey's famous frosty bottle, remember the Hon. John Gilbey and his job as Gilbey's International Quality Controller. When you see the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks, bear in mind his proud words: "This is my gin. For no less than 110 years it has carried my family's name. Gilbey's London Dry is the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks. And I shall make sure it stays that way."

OLD FAMILY CONCERN

The Iceman Goeth Out of Business After 75 Years

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Last week the "ice" sign came down off an old building on Hill Street, near the corner of Rose, and with it 75 years of public service ended.

Caught in the city's urban renewal facelift of the Rose-Blanshard-Hillside area, Victoria Ice Company either had to move to a new location or close its doors.

Forbes

Its owners chose the latter course. Trucks are being sold and ice tongs and picks have been tossed aside for all time.

The door has been closed on a business that was conducted by succeeding generations of the same family from its beginning to its end.

* * *

It was James Baker who, as a young man, sold the first ice back in the late '90s. He cut his supply in winter from Swan Lake, stored it in sawdust-filled sheds on the edge of the lake and sold it in summer. His first sales were made from a basket he carried on his arm, from door to door.

Business increased rapidly and it wasn't long before he hired a horse and wagon, set up an office on Discovery Street and made an arrangement with the brewery next door to produce ice for him in 240-foot blocks.

In 1910, Mr. Baker turned the business over to a nephew, Stan Baker, who conducted it from his home at the Rose-Hill Street location for more than 40 years.

Ice was made at the brewery until 1943 when the B. Wilson Company was given a contract that continued until the business closed.

Victorians will remember Stan Baker, a genial, big man with pink cheeks, fair hair and kindly blue eyes.

* * *

He always had a crowd of youngsters following his wagon or truck but he never lost patience and no child was sent off without a hunk of ice in hand.

Stan Baker was a family man. He married twice and he had six children of his own and five step-children. Sons and stepsons helped with ice deliveries and, as the business expanded, went in with their father on a permanent basis.

When the time came for him to sit back and take life easy, two sons, Gordon and Jimmy Baker, and a stepson, George Harris (who now can boast being "on the ice wagon" for 50 years), were ready to take over.

These three men, first as helpers and then as owner-managers, were "on call" to deliver ice around the clock (Christmas and other holidays included) right up to the moment their sign came down.

* * *

They went through the crisis in the Second World War when ice was rationed and they had to issue pink slips to people for their quotas. They weathered the coming of refrigeration and when they closed their doors they were still servicing customers who had been with them for years.

They took ice to fish and meat stores, to hospitals and restaurants. They filled orders at Government House. They serviced the first home refrigerators that used ice as a freezing unit.

When Northwestern Creamery was making all its own ice cream and needed ice for this purpose, they delivered five loads there each morning before 7 o'clock.

First they used rented horse-drawn wagons. Then came Model-T Fords. Next they bought a couple of Italian Fiats that had been used as taxis in the area, and turned them into delivery trucks. They slosed the business with five modern trucks on the road.

The place on the corner of Rose and Hill Streets was built by Stan Baker and it has been occupied by members of his family ever since. In recent years Mr. and Mrs. George Harris have lived there.

It was wired for one of the first telephones in the city—number 166.

That telephone has taken thousands of calls for ice. Now it is silent as an era ends.

NEW CONSTITUTION will restore normality to Greece, King Constantine said Sunday. The new constitution will be put to a national referendum, probably next year.

Nine Minutes to Cherish

Solo Flight

'THERE'S NOTHING TO IT,' HE LIED

This is the third in a series of articles by Times reporter Terry Izzard on "Learning to Fly."

By TERRY IZZARD

ELLARD — In Victoria, on June 21, 1967, Mr. Jack Ellard, aged 43, died—several times!

Chief instructor for Victoria Flying Club, he passed away shortly after 4 p.m. — or so he says.

By coincidence at the very moment he was dying a thousand deaths I was disappearing into a cloud bank 700 feet above Victoria airport.

It wasn't that I meant to be in a cloud bank — it just swooped down and gobbled me up.

Alone in the cockpit for the first time, I remembered all too well the warning before take-off:

"Whatever you do, don't get into the cloud."

SEA OF WHITE

Well, anyway, here was this veteran of six hours in the air, surrounded on all sides by a sea of white.

Remembering the old addage "What goes up must come down," I dipped the plane's nose and headed for terra firma.

As the single-engine Cessna slid through the cloud I remembered the chorus of a well-worn party song:

"He jumped from 20,000 feet without a parachute . . . and he ain't gonna jump no more."

Somehow it didn't seem funny anymore.

By my reckoning the tarmac would be just as hard on the man who jumped from 700 feet.

JUST BEAUTIFUL

But my fears proved as groundless as the air around me felt.

As quickly as I entered the fluffy stuff it rolled away, revealing the big beautiful airport below.

Off to the right was the sea trying to push the Gulf Islands out of its inevitable path.

Somehow, it seemed I'd been away so long everything would have changed.

According to the anxious watchers on the ground I'd been out of sight less than 30 seconds.

The total solo flight lasted no more than nine minutes.

Yet it's probably the toughest nine minutes in any pilot's life.

ALL YOURS

When the instructor jumps out and shouts above the roar of the slipstream "OK, she's all yours," it suddenly hits:

"What do I know about flying?"

The truth is very little.

But at this moment there's very little time to dwell on what you don't know. It's bad enough trying to remember the things you do know.

Engine checks, contact tower for clearance, take off, climb to 500 feet, bank, climb to 800 feet, level off, cut back power, trim, bank again, keep parallel to runway, watch for other aircraft, downwind check, contact tower for landing clearance, bank, pull out carburetor heat, cut back power, keep lined up on runway, level off, pull back, pray, land . . .

. . . Report loss of one aircraft.

By virtue of the praying, I suspect, rather than by skill, the latter report wasn't necessary.

In respect to the praying I wasn't alone. The boys on the ground had all chipped in a few quietly muttered words.

"You did great," they lied.

"There's nothing to it," I lied.

And that was that.

Trial Ordered For Soldiers On Rape Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three former members of the Canadian Armed Forces Tattoo were committed Friday to high court on a charge of raping a 16-year-old girl.

The girl testified she went to a Vancouver beach with the soldiers following a performance of the tattoo June 3.

Committed were guardsman James Vernon Hannan, 21, of Fredericton, N.B., Samuel Wallace Conrad, 19, of New Waterford, N.S., and James Bradford Bacon, 18, of Halifax.

Bail was reduced from $7,500 to $2,500 each after court was told the soldiers had been transferred from the tattoo to Chilliwack army base in the Fraser Valley, pending disposition of the case.

Viet Children Aided

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than $8,500 was collected Friday by the Children of Vietnam Committee on their tag day. Publicity chairman Alice Clarke said the committee was thankful for the good response.

Canada Politely Declines 11th (Caribbean) Province

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The plaintive plea from the tiny Caribbean island of Anguilla for confederation with Canada has apparently fallen on deaf ears.

With their usual flare for the mysterious the diplomats in external affairs are taking rather high ground on the whole issue.

The don't want to hurt Anguilla's feelings but, on the other hand, the request is really out of the question.

In guarded conversation, the reasons given are of a constitutional nature.

The whole thing started Tuesday with a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson from Mr. Peter Adams asking for direct associations with Canada, and bilateral discussions as soon as possible.

U.S. TURNED IT DOWN

Anguilla is part of a British associate state including the Islands of St. Kitts and Nevis. The island federation is domestically independent but Britain has responsibility for its defense and foreign affairs.

Mr. Adams, who apparently is a spokesman for the Anguillans, claims the Island withdrew from its state last May.

However, external affairs spokesmen say this withdrawal is not recognized by the British, and they question the propriety of Canada considering a request from a component part of a properly established state.

They point out that the United States has already turned down a similar plea from Anguilla,, giving the reason that such a request must come through British channels.

Anguilla is unlikely to get any formal reply from Canada, although the negatiye decision will undoubtedly be communicated.

The little island is 34 miles in size and contains some 6,000 inhabitants who rely mainly on the raising of sheep and goats for a livelihood.

Arbitration Rejected

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters) — The Barbados Sunday News says Premier Robert Bradshaw of St. Kitts has rejected an offer from the governments of Barbados, Guyana, Jamaica and Trinidad to send a fact-finding mission to investigate the political crisis in St. Kitts - Nevis - Anguilla.

The newspaper says the commission would have been composed of impartial observers drawn from the independent Commonwealth countries.

Its job would have been to discover the reasons for the trouble between St. Kitts and the rebellious neighboring island of Anguilla and to arbitrate in the dispute.

The newspaper says Bradshaw gave no reason for the refusal.

2-WEEK TREK

Trail Ride Deadline July 5

All eyes of the Garden City Horsemen's Club of Victoria are focused on July 5.

That is the closing date for entries in the British Columbia Centennial Committee's "back to the old west" trail ride into the Cariboo which the club is organizing.

"All preliminary arrangements are completed, and final details will be announced when we know the exact number of participants," said J. V. (Ved) Donaldson, club president, who will be chuckwagon boss of the ride.

Since the centennial event was first announced early in the year, the club has received more than 120 inquiries from all parts of the province, many other parts of Canada and scattered points in the United States.

$130 FEE

But it is anyone's guess on how many will sign the entry form and pay the $130 fee for the two-week trek which starts Aug. 11.

"We're not expecting a huge crowd, because of the length and ruggedness of the ride," said Donaldson, "but we're ready to look after any number."

Because of the number of enquiries, starting point of the ride has been changed from Squamish on Howe Sound to historic Pemberton, 50 miles inland. This will eliminate a narrow four-mile stretch of road riding at Brandywine Canyon which is considered dangerous.

The change will not shorten the 260-mile ride. A wider area will be covered in the range land of the Chilcotin, and it will end at Williams Lake in the heart of the Cariboo on August 24 as scheduled.

Plans have been made for trucking of horses back to the coast after the riders have been "shown the town" by the Williams Lake Trail Riding Club.

Members are planning on meeting the ride in the Riske Creek area "to bring 'em back to civilization in proper western style"

Entry secretary is Mrs. Stan Walt, 716 Cordova Bay Road.

General Dies

LONDON (AP) — The death of Gen. Sir Alan Bourne, 84, a founder of the British commandos, was announced today. He died Saturday at Torquay. He formed the "independent striking unit" after the 1940 Dunkerque evacuation.

FOOD STALL DONATIONS SHRINK

Recent announcement that more money is available for welfare rent seems to have resulted in a slowdown in donations to the free food stall.

Mrs. Joan Price, stall convener, said there had been few donations for Saturday's stall and she attributed this to the announcement of more rent money.

She said she collected from only four houses compared to the usual 10 or 12 and the donations were not so large.

Mrs. Donna Langstaff, president of the low-income group, agreed that the public was affected by the statement by Welfare Minister Campbell that some welfare recipents would get more money for rent.

A number of people on welfare have been congratulated by their neighbors on the so-called increase, she said, but there is no guarantee that they will get it.

She explained that a woman with four children is allowed $60 for rent but some are paying $80. They have been able to apply for the extra in the past but haven't necessarily got it. And there's no guarantee that they will get it in future.

Mrs. Langstaff said that on Saturday one lady received only a packet of sausages, vegetables and five loaves of bread. Normally she could expect a box of food with oatmeal, powdered milk, doughnuts, two packets of meat and margarine.

Mrs. Price said the stall was closed by 10:30 a.m. and latecomers were only able to get bread and meat.

There will be no food stall in July.

Fined for Hose Theft

Theft of garden hose from HMCS Naden and a road sign from the township of Esquimalt cost David Christeney, of Bamfield, a total of $100 when he pleaded guilty in central court Friday.

Forced Tests Backed

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) — The Canadian Automobile Association, representing 1,000,000 motorists in Canada, Friday approved compulsory breath tests for drivers suspected of being under the influence of alcohol.

Haddock Apologizes

An apology has been sent to the Canadian Hungarian Club of Victoria by Chamber of Commerce president Courtney Haddock.

Recently, in an address to a chamber meeting, Mr. Haddock was quoted in a news story as referring to certain Hungarian immigrants as "kooks."

Since then, the club has met with Mr. Haddock, who explained that his reference was not intended to be all-embracing.

He said in his letter:

"I am very sorry about this, as no offence was meant."

SUMMIT TOWN 'BOOZ' SITE

GLASSBORO, N.J. (UPI)—This summit town was started in 1775 by Catherine Stanger and her seven sons, who built a glass factory. The bottles produced by the German widow and her family were filled by a Philadelphia distiller named E. C. Booz.

The bottles became known as "Booz" bottles and eventually "booze" crept into the language as a synonym for whisky.

Toronto Group Seeks Charter For New Bank

TORONTO (CP)—A charter for a new bank is being sought by a group of Toronto businessmen, a lawyer for the group says.

Notice of a petition for the bank was published Thursday in the Canada Gazette and Friday Richard J. Stanbury, a partner in the law firm of Hollingworth and Stanbury, said the petition will be filed soon with either the Senate or the House of Commons. Then a private member's bill would be introduced.

He said backers of the proposed Continental Bank will not identify themselves until they have met federal finance department officials and the inspector-general of banks to discuss the application.

"This meeting will take place probably within a few weeks," he said.

Mr. Stanbury, a director of York Trust and Savings Corp. and a member of the British International Finance (Canada) Ltd. group which controls the Bank of Western Canada, said he is not one of the principals.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures and soybeans prices were lower on the Chicago Board of Trade in light trade.

Sellers of futures were more aggressive than buyers and dominated the activity.

There was some scattered buying activity of wheat futures on the opening but liquidation entered the pit and prices fell up to two cents at one time. There followed a slight firming up in prices.

WINNIPEG (CP — Grain prices showed considerable irregularity in light trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Flax and rapeseed prices eased off in response to hedging sales. Export interest appeared quiet. A factor in the flax market was the failure of a predicted frost to develop over the weekend.

Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Buyers showed a definite lack of interest. Rye prices were lower, reflecting declines in the Chicago rye market.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Blue Chips Ragged

THE NEW YORK market weakened late this afternoon as industrials took a loss although gains and losses remained about even on the over-all stock list. Trading was active.

Blue chips became ragged as Eastman Kodak dropped 2; General Electric, Union Carbide and Woolworth about a point each.

Meanwhile, IBM rose 8, American Smelting 2 and Southern Railway 1. It was a confused market as the international questions seemed to remain in abeyance while Wall Street turned its attention to an expected parade of second-quarter earnings, many of which will be lower in comparison with a year ago.

Among Canadians, Granby Mining gained 1⅝, Massey-Ferguson ½, International Nickel ⅝ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point, Dome Mines was down ¾ and Walker Gooderham ¼.

AT TORONTO the exchange continued an indecisive performance.

Share turnover remained light and by 2 p.m. 1,631,000 shares had changed hands compared with 1,414,000 at the same time Friday.

ITL Industries dropped 1 to 33½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅞ to 66⅛, Bell Telephone ½ to 48⅝ and Alcan ⅜ to 29. Oshawa A and Woodward A advanced 1 each to 41¾ and 31¼.

Western oils were the only major group to gain as Canadian Superior climbed 2½ to 46⅝. Dome slid 1 to 58 and Hudson's Bay ⅝ to 38⅝.

The exchange continued to withhold trading in shares of Scurry-Rainbow. Trading was suspended Thursday morning, pending a detailed release of the company's mining activities in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Base metals turned sharply lower as Denison retreated 2 to 76 and Roman Corp., whose chief asset is Denison shares, 1 to 20⅝.

AT MONTREAL the market was mixed to narrowly lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Abitibi and MacMillan-Bloedel each ⅜ weaker at 9½ and 28½, respectively.

Senior mines were fractionally easier. Denison slid 1½ points to 77 and Rio Algom ¾ to 36¼. Two nickels—Falconbridge and International—each advanced ½ to 85½ and 106¾.

Shell slipped ½ to 29 and Imperial ¼ to 62¾ in the senior oil section.

Utilities were mixed. Interprovincial Pipe Line gained ½ to 24¼ while Bell Telephone dipped ¾ to 48¼.

Industrials were stronger. Massey-Ferguson was up ½ to 21½ and Molson A and Weston A ⅝ each to 24 and 19⅝.

AT LONDON equity markets started the week on a firm note although business was not on a great scale.

Sentiment was helped by the Johnson-Kosygin talks. Tobaccos were a good section.

Gilts were quiet but price movements were somewhat irregular.

Dollar stocks were mixed despite a strong dollar premium. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas was in demand but other Canadians moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels. Inco recouped half of an initial one-point fall. Canadian banks improved.

Home banks were steady but insurances lacked interest. The international favorites often hardened a shade.

AT VANCOUVER Sun A rose .50 to a new high of $32 in pre-noon trading.

Woodward was also strong in the industrials and put on 75 cents to $31. PWA dipped .12 to $14.25.

The mining section was weak with Coronet off .15 to $1.35, Sileurian down .04 to .78 and Utica $2.82, and West Coast Resources, 92, each off .03.

In the oils, Plains Pete remained active and lost .03 to .82 on 145,000 shares.

Plant Talks In Critical Stage

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hay, president of British American Oil Co. Ltd., says he is not concerned about the way negotiations are progressing for a 60,000-barrel-a-day refinery the company is planning in the Port Hawkesbury area of Cape Breton Island.

Mr. Hay commented during the weekend on a report that negotiations between the company and the federal and Nova Scotia governments have reached a critical stage.

The company announced plans for the refinery last February, when it was estimated to cost $40,000,000. Construction was tentatively scheduled to begin late this year.

The company is said to be asking for federal aid exceeding a grant of $5,000,000. The amount of government financing, above the $5,000,000 available to the company under the federal Area Development Agency program, has been reported a stumbling block.

Because of the depressed economic state of the region and the need to find alternative employment for displaced coal miners, some federal ministers are said to be favorably inclined to giving B-A more financial assistance than would normally be available.

B-A officials have talked with several federal cabinet ministers including Energy Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Health Minister Allan MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet.

MILL WORK BEGINS

'Japan Closer Than Ottawa'

CRANBROOK (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Saturday officially marked the beginning of construction on a $42,000,000 pulp mill at Skookumchuck, 33 miles north of here in the East Kootenays.

The mill, the 21st pulp mill to be constructed in the province, is a joint venture of two Japanese firms—Honshu Paper Manufacturing Co. Ltd., and Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha Ltd.—and the East Kootenay Crestbrook Forest Industries Ltd.

The mill is expected to be completed by November, 1968.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston said the new mill is the most courageous project ever launched in the pulp industry in B.C.

"The project could have gone ahead much sooner," he said, "except for the failure to obtain North American financing.

"Then the Japanese government made funds available to employ Canadian workers to produce a product for world wide use."

Premier Bennett told the gathering Japan is closer economically to B.C. than it is to Ottawa.

"On this platform we have the outstanding bankers and businessmen of Japan," the premier said. "There is nothing but a friendly Pacific link between us and Japan.

"This is the largest single investment by Japanese interests in this province," he said.

'NO DEFINITE MOVE TO BUY WESTBANK'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Trebell, president of the new Bank of British Columbia, said Sunday his organization has made no definite move to take over the troubled Bank of Western Canada.

"It is an interesting possibility and we wonder if there is some role we could play," Mr. Trebell said in an interview. "It would be a shame if the Bank of Western Canada closed because it is vitally needed."

Neither bank has opened for business, though the British Columbia bank is in the midst of a campaign to raise $75,000,000 through sale of shares.

R. M. Thomas, president of York Lambton Corp., said in Toronto Friday his company plans to sell its majority interest in the Bank of Western Canada to investors in the Western Provinces.

He did not identify them.

Tariff News Friday

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said today substantial tariff reductions to be announced Friday will enable Canadian industry to get into larger and broader foreign markets but may raise objections from producers wanting to depend exclusively on the domestic market.

The Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations in Geneva, he said, "has been one of the greatest and most successful trade negotiations of our history, and certainly one from which our country must not fail to profit."

Results of the nearly four years of bargaining are to be made public at 6:00 a.m. EDT Friday, when the bargaining conclusions are signed by the participating countries in Geneva. In general, they mean tariff cuts for one quarter of Canada's exports to the U.S., and broad reductions in trade barriers with other countries.

In return for these lower export hurdles, Canada gave comparable concessions in Canadian tariffs on imports, he told the Canadian Gas Association.

TARIFF SLASHING

"The reduction in tariffs will be substantial, and they are well worth the long and laborious years of negotiations," said Mr. Sharp.

Mr. Sharp said Canada obtained tariff reductions by the United States for "virtually the whole range of duitable Canadian exports," and important concessions in the tariffs levied by Japan and members of the European Economic Community.

"For Canada's part, of course, we have promised important reductions in tariff protection, and we have taken the occasion to improve and rationalize our tariff structure. Many firms which will find their tariff protection reduced will also find the cost of raw materials and components are being reduced at the same time.

"I know there will be objections from those who depend exclusively on the domestic market, and who would therefore prefer to live in a more sheltered world.

"But I also expect that when the tariff bargains are revealed at the end of June, Canadians in every part of the country—both producers and consumers—will recognize at once that for Canada the Kennedy round has been one of the greatest and most successful trade negotiations of our history."

IMPROVE ECONOMY

Mr. Sharp said the lower tariffs on Canadian exports and lower cost of imported raw materials and components will enable Canada to build a more specialized and productive industrial structure. More Canadian firms should be able to operate on a larger and more efficient scale.

THE 1890 ERA returns to Woodward's Stores as the company celebrates 75 years in business in this province. From left, getting into the celebration mood are, Vincent Quan, Loraine Wiebe, Vi Wills and Pauline Machan.

Growing, Often Copied, Woodwards Marks 75 Years

By AB KENT

The B.C. general store whose innovations are copied across the nation is 75 years old.

Woodward Stores Ltd. branches throughout western Canada are celebrating the event with a gusto reminiscent of the founding era by Charles Woodward in 1892.

Store clerks at Woodward's Mayfair shopping centre are dressed up to the hilt in period costumes—the best ones win cash prizes—as honkeytonk piano is belted over the main shopping area and special displays of old household items catch the customer's eyes.

●

Long a family business in which employee participation was encouraged, Woodward's is now a public company listed on the major Canadian stock exchanges at a price substantially higher than shares of its two public competitors.

Success of the original operation was apparently never seriously questioned, although the founder's stores in early Vancouver went through some perilous times.

The First and Second World Wars, prejudice against Vancouver as a centre of commerce, the Great Depression, boycott and ever-increasing competition each created problems the Woodward management and staff managed to overcome.

●

Charles Woodward opened his first B.C. business at what was then the corner of Harris and Westminster Street in Vancouver, now Cambie ad Georgia.

His business grew through several locations, getting bigger each move, as institutions developed.

For instance, the drug department innovation, which broke the tight monopoly of drug merchants for whom pharmaceuticals brought high profits.

Woodwards changed that by taking over a druggist who went out of business, selling his stock for less. It meant also that drug suppliers boycotted Woodward's for its policy of selling below the going rates, and that developed into a long battle which other retailers joined and finally won.

●

By the early part of the century, Woodward's had gained a reputation for shrewdness, honesty and conscientious service aimed at producing satisfied customers.

The founder wrote it down for his staff when the store was still at Harris and Westminster, and his words still apply, the company says:

"Courteous attention; honest straightforward dealing, good goods and low prices are friend winners."

In 1919 Woodward's instituted self-service and 95-cent day, now known as $1.49 day and copied the breadth of the continent.

●

In 1926 Woodward's expanded to Edmonton; mail order service expanded to all parts of B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and the Yukon; profit-sharing was introduced, believed to the first among department stores, and what is also claimed as a "first," the cost-of-living bonus paid employees.

After the Second World War the company literally burst out of Vancouver, building stores in Port Alberni, Park Royal and Victoria, and a warehouse-delivery centre on Grandview Highway.

And since 1950, when Park Royal went up, the firm has adden nine new stores in B.C. and Alberta, including Mayfair centre here and Guildford, in Surrey, the latest in the chain.

Today's chairman is C.N. "Chunky" Woodward, grandson of the founder, and P. A. Woodward, retired, is the patriarch of the family.

"NEW PACKAGE OF AUTO SAFETY SETS THE PACE FOR DETROIT!"

"Sweden's new Volvo incorporates nearly all the proposed standards that are baffling American makers. And it does this without penalty in size or cost. The deceptively simple-looking Volvo 144S, imported from Sweden, is rolling proof on the highway of what can be accomplished in auto safety within present standards of size and cost. In its wealth of engineering features for safety, economy and performance, it includes virtually all the safety standards that are giving U.S. manufacturers sleepless nights."

Mine, Mill to Hold Merger Vote

WINNIPEG (CP)—A merger proposal to unite two unions that were once bitter rivals cleared a major hurdle Saturday when delegates of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers agreed to submit the plan to a membership referendum. The 15,000 members of the independent union are expected to vote, likely Aug. 3, on the proposal that would have them join the United Steelworkers of America.

Before delegates at the merger convention voted 95 to 31 in favor of merging, they were told by Harvey Murphy of Vancouver there was only one way to go and that was to join the Steelworkers.

McLAREN EARNS BERTH IN PAN-AM HURDLES

Victoria's Bob McLaren won himself a national championship and a berth on the Canadian Pan-American hurdles team Saturday.

He won the 440 hurdles event in 52:3 during the Canadian Centennial Track and Field Championship meet at Saskatoon.

McLaren is scheduled to compete again next Saturday at a Centennial invitational meet in Toronto.

OVER ABBY

Roberta Has Her Revenge

SASKATOON (CP)—Roberta Picco, of Toronto, Saturday gained revenge for a loss inflicted a year before.

Miss Picco, 18, whipped Abby Hoffman in the 800-metre event by three strides at the Pan-American Games Track and Field Trials here, ending a startling parallel with events of a year before.

Then, at the British Empire Games Trials in Edmonton, Miss Picco ran her heart out setting a record in the mile event.

The mark of four minutes, 55.5 seconds still stands, but the mile is not on the list of women's events for the B.E.G. and her performance did not win her a place on the team.

The next day, she tackled a fresh Miss Hoffman in the half-mile, finished up the track and missed the team.

Friday, Miss Picco set a record 4:34.4 in the 1,500 metres—the metric mile—but that event won't be run at the Pan-Ams. And she had to face a fresh Miss Hoffman again in the 800 Sunday.

Miss Picco's strategy was perfect.

FORCED PACE

She forced Miss Hoffman to set the pace for the first lap, then took the lead in the backstretch on the second lap. She relinquished the lead briefly in the final turn but caught up again at the top of the stretch.

They duelled shoulder-to-shoulder down the stretch before Miss Picco gradually edged into the lead.

The meet produced just two Canadian records and another was tied.

Miss Picco's 4:34.4 in the 1,500 metres far excelled the old record of 4:55.2 held by Pat Mills of Richmond, B.C.

Michael Cairns of Calgary made 177 feet, one inch in the 16-pound hammer to better the mark of 174-8 he set a week before. And Irene Pietrowski of Vancouver tied her own Canadian mark of 11.4 seconds in winning the 100 metres.

Seven athletes, including Miss Picco, won two events.

Dave Steen of Toronto won the shotput and discus; Dave Ellis of Toronto captured the 5,000 and 10,000 metres; William Greenough of Halifax won the broad jump and hop, step and jump; Jenny Wingerson Meldrum of Toronto took the 80-metre hurdles and broad jump; Don Domansky of Port Arthur, Ont., won the 200 and 400 metres, and Mrs. Pietrowski won tht 100 and 200 metres.

MISSING NOTABLES

Some familiar names were not on the team list.

Gerry Moro of Trail, B.C., missed the trial and the team, but could still latch on to a berth when the decathlon and pentathlon teams are named.

Some absentees made it, though.

George Puce of Toronto missed the event but made the discus team. Harry Jerome of Vancouver also missed but made the sprint team.

Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., won the 800 metres and made the team without really working.

Undefeated Sooke Forest Products won its 13th straight Stuffy McGinnis Softball League contest by tripping King's Hotel 8-2 behind the two-hit pitching of Glen Bullen Sunday at Heywood Avenue Park.

Carl Walker slugged two home runs to drive home three runs while helping Ken McCorkall collect a 17-1 win for Century Inn over Hillside 66 during another Sunday contest.

In a third Sunday game, Ken Pierce helped power Nelsons to an 11-8 win over Bottle Exchange. Pierce collected four hits, including a home run while driving in five runs.

CANADIAN STARS FACE TOUGH JOB

TORONTO (CP)—Ten of Canada's top track and field stars will be facing tough competition July 8 to 10 as members of a Commonwealth team that will meet a star-studded United States team in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Almost every Commonwealth country has contributed to the 90-member team under general-manager Col. Jack Davies, including Kipchoge Keino of Kenya in the mile- and three-mile events and fellow countrymen Wilson Kiprigut, along with Chris Carter of England, in the 800-metre run.

Missing from the Canadian contingent in the 800 is Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., rated one of the best half-milers in the world, who earlier this month won a 1:47.7 race in Toronto.

But Canada's best miler, Dave Bailey of Toronto who holds the Canadian native record at 3:59.4 as the only Canadian ever to break the four-minute mile, will be going against Jim Ryun of Kansas and Jim Grelle of Oregon in the 1,500-metre event. Both Ryun and Grelle break the four-minute mark at every outing with Ryun Friday ripping out a 3:51.1 tour to lower his own world mark of 3:51.3.

FACE TITLIST

Canada will have two pole vaulters on the squad—Gerry Moro and Bob Yard, both of Trail, B.C.—but they'll be going against the world titlist and the man he outjumped Friday in setting the mark.

George Puce of Toronto and Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., and Toronto, a former Oregon star, will be teamed in the shot put against Randy Matson of Pampa, Texas, and Neil Steinhauer of Eugene, Ore.

Also named to the team were four Canadian girls with Irene Pietrowski of Trail, B.C., and Toronto running three events—the 100 and 200 metres and on the 440 relay team — while Jenny Wingerson Meldrum of Toronto will be going in the 80-metre hurdles and as alternate for all pentathlon events.

Nancy McCredie of Brampton, Ont., will be on a three-girl shot put team along with Mary Peters of Northern Ireland and Dianne Charteris of New Zealand while Abigail Hoffman of Toronto will run the 800 metres with Judy Pollock of Australia and Pam Piercy of England.

THE LADY PLAYS PEEK-A-BOO

If you want to see a golfer drive and this fellow's standing in front of you, obviously you have to peek around a corner. That's what this lady did Sunday to catch a glimpse of Al Geiberger drive off first tee at the Victoria Golf Club. Man she peeked around was former golf great Jimmy Demaret, who shared commentating duties with another great, Gene Sarazen. Geiberger defeated Canada's George Knudson by five strokes to pocket $7,000 in match that will be televised on "Wonderful World of Golf" next winter. (Photo courtesy of Shell.)

Frolicking Cubs Four Games Out of Top Spot

The surprising third-place Chicago Cubs were acting like a bunch of kids today, having swept a doubleheader from Houston Astros, 4-1 and 8-0, Sunday.

The Cubs have blown their balloon so big, they've moved within four games of first place in the National League after first-place St. Louis Cardinals lost a twin-bill to Philadelphia Phillies 6-4 and 10-4.

Chicago also pulled within 1½ games of second-place Cincinnati as Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Reds 5-4.

Clete Boyer of Atlanta Braves has been having a good time, too. His hot bat boosted the Braves to a 4-2 victory over New York Mets.

In the other National League game Sunday, Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco Giants 2-1 on Len Gabrielson's run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning.

HONOR VETERAN

Some 31,000 fans, the largest Cub home crowd in two years, whooped it up all day and gave 36-year-old Ernie Banks a standing ovation after each of his pair of two-run homers in the second game he was not supposed to play.

"If it had been a hot day, I wouldn't have played him," said manager Leo Durocher after his team ran its winning streak to six, longest in four yeasr.

Former relievers Bill Hands and Joe Niekro, who probably would not havt been starting at all if Ken Holtzman had not been called into the army, pitched their first complete games in the major leagues.

Rick Reichardt will remember his first grand slam homer as the one that didn't reach the seats.

Kansas City Athletics will write it off as just another bad hop.

But California's George Brunet will count it as one of the few good bounces he's had all year.

Reichardt's initial bases-loaded homer in the majors—an inside-the-park shot that caromed crazily past right fielder Mike Hershberger in the first inning—carried Brunet and the Angels past the Athletics 4-3 Sunday.

OAKS' WINNER

Bessy Lea Has Jewell Reeling

Roy Jewell turned pale late Saturday afternoon. With reason.

Jewell had just heard a radio broadcast of the victory in the $5,000 British Columbia Oaks at Exhibition Park of his grey filly Bessy Lea.

Nothing like this had ever happened to owner-breeder Jewell before.

ROY JEWELL
. . . day to remember

Bessy Lea was bred and raised on his Beaver Lake Road ranch.

It was her first stakes' victory and initial win of the season. Times' columnist Hal Malone Thursday hailed Bessy as the Oaks' winner.

She defeated the highly regarded Seattle filly Princess Quila and nine other fillies to win first money of approximately $4,000. In addition, Jewell, who owns Bessy along with Cece Moorhouse, also of Victoria, won a stud service worth $1,500 to the famed George Royal.

Bessy Lea is by Grey Skies out of Worthy Lea.

GOING TO EDMONTON

Grey Skies was also the sire of the famed Major Turley, considered the best horse bred on Vancouver Island.

Jewell and Moorhouse plan to run Bessy Lea in the $15,000 Canadian Derby at Edmonton in August.

FILLY'S PLATE VICTORY . . .

. . . CLIMAX OF 'GREAT' DAY

Everything Jammed (Up) Lovely

TORONTO (CP)—The Union Jack flew upside down, the door to the Governor-General's carriage wouldn't open—and a filly won the 108th running of the Queen's Plate Saturday.

Jammed Lovely, the only filly in the field of 14, carried the colors of hockey great Conn Smythe into the Woodbine winner's circle.

An 11-to-1 outside choice, she won $51,821 in the two minutes and three seconds it took her to travel the 1¼-mile distance.

It was a gala affair. Girls modelled furs in the clubhouse area in temperatures which soared above 80. In press box, 40 racing writers turned out in 1867 frock coats, top hats and dickeys as a centennial gesture.

If the off-track antics were light-hearted, the Plate itself was a hell-for-leather cavalry charge.

Jimmy Fitzsimmons of Calgary took Jammed Lovely out of the gate and across the field to settle in behind Ette Rule. As the pack responded, Jammed Lovely dropped back to fourth.

At the head of the stretch, Fitzsimmons let her go as highly-regarded Pine Point made his run at her.

"I wasn't nervous at all until Pine Point came at me," Fitzsimmons said.

"Then, when he couldn't get past me, I wasn't nervous any more. I had horse all the way. That was her kind of track."

The track was fast and Jammed Lovely's time for the oldest continually-run race in North America was one second off the track record.

. . . has way with fillies

She paid $24.90, $8.50 and $5.10. Pine Point returned $4.80 and $3.20, while Come by Chance, which held on for third, paid $3.60.

The gross purse was $79,725 and Pine Point picked up $15,945 of it; Come by Chance won $7,972 for third and More of Mort got $3,986 fourth money.

Jammed Lovely also won for Smythe 50 guineas from the Queen's purse and a $5,000 gold cup.

It was a second Plate victory for both jockey and owner. Smythe won with Caledon Beau in 1958 and Fitzsimmons rode Flaming Page—another filly—to victory in 1962.

A crowd of nearly 30,000 bet more than $273,000 on the Plate. Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener arrived about two hours before the feature race.

Their open carriage was escorted around the track by troops of the Governor-General's Horse Guards.

Leading files of the escort rode across the carefully-swept red carpet, stamping it into the track.

The carriage pulled up six feet away from the end of the red strip. Then, when an aide sprang to open the door—it stuck. The Micheners and their party climbed down on the infield side of the landeau and walked around through the dust.

As the escort pulled away, someone lowered the Union Jack, turned it rightside up, and ran it back up the pole.

Then it started to rain.

Don't Mouth It, But Al the King

Geiberger Five-Stroke Winner in Video Golf

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Move in close gang—but quietly—and we'll give you a sneak peek of things to come . . .

Sometime next winter — between January and April — Al Geiberger will beat George Knudson by five strokes in a professional golf match on television.

But don't mouth it around too much. Otherwise, you'll ruin the climax . . .

The televising chores of Shell's "Wonderful World of Golf" at Victoria Golf Club were completed Sunday, and for a few hundred Victorians there never was a climax.

That's because Geiberger, the peanut-butter pro; Knudson and the production crew wrapped up televising chores in such a hurry that a new speed record was established.

Just a few minutes under six hours.

Geiberger whipped up a two-under-par 67 to pocket the winner's purse of $7,000 in a match that lured over 3,000 fans (estimated) to the Oak Bay course. Winnipeg-reared Knudson, plagued by a balky putter that made him take 72 strokes, banked $3,000 for his day's work.

The match was expected to take most of the day to film. Yet, despite a later-than-scheduled tee-off time, it was over as many Victorians were still making their way to Oak Bay to catch the final holes.

Oak Bay 'Pretty As You'll Find'

They teed off around 8:18 a.m. and the last putt dropped at about 2:20 p.m.

"I've played in official pro tournaments that have taken longer," commented Knudson.

Most delighted about it all was the series' producer-director Fred Raphael.

"Without a doubt, this is the fastest we've wrapped up a match. It's the first time I never had to call for a lunch break."

Raphael's joy was also heightened by the fact ideal weather conditions prevailed. Issuing his orders under cloudless skies, he was of the opinion the picturesque course was "as pretty as you'll find anywhere."

The game was golf, however, and, despite the fact Geiberger took command early, the two professionals treated the large gallery to an interesting exhibition.

Normally, Oak Bay's par is 33-37—70. Before starting out, however, the pros and technical advisers felt the 452-yard 17th should be rated a par four hole instead of a five for the match. Ergo, par became 33-36—69.

Two Inches More Worth $10,000—

Knudson, heading for his greatest-ever season on the pro tour (in money earnings), found out early that this wasn't going to be one of his better days.

He missed an 18-inch putt for a par three on the second hole that put him one down. He tapped the ball just "a trifle hard," he said, and that seemed to be his tempo most of the day on the undulating, tricky greens.

Knudson also bogied the 3rd, 4th and 9th holes to find himself four down at the turn. He took another bogey on the 14th and could manage only two birdies—on the fifth and 12th holes.

Geiberger, the 1966 PGA champion who likes to pack and munch on peanut butter during his games, ticked off 14 pars, three birdies (8th, 11th and 14th) and one bogey—a five on the 17th.

It was Geiberger's tee shot off the 14th that provided the day's highlight. Hitting a "soft six" that was on line all the way, Geiberger put his ball about two inches short of a hole-in-one.

An ace would have earned Geiberger an additional $10,000—claimed only once in the six-year history of the Shell series.

But if you missed it Sunday, come back in the winter and catch the "re-run."

It will still be interesting.

18 Innings!

A LONG STRETCH BUT KINGS WON

King's Hotel battled with Lake Cowichan for 18 innings before pushing ahead 7-6 to win what is likely to be the longest game in Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League history Sunday at Royal Athletic Park.

The same two clubs tangled for seven more innings after the marathon, originally scheduled for seven innings, was completed. Kings won the nightcap, too, taking an 8-7 victory to move slightly ahead of their last place victims on percentage points.

Only incredible relief pitching by Kings manager John Yankoski and Larry Paradis made the 18-inning classic possible.

Yankoski, the winner, hurled 12 sparkling shutout innings without walking a batter after taking over for starter Bruce MacKenzie with nobody out in the seventh. Yankoski fanned 14 while yielding nine hits.

Cowichan's Paradis, who came in during the fifth, matched Yankoski's scoreless effort for 10 overtime innings before yielding the tie-breaker on Brian Grexton's solid triple in the eighteenth.

An extra base hit also won the second game for Kings. Dennis Thompson pulled a double down the left field line to score John Russell from first to break a 7-7 tie in the bottom of the seventh.

WALLACE STOPPED 'EM

Saturday, Transport Workers charged from behind three times to beat Greaves Movers 8-7 and take over first place. Outstanding catcher Mike McAvoy stung three hits and drove home two runs to help veteran Art Worth set Greaves' ace southpaw George Hemming down to his first loss.

In Saturday's other contest, Rawlings' Myron Wallace stopped Kings 8-4 while scattering five hits.

WILF HOMENUIK

GOLF

Wilfie Makes 'World'

TORONTO (CP) — Wilf Homenuik, a 30-year-old pro from Winnipeg, putted his way to the 54-hole Millar Trophy gold championship Saturday and to a spot in the $200,000 World Open tournament at nearby Woodbridge, Ont., in September.

Homenuik stormed over the Richmond Hill course through rain squalls with a sparkling five-under-par 67 and a 215 total to face Bob Cox of Vancouver, 71, and Dave Clayton, 74, in a sudden death play off.

Clayton dropped out when he went one over par on the 355-yard par-four first hole.

The two westerners went on for five more holes—to the 388-yard par-four sixth—before Cox missed his par putt and Homenuik dropped a seven-footer for a four and the $1,000 Millar championship prize money.

PUTTING PROBLEMS

Homenuik, who couldn't buy a putt in Friday's round and who suffered one brief loss of composure when he broke his putter over his knee, dropped a thirty-footer on the fifth sudden-death hole with a borrowed putter.

Cox, playing upright and rigid in a corset with steel stays because of a bad back, missed short putts throughout the day. He missed a six-footer to lose the sudden death and a two-foot putt on the 18th that would have won him the championship.

Billy Wakeham, from Victoria B.C., was another pro who played with a bad back. Wakeham still managed to come in with a 74 and a 223 total for 14th place.

The tournament was full of mishaps, some serious. Jack Windsor, a Hamilton pro, collapsed on the first tee in Wednesday's opening round and had to be operated on for a perforated ulcer.

Drought Ends for Gardiner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It was a long five-year drought, but Gardner Dickinson figures the first place money ($20,700) was worth waiting for.

"It was a very satisfying victory," the slightly-built, 135-pound Florida pro noted after he breezed home in even-par 70 Sunday to win the Cleveland Open golf championship. He finished nine-under for the 72 holes with a 271.

It was the first tour title since 1962 for Dickinson. His best previous finish this year was a tie for third at Phoenix, Ariz.

Dickinson, who played the tight 6,611-yard Aurora Country Club course with precision accuracy, wasn't quite as sharp as in earlier rounds when he posted scores of 68, 66 and 67.

COASTED HOME

The 39-year-old pro started the final round with a two-stroke advantage and coasted to his four-shot triumph in the $103,500.

Miller Barber and Homero Blancas, finished tied for second with 275s.

Tommy Aaron, who had the day's best round with a 66, closed in a five-way deadlock for fourth place with Jerry Edwards, Allen Henning, Phil Rodgers and Lou Graham. All had 277s.

A stroke back at 278 were Cobit LeGrange, Wayne Yates and Arnold Palmer. Grouped at 279 were Lionel Hebert, Gene Littler, Bert Weaver and Billy Casper.

U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus and Masters' champion Gay Brewer were locked at 282 with four others.

Shamrocks Relocate 'IT' To Regain League Lead

COQUITLAM — Victoria Shamrocks have found "it" again and things will never be the same in Coquitlam.

"It" is the spirit, poise, finesse and scoring punch that carried Shamrocks to a brilliant early lead in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Missing during the early part of June, the spirit, poise, et all was in ample evidence here Saturday.

For the first time in 2½ years Shamrocks defeated Adanacs at Coquitlam. The score was 11-6 and did the Adanacs a favor.

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts

Coquitlam	16	8	8	0	152	133	16
New West.	16	6	10	0	140	185	12

Next game: Tuesday—Coquitlam at Vancouver.

Ahead 10-3 after two periods, Shamrocks let down a little in the final 20 minutes. They were outscored 3-1 but it didn't make a particle of difference.

Now the Rocks are back where they started, in first place two points ahead of Vancouver.

CONTROLLED PLAY

"The boys really hustled," Victoria coach Dave Unwin said. "We controlled the ball 75 per cent of the game."

Victoria's scintillating sweep of their two-game series with Coquitlam (they won 9-3 Wednesday) reopened talk that this could be the year Shamrocks march to the Mann Cup, symbol of Canadian lacrosse supremacy.

Shamrocks last took the league title and the Mann Cup 10 years ago. With 19 points already in the bank, they have five more points than they accumulated in 30 games last year.

LIEBICH STAYS HOT

Ted Liebich, playing the finest lacrosse of his career, and Ron Jay led the Rocks with two goals each.

The almost impenetrable Victoria defence permitted only 24 shots at Barry Forbes. The redhead turned back 18.

ITALIANS TRIUMPH

BUCHAREST (Reuters) — Italy beat Romania 1-0 in a group six European Cup soccer match here Sunday.

Haslam's 'Flip' The Joyous Kind

Two spectacular rollovers featured Western Speedways' stock car meet Saturday, and Roy Haslam also came along to do a psychological "flip".

Bill Williams and John Barkley were the drivers of cars that rolled. Williams flipped twice in the "B" main event while Barkley's car rolled over five times in the third heat.

Neither driver was seriously injured, but Williams was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital for observation.

Haslam, whose '55 Chev holds the second-fastest time on the Langford oval, ended a season of frustration by capturing the "A" trophy dash and the main event.

Pat O'Connor won the "B" main.

The races—featuring a children's night promotion—attracted 3,200 fans and a whopping turnout of 62 cars. In addition to drivers, 11-year-old Lisa Mortie, 908 Dunford, and 12-year-old Roger Wilson, 3130 Harriet, also came out winners. Each won a bicycle.

Complete results:

"B" dash—1. Bill Williams, 2. Tom Eardley, 3. John Leney.

Ailing Primo Near Death

SEQUALS, Italy (AP) — The condition of Primo Carnera, who fell into a coma two days ago, was reported unchanged Sunday.

Doctors said only the remarkably strong constitution of the former world heavyweight boxing champion was keeping him alive.

He is suffering from cirrhosis of the liver.

Carnera won the world crown in 1933.

He returned last month from his long residence in the United States to this village in northeast Italy where he was born 60 years ago.

'Canadians' Lack Win Punch

Times News Services

Vancouver's Royal Canadians are finding it difficult to get untracked in professional soccer's United Association, so they might do well to take a lesson from Oakland Clippers of the rival National League.

Represented by Sunderland of the English League, Vancouver is lodged in the basement of the USA's western division. Canadians failed to make headway Sunday, blowing a 2-0 lead to settle for a 2-2 draw with Toronto's Hibernians.

Oakland, atop the NPSL's western section on the other hand, doesn't have any problems. The Clippers won their eighth straight Sunday, defeating Atlanta Chiefs 2-0 in one of two National League matches played at the weekend.

Two goals by Ernie Winchester gave Chicago Spurs a 2-0 victory over Philadelphia in the other NPSL game.

In other United Association games Sunday, Washington Whips and San Francisco Gales fought to a scoreless draw; Los Angeles Wolves tied Boston's Shamrock Rovers 1-1 on Terry Wharton's goal in the 81st minute; Tommy Morrow's second-half shot gave Detroit Cougars a 1-0 victory over Dallas, and Chicago Mustangs dropped Houston Stars 4-2.

Roberto Boninsegna and Francesco Rizzo each scored two goals for Chicago.

At Toronto, before 4,385 fans, Sunderland got off to a 2-0 lead on goals by Alan Gauden (at 34 minutes) and George Mulhall (at 66 minutes). Colin Stein got one back for Toronto in the 68th minute and Hibernians tied it up on a penalty kick with only 12 minutes remaining.

Joe Davis made good on the penalty shot.

Vancouver's next home game will be on July 5 against New York, represented by Cerro of Montevideo, Uruguay.

Busy-Beaver Luckies Win Two Out of Three

The busy-beaver attitude of Ed Senini's Luckies appears to be paying off for the Senior Men's Softball League team.

Luckies played four games in three days at the weekend, and the results of the first two staked Senini's squad to a one-game lead atop the five-team league.

A steady effort by Jack Lundquist and a three-run burst in the second inning carried Luckies to a 4-1 league victory over Red Lions at Central Park on Saturday.

Luckies polished off their busy weekend by splitting an exhibition doubleheader against Nanaimo Tally-Ho on Sunday.

Barry Gallia's three-hit pitching carried Nanaimo to a 7-0, first-game victory but Luckies bounced back to win the thrilling, 11-inning nightcap, 1-0.

Luckies' Glen Langsett checked Nanaimo on four hits while striking out 19. Rival Howie Chang struck out 15 but was tagged for the loss when Terry Mann's single and Bryan Weston's triple pushed across the game's only run.

PAR WAS ENOUGH TO BEAT OUT BIRD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Favored Johnny Russell played par golf in the afternoon round Saturday and it was good enough for a four and three victory over Bud Bird in the 1967 B.C. Amateur golf final.

Russell, the veteran Willingdon Cup player from Vancouver's Point Grey course, was one down at the midway point of the scheduled 36-hole final at Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club. But Russell lost only one hole during the afternoon play against Bird, the underrated contender from suburban Richmond's Quilchena course.

Bird, who qualified for the tournament match play by winning a three-hole playoff, fired an unofficial 69 at Russell in the morning round, but after the lunch break he was no match for Russell, who was runner-up to medallist Mike Reasor of Seattle in the 72-hole qualifying test.

DODO MAKES VICTOR FEEL YOUNG AGAIN

The lay-off was just what Vic Young needed to give him a fresh approach to the game.

He couldn't have been sharper on Saturday when he fired a hole-in-one on Gregarah's 150-yard watery ninth hole. A No. 4 wood was his magic wand.

Young returned to the game about two years ago after not playing for over 20 years. He was playing in the qualifying round of the club championship when he scored his ace.

Others in the foursome were Steve Dwernychuk, Tug Wilson and Chris Fuller.

Rosewall Takes Quick Victory

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Ken Rosewall beat fellow Australian Rod Laver, 6-3, 6-3 in just 51 minutes Sunday and won the $3,000 first prize in the Pacific Coast International Cup tennis tournament.

Vollmer Finishes Six Shots Behind Collegiate Champ

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa. (CP) — Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver shot a 72-hole 292 to finish six strokes back of the leader in the 70th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association golf championship here Saturday.

Vollmer, who plays out of Vancouver's Marine Drive Club, and is attending Arizona State University had rounds of 75-75-72-72. Ben Kern, of Toronto, who attends New Mexico State University, was three strokes behind, with 295.

Hale Irwin of Colorado won the tournament, shooting 70-72-65-79 for a 72-hole total of 286.

Eric Kjekstad Good With Bat

Youthful Eric Kjekstad put a batting bite into his weekend cricket outings. One set of rivals found it painful, one didn't.

Kjekstad scored 53 runs Saturday, but it wasn't enough as the Victoria and District Association representatives fell, by two wickets, to the touring University of California team.

With Nick Evans scoring 42, the Californians' passed Victoria's total of 137 with eight wickets down.

Peter Clark, who bowled four California wickets for 22 runs, contributed 30 runs for the Reps.

On Sunday, Kjekstad served up 22 runs to help Incogs to a six-run victory over Alcos and undisputed possession of second place in the league table.

Alcos' John Moss took four for nine.

Top bat for Alcos was soccer star Peter Brett, who scored 41, as Incogs' Jack Payne took 3 for 27 and Reg Wenman 4 for 8.

Junior Wins Alberni Meet

Stick another feather in Cec Ferguson's cap.

The 17-year-old junior shot a two-under-par 106 to win the West Coast Open at Alberni on Sunday.

Ferguson's 34-37-35 score gave him a two-stroke lead over runner-up Norm Boden of Cowichan.

Ferguson took the Mid-Island Open tournament honors last week.

World Swim Mark

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Mark Spitz, 17, of Santa Clara, Calif., swam to a world record Sunday, completing the 400-metre freestyle in 4:10.6 at the 15th San Leandro Relays. The old record was 4:11.1.

Jordan's Population Swells as Territory Shrinks

JERUSALEM (CP) — Hussein of Jordan now is little more than King of the Refugees.

There were already some 430,000 Arab refugees living in the desert kingdom before the six-day Israeli-Arab war. They had fled from Israel in 1948 when the Jewish state was created out of former Arab lands.

Now it is estimated they have been joined by 150,000 more refugees from the west bank of the Jordan, occupied by Israel after its 48-hour victory over Hussien's Arab Legion.

The west bank represented two-thirds of Jordan's usable land. The new refugees—or double refugees because some of them had also fled Israel 19 years ago—are squatting in tents on the desert plateau around Amman, swelling the Jordanian capital's population by one-third.

There are also some 350,000 Palestinian refugees in the Gaza Strip and another 150,000 in Syria. In their squalid camps, natred of the Jews has been festering for two decades.

Israel has also occupied the Syrian heights overlooking the Sea of Galilee and 6,000 Arabs fled for a second time.

All told, there are thus some 1,100,000 Arab refugees which the United Nations tries to feed on a ration of 1,500 calories a day per person.

The UN has been able to find jobs in other Arab countries for only 7,000 Arab refugees in the Gaza Strip. The refugee population there increases by that number every year.

AIMED SHOT AT BEAR, KILLED MAN INSTEAD

CHETWYND (CP)—An attempt to kill a bear in a north-central British Columbia logging camp ended in death Sunday for one man and injury for another.

Police said a man with a shotgun fired at a bear raiding a garbage shack at a logging camp 50 miles west of Chetwynd. The shotgun blasts hit two other men.

One of them died of face and chest wounds on the way to hospital while the other man was not seriously wounded.

TV HOOKUP COVERED OUR WORLD

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — History's first live global telecast — ranging from shrimp growers in Japan to the Beatles recording in London — came off stunningly Sunday despite Communist withdrawal.

Some highlights — dramatic because they were not filmed or taped but seen while happening:

—Newborn babies cuddled by nurses in Japan, Denmark and Canada and one, umbilical cord still attached, suspended by a doctor in Mexico City.

—A muscular Wisconsin farmer machine - feeding his cattle while machines harvested his 80 acres of peas.

—The mechanical pens of an Australian radio - telescope recording signals from a quasar the announcer said was "10,000 million million million millions miles away."

The program, Our World, sparkplugged by the BBC, was carried in Canada by the CBC and in the U.S. by the National Educational Television network. Spokesmen say commercial networks in the U.S. declined it for reasons unknown.

Russia and her Communist allies withdrew Wednesday from the telecast to protest "Israeli aggression," leaving what U.S. moderator Paul Niven called "some empty chairs in our global audience."

Russia was to have provided one of the four communications satellites for the hookup, but most views came through with remarkable clarity via three U.S. satellites 22,000 miles out, plus thousands of miles of microwaves and landlines.

Nearly two years in the making, the two - hour, black-and-white telecast skipped nimbly about the world showing:

Helmeted steelworkers in Austria . . . Paris freeway traffic . . . Spaniards fishing . . . A Canadian cowboy on horseback chasing an obstreperous steer . . . Beach crowds in Vancouver. . . .

Workmen with jackhammers building an underground Tokyo railway . . . New York, Canadian and Scottish housing developments . . . Canadian swimmer Elaine Tanner of Vancouver barely missing a new world record in the 110-yard butterfly.

THUNDER ALLEY

Odeon Theatre

Here is the Beach Gang on wheels.

The adventures of Fabian and his fellow hot rods are aimed chiefly at the teen-age set and the formula plot is adequate for the purpose.

There is plenty of action and romance showing through the dust and more seasoned moviegoers, particularly auto enthusiasts, could get a lift out of the proceedings.

The cast has its share of young people's favorites, some of them a little short on camera sensitivity, but they rally enough enthusiasm between them to keep the show on the road—or rather the track.

And so we come to the problem of young Fabian, the working girl's delight. A demon race car driver, he suffers a black-out on the track and another driver is killed.

Consequently poor Fabian is barred from the track and has to struggle along as a mere stunt driver with a circus owned by Jan Murray.

★ ★ ★

And who should be the circus proprietor's daughter but lovely Annette Funicello. Most of us have wondered what it would be like to marry the boss's daughter, and Fabian shows us how to get on with the job.

His motives, of course, are pure as snow, but that's no help when you have a jealous girl friend like Diane McBain around. And Funicello's suitor, Warren Berlinger, looks like a man who is thinking of writing to the papers about it!

Fabian, of course, is a big hit with the circus but far from satisfied. He pines for the aristocracy of the race track and, with American International and Annette Funicello behind him, he can hardly fail.

He makes it, and then what do you think that jealous fool Berlinger does: Tries to show off on the track and lands himself in hospital.

You can take it from there.

GERMAN SONG GROUP STIRRED ETHNIC AUDIENCE

Singing Not Perfect but Enjoyable

By BERYL PROUDMAN

The Festival Concert given by the North Pacific Singing Federation in McPherson Playhouse Saturday started on an international note with six minutes of national anthems, those of Britain, U.S.A., Germany and Canada.

A just appraisal of such a concert, held primarily for the entertainment of an ethnic group, is difficult to make.

The stage was so crowded with over 200 singers that the men at the back had hardly enough room to breathe and the women in the front had to remain seated while singing. The avowed aim of the Federation is to keep alive beloved old songs of their German heritage and many in the choirs are housewives and businessmen who sing only for pleasure.

Added to this, most members of the audience knew and loved the traditional sings and their judgment of the performance was colored strongly by nostalgia and ethnic pride. Non-singing members of the federation, sprinkled through the audience, expressed approbation with extreme enthusiasm.

REACTED WITH DELIGHT

How can such a concert be judged by the standards set by professional musicians? The singers were making music with joy and sincerity and the favorably inclined listeners, glad to hear old songs sung in their native tongue, reacted with delight.

The massed choir was hampered by the fact that, although each choir knew the music and had worked on it for a long time, the group as a whole had only a short time to work together as a unit. This unavoidable lack of practice led, occasionally, to a slightly stereophonic effect from the two sides of the stage.

Although much of the tone was good, several songs were flattened considerably by the intonation difficulties of the tenor section.

PLAYERS IN TROUBLE

The orchestra too, made up of 38 members of the Victoria Symphony, encountered some difficulties under the baton of Heinz W. Kilian.

Much of the music was well played but one section of violins had intonation difficulties, particularly in the Overture to the Marriage of Figaro, and, several times in the concert, the orchestra was playing at a different tempo from, that adopted by the singers.

"Wenn Alle Bruennlein Fliessen" with fairly close harmony and a lively mood was one of the more successful songs; and Haydn's "The Heavens Are Telling" provided a stirring grand finale. In this number the massed choir could sing loud, louder, loudest and still remains within the compass of this magnificent triumphal shout.

The soloists were well received but each of the men carried the words to his song. This particularly detracted from the fine dramatic interpretation of Figaro's aria from "The Marriage of Figaro."

The mood of the final number, "The Heavens Are Telling," was broken by a spasm of applause which broke out when the trio of soloists, unable to melt back into the choir because of lack of room, left the stage in the middle of the number.

Although the concert was not completely successful as a professional performance, it carried out the aim of the federation and gave pleasure to those singing and those listening to the traditional old songs of Europe sung in German.

Glamor Boys of the Air Bore in Hard To Win Hearts of 10,000 at Big Show

ALL EYES were riveted on the sky at Armed Forces Day Saturday as air force and navy squadrons staged one of the biggest air shows to date. Three Neptune bombers drone overhead as the planes on the ground are temporarily forgotten. In the foreground is a T-33 jet trainer, dwarfed by a Hercules transport, the largest plane owned by the Canadian forces.

By TERRY IZZARD

The army and navy were there too.

But the air force stole the show at Armed Forces Day Saturday.

The fly-boys made sure all eyes were upturned as they treated a crowd of 10,000-plus to one of the biggest air shows yet.

And quite rightly since the show was being held at Patricia Bay airport instead of off Dallas Road as in past years.

Instead of having centre stage, the navy had to take back seat—making do with a well-patronized shuttle service to the nearby Pat Bay jetty where the destroyer-escort Mackenzie was holding open house.

However, the navy's VU-33 squadron made up for the lack of ships with several displays of its flying capabilities.

●

Under clear blue skies the airport gates opened to a steady stream of cars at noon.

In traditional style, the show opened to the blare of marching bands.

For two hours before the pilots took over, the crowds were kept interested in a variety of displays.

Firefighters demonstrated the art of quelling a blaze aboard ship and rescuing a victim from a blazing plane.

Queues formed throughout the day below a variety of aircraft which were open for inspection.

In the hangar, technical buffs were given an opportunity to inspect radar and meteorology equipment.

For the kiddies the army came through with flying colors.

Youngsters were treated to a ride aboard an armored personnel carrier. They were also given the opportunity to sit in the operating seat of mounted anti-aircraft guns.

For those who wanted to get off the ground there was a model Sopwith Camel running regular flights to the top of a nearby pole.

●

But everything took second place to the real thing when the two hour air show finally got under way.

Spectators crowded to the edge of the field as fighter planes, trackers and helicopters were put through their paces.

Most spectacular of the events was a rescue operation by the twin-rotor Labrador helicopter from Comox.

Crowds thrilled to the sight of two crew members being lowered by rope to the ground, followed by an actual pick-up of a stretcher case.

In addition to the rescue operation, the large helicopter demonstrated its manoeuvrability.

For a change of pace, the army showed off its single-engine Cessna spotter plane.

As a change from high speed jet flyovers, the army pilot gave a demonstration of low speed stalls and turns.

While being kept busy watching all this, the crowd unconsciously munched its way through hundreds of pounds of hot dogs and many gallons of pop and coffee.

Said an armed forces spokesman: "It was one of the most successful Armed Forces Days yet held."

PILOTS FELT BETTER after this little show by armed forces firefighters. The asbestos-clad men doused 50-foot flames from a mock aeroplane in only 10 seconds. Firefighting display was one of several witnessed by crowd of more than 10,000 at Armed Forces Day. (Robin Clarke photos.)

DESPITE HOW IT FELT

City Not Hot . . . Officially

Temperature records were broken in six B.C. centres Sunday but officially Victoria was not one of them.

Vancouver's Sunday high of 80 broke the previous record for June 25 set in 1961 with 74 degrees.

Many Victoria people felt that Sunday was the hottest day so far this year but official temperatures taken at the high-level Gonzales weather station, always subject to any cooling sea breezes, registered only 63 on Sunday and 68 on Saturday.

The city weather pattern has now changed, said meteorologist Allan McQuarrie. Disturbances are moving in from the west and a little rain can be expected Tuesday.

However, an improvement can be expected in midweek, he said.

Sunday Kamloops registered a temperature of 91, the highest in Canada.

Record highs of 83 were reported in Abbotsford and Nanaimo. In the northeast, Fort St. John had a temperature of 84, and in Fort Nelson, 87 was the record high.

Youth Injured In Boat Mishap At Salt Spring

A 13-year-old boy is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria after a mishap with his father's boat on Sunday.

Richard Harrison, of Cowichan Station, escaped death by inches as the high-powered boat skimmed by him off the northwest coast of Salt Spring Island.

FOOT CUT

He was plucked from the water with a badly cut foot.

The mishap was witnessed by several persons from the shore.

Said one witness, Duncan lawyer Donald MacDonald: "The boat had been tied up at the dock on shore. The father appeared to say something to the boy as he untied the mooring rope.

When the boat started off the boy appeared to be clinging to the bow.

"Suddenly the boat swerved and the youngster was thrown into the water. As it completed its turn the boat slewed and the boy disappeared under the stern.

"I thought it must have hit him on the head.

"Then he appeared. The boat turned round and picked him up."

POLICE PROBE

Richard was rushed to Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and later transferred to Victoria.

Police at Ganges said they are investigating the mishap which happened around 7:45 p.m.

The boat was described as a 22-foot power cruiser.

Guard Saves Life Of Seven-Year-Old

The alertness of a 17-year-old girl life guard saved a little girl from drowning in Elk Lake Sunday afternoon.

Rhonda Cunningham, seven, of 870 Darwin, was floating face down and unconscious in about three feet of water when she was spotted by guard Judy Soper.

"She was unconscious when I turned her over," Judy said, "but she came around quickly when I started to give her artificial respiration."

The child was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Saanich ambulance but released after she was checked over.

Judy, who lives at 1520 Gladstone, was taking her third turn this summer in life-guarding at Hamsterly Park. Her life-saving training was taken at the YWCA.

Beaches along both Elk and Beaver Lakes were jammed Sunday as thousands headed for the water under a hot sun.

"LIVERY OF SEISIN" or "investiture" was the name of ancient ceremony which signified grant of real property. It was demonstrated by handing a piece of sod to the new owner in presence of witnesses. It was carried out at Elk-Beaver Lake Park Sunday when the area was transferred by the city of Victoria to the Regional District Board. Mayor Hugh Stephen, left, seals the deal with Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis, regional board chairman, who is holding sod. Looking on in background, from left, are Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs J. E. Brown, Esquimalt - Saanich MP George Chatterton, and Robert H. Ahrens, of the Department of Recreation and Conservation. (Times photo by William John.)

St. Croix Returns From Northern Tour

The destroyer-escort HMCS St. Croix returned to Esquimalt today from a week-long tour of northern B.C. waters.

During her trip, the St. Croix paid a two-day visit to Ketchikan, Alaska, where more than 400 toured the ship.

Two Arrested After Chase Of Stolen Car

Other Youths Hurt In Plunge Off Road

Two youths are in hospital and two others were arrested after a high-speed chase in two incidents involving stolen cars over the weekend.

Colwood RCMP officers said two 14-year-old boys were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car went over a 30-foot embankment on the Sooke Road near Kangaroo Road.

Both boys are reported in good condition today. One suffered head injuries and the other face cuts and a shoulder injury.

Police said the car involved had been reported stolen from the parking lot of the Gorge Vale Golf Club earlier.

THREE FORCES

Less than an hour later, shortly before 3 a.m., police from three forces combined to stop a speeding car on the Patricia Bay Highway and arrest the two 16-year-old occupants.

A Central Saanich police cruiser chasing the auto radioed for assistance and was joined by an RCMP police car from the Sidney detachment.

The car, reported stolen earlier in Victoria, was finally stopped at a roadblock set up by Saanich police on the highway at Royal Oak Avenue. The two boys taken into custody were turned over to city police. They were scheduled to appear in juvenile court later.

Seven Hurt When Car Smashes Tree

Four boys and a girl were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car carrying eight youths went out of control on Burnside and smashed into a tree.

Two of the three other passengers were treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital and released.

All those in hospital are reported in good condition today.

They are:

Wayne Daykin, 18, of 3061 Admirals Rd., with head injuries; Brad Jorgensen, 16, of 4244 Metchosin, head and chest injuries; Len Bowers, 18, of 2838 Inlet, with cuts; Cynthia De Laronde, 17, of 161 Little Eldon, a shoulder injury and Randy McDougall, 18, of 414 Craigflower, head and leg injuries.

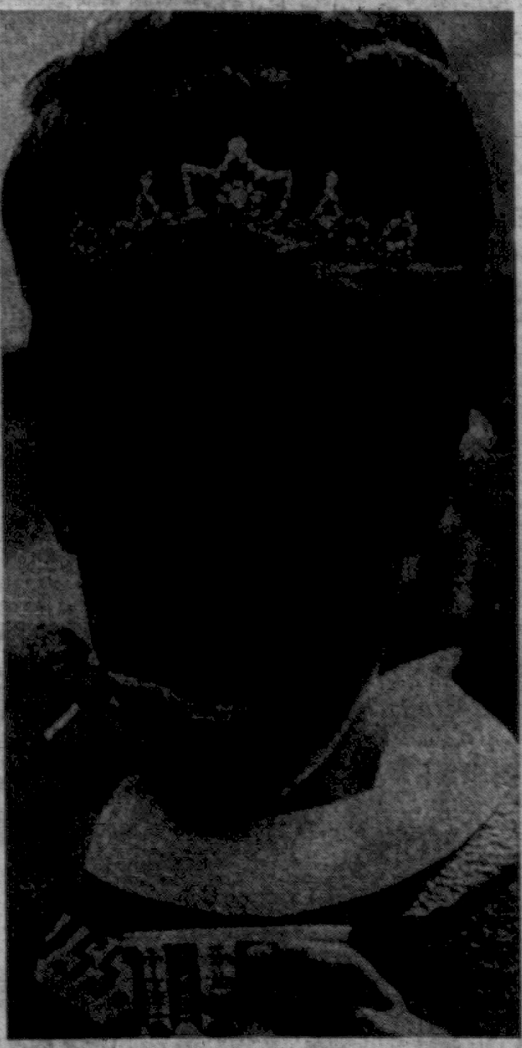
Larry Cardy, 16, of 2936 Dickerson and Gerry Oulette, 22, of 1316 Grant St. were treated for minor injuries. Unhurt was Anthony Armstrong, 16, of 3098 Volmer Rd.

Saanich police said the car was northbound on Burnside shortly after 2 a.m. when it went out of control just past Marigold and rammed the tree.

$800 DAMAGE

Minor damage was also done a fence and garage. Damage to the car was estimated at $800. Officers have yet to determine who was driving the auto.

Wife Charged With Stabbing



STRAWBERRY BRUNETTE sampling wares at Saanich strawberry festival Sunday is Margaret Vickers, Miss Victoria and last year's Saanich Jubilee Queen. Elk-Beaver Lake Park crowd ate 60 pounds of berries with appropriate amounts of ice cream. But few nibbled so delicately as Margaret. (Times photo by William John.)

Husband Found In Hallway

Emergency surgery was performed on a city man early today after he was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a wound in his back.

Francis McKenzie Gibbs, 53, of 703 Esquimalt Road, was at one point reported in serious condition, but later listed as satisfactory.

His wife, Mary Patricia, 42, appeared in central court this morning charged with causing her husband bodily harm "by stabbing him with a knife."

$500 BAIL

Her case was remanded to July 4 for plea and bail was set at $500.

Police found Mr. Gibbs lying in the hallway of his Esquimalt Road apartment after receiving a telephone call from another resident in the building shortly after 1 a.m.

Officers said Mr. Gibbs had a wound one inch long in the left side of his back. They said they seized a foot-long knife found under some pillows in a bedroom.

SAANICH WARNED ON GORGE FLOAT

A former prairie public works foreman said today he has twice unsuccessfully urged repair of a Gorge float.

This is the same float from which it is said six-year-old David Glanville, 1054 Tillicum, slipped to his death last week.

Robert Clark, 3166 Wascana, said along with many others he uses the float for five months of the year for herring fishing. He has frequently seen four and five-year-olds playing unattended on it.

He said that one of the four pontoons at one end is missing and another is full of water with the result the other end of the float is about two or three feet out of the water.

NOTHING DONE

He said that in February he reported the condition of the float to the reeve of Saanich and a few days later two men inspected the float but nothing was done.

Last week when Mr. Clark went to pay his taxes he again reported the condition of the float and was referred to parks superintendent Bert Richman who is away on holiday.

EASY JOB

Mr. Clark, who spent four and a half years as a public works foreman in a beach area in Manitoba, said it would not be difficult to correct the situation.

"I defy anyone to stand up on that float when it is wet," he said, referring to the slope of the deck. "I fell in myself but I can get out. If a child falls in there's trouble.

"I want to see the float in good shape for safety's sake."

Japanese Ships Leave Tokyo For Victoria

Four Japanese cruisers due in Victoria July 14 set sail today from Tokyo.

The warships, carrying a complement of 1,100 men, will take part in the centennial naval assembly off Victoria between July 14 and 20.

They are the Teruzuki, Yudachi, Murasame and Chikinami.

Big Stores Staying Open On Monday

Victoria's larger stores will remain open Monday, July 3, Confederation Day, and smaller stores have indicated they will follow suit.

Banks and offices, said the Chamber of Commerce today, will close Monday because their staffs, normally off on Saturdays, are entitled to another holiday because the Dominion Day statutory holiday falls on the Saturday.

For the same reason municipal and provincial government offices will be closed on Monday as well as Saturday.

B.C. Hydro will run holiday schedules on the Saturday and normal schedules on Sunday and Monday.

Virtually all stores and businesses will be closed Dominion Day, Saturday, July 1.

COOKING CAN BE FUN — WITH MARY MOORE

A European Touch to Freezable Meat Rolls

These meat rolls will remind you of Rouladen if you have any European blood in your veins. It could be they are a North American copy. However they came from Ruth Willson of the Regina Leader Post staff. I expect she added her own touches and now I have tampered with the recipe further. A dividend our freezer owners will welcome is their freezability.

Moore

CONTINENTAL MEAT ROLLS

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two-lb. slice round steak cut ½" thick; 1½ teaspoons salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; ½ teaspoon accent; ½ teaspoon meat tenderizer; ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon rosemary; 4 or 5 strips side bacon cut in halves crosswise; 1 or 2 large dill pickles sliced lengthwise wafer thin; 1 10-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 cup dairy sour cream; 1 large Spanish onion, sliced wafer thin.

Cut excess fat from edge of round steak and render it out over low heat in large frying pan. Mix together in a cup the salt, pepper, accent, meat tenderizer and rosemary and spread HALF of this seasoning mixture over steak on board and pound it in with meat pounder or edge of strong saucer or rolling pin until meat is flattened and stretched to 1½ times its original area. Turn it over and pound in remaining seasonings. Cut meat into 8 or 10 neat strips 6"x2". On each place a half strip of bacon and a thin lengthwise strip of dill pickle. Roll up and tie snugly with string. Sear and brown on all sides in rendered-out fat in frying pan over high heat. Transfer to baking dish with lid. (OR if no lid you can use foil). Add sliced onion to pan and fry until limp and slightly brown. Remove beef fat scraps. Sprinkle flour over and stir it through the onion. Add mushroom stems and pieces and liquid and sour cream and stir in until somewhat thickened. Pour over meat rolls, cover and bake at 350 degrees F. 1½ hours. (Note: These could be simmered covered on top of stove if necessary.) Remove string before serving on noodles or mashed potatoes or fluffy hot rice or with crusty French bread or rolls.

Ruth winds up by saying "the sauce-gravy is scrumptious and rich!" I agree. Freezer owners could make this in freezer-oven-proof casserole and cool and chill, freezerwrap and freeze. To serve, thaw and heat at 300 degrees F. 1 to 1¼ hours.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have two very interesting ideas to pass along to you today. One idea comes from a reader and one from a doctor.

The reader wrote after seeing my column about contact lenses in which I expressed some surprise because the large percentage of contacts are worn by the younger set, and made a few guesses about why more women in the older age groups do not wear them.

Lowman

My idea was that the latter group did not want to bother going through the fittings and conditioning perioed necessary since there are so many attractive frames for glasses. Also, after spending money for their teen-ager's contacts, adults in the family may have felt they could not afford them.

My readers say, "Regarding reasons why more older women do not wear contact lenses, frames tend to hide some of the age lines around the eyes and sagging eyelids are less noticeable. Also, I have a brownish spot at the outer edge of each eyebrow and frames cover these."

I never thought of that, but I think she is right, especially when such flattering frames are available.

I am bragging a little when I qoute from the letter of a well-known skin specialist. He writes, "In regard to your column 'Dermabrasion Employed in Treating Acne Scars' I must compliment you on a most factual presentation with one exception. As you correctly state, wrinkles are caused by the condition of underlying tissues, muscles and bones, and at best could be only temporarily improved by dermabrasion. On the other hand the fine wrinkling of the skin of the older woman is most readily corrected by dermabrasion, and the results may last for 10 years or more.

"I believe if you had included this in your column your reporting would have been correct and complete in every respect. The removal of fine wrinkling is being done daily throughout the country by dermatologists with the use of dermabrasion, and it is highly successful. The deep wrinkles, as you have stated, are much less responsive."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Simply Sensational —'And That Ain't Hay'

By PENNY SAVER

Outdoor living is great, and I'm all for getting the family out camping, but my latest experience in the wilderness took place in our own back yard. The other evening I persuaded the younger set to do the dishes, while I went into the garden and collapsed on the chaise lounge to recuperate from a day of housework. In no time I was imagining myself trekking through the hinterlands, on snowshoes through the Arctic tunda, up towards the North Pole. Suddenly I was confronted by a gigantic black bear. "But polar bears are white," I remember saying to the creature as it came towards me, snuffling loudly through its whiskers. I woke up letting out a blood-curdling scream to find that an armful of black cat was snoring in my ear.

Generally, thank goodness, bears are scarce in the garden, so we live out there quite a bit. I'm always looking for ways to simplify back-yard living, and while I was shopping the other day I came across an item I've wanted for ages, but had never seen before. It is a basket tray for carrying drinks. This tray comes in two sizes . . . one of medium-sized and one for large glasses. They're designed so that each tumbler sits in its own small basket, thus preventing slipping, sliding and spilling. These trays are made of sturdy woven raffia with a wood base, and are decorated with multi-colored bands of raffia. One tray holds six glasses and is priced at $1, and the other holds eight small ones and is priced at $1.25.

If you'd like to set a gay and attractive patio table, why not buy raffia placemats? Dozens of different colors, patterns and designs are available where I shopped. Round, square, rectangular—all in intricate weaves of solid or varied colors, these mats are the perfect answer for perking up outdoor table settings. These are priced from 60 to 85 cents each.

Woven straw purses are the most practical summer accessories, and this store has dozens of them. These lightweight bags are perfect for carrying with all your summer clothes, because they're neutral shade and can tote oodles of goodies. Some of these purses are plain with brown or black leather trim; and some have large raffia flower decorations—all of them have strong leather handles. Depending on size (all are fairly large) and design, these purses are priced from $3.95 to $9.95.

If you'd like to know where I found these straw accessories, please give me a call at 382-3131.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

Some lucky individuals are gifted with vibrant, effervescent personalities. They drift through life in a blaze of popularity without even trying. Others, however, might find it helpful to review a few basic popularity pointers.

I cornered my 17-year-old son the other day, midway between an afternoon football game and an evening prom, to check out the current ideas of the young set concerning popularity. He readily concurred on the following basic rules.

The Big Three are still cleanliness, tasteful dress and observance of the social amenities.

Good grooming makes all kinds of nice things happen to you. Hair and skin care are especially important.

Keep your hair scrupulously clean, neat and free from dandruff. No boy likes to date a girl who has snowstorm shoulders.

Skin problems during the teen years can be very discouraging, but with proper diet and sensible care, including careful cleansing, these problems can be kept under control.

No girl likes to go out with a boy who smells as if he just came off the football field.

Tasteful dress is the second popularity basic. You don't have to dash over to England and buy all the mod styles you can lay your hands on to be attractive. Dress appropriately for the occasion.

Avoid conspicuous clothes. That gold lame sheath may make you look like a movie starlet, but it may make your date want to hide under the table. This rule also applies to way-out hairdos, green nail polish, and all the other shockers some girls seem to adore.

The third popularity basic is a working knowledge of the social amenities.

Try not to gossip, even if you think Joanne looks an utter fright in pink, or that Helen's last party was the dullest ever. For one thing, gossip isn't kind.

Don't get your date into an embarrassing situation through thoughtlessness. It's quite all right to make a few suggestions if he asks you how you'd like to spend the evening, but don't insist upon the most expensive movie, show or restaurant in town.

Prices on the world silver markets have recently reached record highs. This upswing will force an increase in the retail prices of sterling silver flatware. If the spiralling continues—and there is every reason to expect that it will—further substantial increases are inevitable.
As yet, Birks has not made any change in sterling silver flatware prices. However, our supplies of silver are limited, and our prices will be increased as of July 3rd.
We suggest you make any purchases of Birks' sterling silver now while our present stocks last and our present prices are still in effect.

INTERIOR TRIP

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes, who are on the mainland this week, will motor to 100-Mile House Tuesday, where they will attend a luncheon. Following the luncheon, they will travel by air to Fort St. John, where His Honor is presenting centennial medallions to pioneer residents. Lt.-Cmdr. W. E. Clayards is aide-de-camp in attendance.

Unusual Container

Gifts for the kitchen were contained in a giant set of dentures when the former Miss Caroline Oliver was entertained prior to her marriage at a shower held by Mrs. A. W. Aylard and Mrs. J. Hallin Ford in the latter's Hampshire Road home. The novel container, made by Mrs. Aylard, depicted the honor guest's profession of dental hygiene. Carnations en corsage were given to Miss Oliver, her mother Mrs. W. S. Oliver and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. Cook. Guests included Mrs. B. Baxter, Mrs. F. Chung, Mrs. R. Hunt, Mrs. A. Kerr, Mrs. J. Purcell, Mrs. W. Ralph, Mrs. J. Roberts, Mrs. B. Ryall, Lubbock, Texas; the Misses Joanne Aylard, Deedee Boughey, Janice Cook, Faith D'Arcy, Doreen Falkner and Donna Walton. The honor guest wed Mr. Peter Cook last Friday.

Trousseau Tea

The former Miss Patricia Page, whose marriage to Mr. Derek Sidenius took place last Saturday, was entertained at a trousseau tea recently in the Zinnia Street home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley B. Page. Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. K. Dinsdale and Mrs. E. C. Chiasson. Victoria guests attending were Mrs. J. W. Vitali, Mrs. A. W. Young, Mrs. C. H. Dash, Mrs. Betty Thorsteinson, Mrs. G. Lupu, Mrs. D. Bouchard, Mrs. R. Adams, Mrs. H. J. Munroe, Mrs. W. Spyksma, Mrs. W. C. Dow, Mrs. P. Yorke, Mrs. Ruth Canon, Mrs. I. Crooks and Miss Sharon Thorsteinson. From Vancouver were the groom's mother, Mrs. G. Sidenius, and grandmother, Mrs. H. Sidenius; Mrs. P. L. Holme, Mrs. R. E. Jarvis and Mrs. N. Rogers. Mrs. N. Dinsdale and her daughter, Heather, attended from Duncan.

Hear Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moore and their son, Robert, travelled from Youbou to attend the Wilson-Robertson wedding. Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. Johnston, Mrs. Hector Berks, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wilson and Miss P. Power, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. C. Cameron of Lake Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Beams of Ladysmith, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Power of Nanaimo.

Now at Glen Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Taylor, 45 Gorge Road East, announce the marriage of their only daughter, Lorraine Isabelle, to Mr. Kenneth A. Murcklen, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murcklen, 813 Arncote Road, Langford. The ceremony took place in Centennial United Church on Friday, June 16, with a reception being held in the Dupplin Road home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Walker. The young couple is now living at Glen Lake.

Five-Foot Cake 'Monster' Seen at St. Andrew's Sale

The first requirement for a Monster Bake Sale is, of course, a monster.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Women's Guilds didn't turn their "very own monster" loose on the lawns of Glenlyon School on Saturday, but he proved to be a big attraction at their garden party and bake sale. He was in reality a five-foot cake, baked by Mrs. P. Watt, and distributed to guests during the afternoon.

Rev. Bruce Malloy, recently appointed associate minister, opened the gala event. General convener for the annual party was Mrs. J. A. McArthur, president.

A section of the school's lawn, providing a magnificent sea view, was dotted with well-attended tea tables. Tables were centred with arrangements of spring flowers and delicious cakes and tea sandwiches were served. Tea convener was Mrs. P. A. Boldt. She was assisted by Mrs. N. Arnold, Mrs. P. Watt, Mrs. G. Hodge and Mrs. W. C. Pendray.

Stalls selling everything from bouquets of peonies to bird-houses were scattered over the lawns and attracted many buyers. Mrs. J. W. Cameron was in charge of the new miscellaneous stall, assisted by the Fernwood group; Mrs. B. P. Allard and South Fairfield group, bake sale, and Mrs. C. Hemstreet and James Bay group, jams and jellies. The major attractions were the baking stalls that were mounded high with every possible kind of goodie.

Also assisting at the stalls were the CGIT girls, who handled a book stall; St. Andrew's Boy Scouts, light bulb sale; and the senior high young people's group, who sold pop and ice cream.

Entertainment during the afternoon was introduced by master of ceremonies Lieut. Ron Lysell. Colorful Scottish flings and fast-paced Scottish country dances provided by the Katherine Costain Dancers kept guests enthralled all afternoon. Even Rudge, the Glenlyon School dog, joined in the act, helping accordionists Michael Ward and Lee York in their music-making!

Proceeds from the highly successful event were $900. This sum will be used to continue the activities of the guild groups during the coming year.

Mrs. Hugh Stephen, wife of Victoria's mayor, will officially open the dogwood festival of the Women's Auxiliary to the Veterans' Hospital, to be held on the hospital grounds on Wednesday, from 2 to 5 p.m. Patrons for the affair are His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett. Mrs. F. R. Roberts (third from left) is president and convener; Mrs. E. Newman is co-convener. Seen, left to right, with Mrs. Roberts, are committee members Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, Mrs. E. Vant, Mrs. P. W. Smoothy and Mrs. B. B. Bowen. Entertainment will be provided by a band from the Canadian Forces' School of Music and the Esquimalt Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 172's junior pipe band and dancers. (Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Christ Church Cathedral Party Realizes $1,400 Last Saturday

The garden party of Christ Church Cathedral's Women's Parish Guild became a real family affair as youngsters, oldsters and those 'in-between' pitched in to help insure the annual affair's success. Saturday's formula must have worked—the party realized the sum of $1,400!

There was something offered for everyone, no matter what the age. Contests for the youngsters, including archery, tossing golf balls into fish bowls, knocking over coconuts, had the cathedral grounds echoing with the sounds of excited winners and disconsolate losers.

Of course, no one could resist trying his hand, especially at one of the contests—throwing a baseball at a drinking machine. The church committee was in charge of the games.

Most of the guests headed for the tea room in Memorial Hall after browsing and buying at stalls. Mrs. F. Cowley, Mrs. Carl Gonnason and Mrs. J. Beasley were hostesses at tea, and Mrs. M. Anderson was in charge of the serviteurs. The latter were the young members of the Fellowship of St. Francis with Miss Nancy Cappleman as president.

Working behind the scenes in the kitchen were Miss Olive Watherston and Mrs. M. Moore while arranging the plates were Mrs. W. Stubbs, Mrs. D. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Foster, Mrs D. Le Touche and Mrs. E. Whatmough.

Supervising the stalls were Mrs. T. Evans, Mrs. M. Cormer, Mrs. J. Buckle, Mrs. D. Vincent and Mrs. J. Jaffray, home cooking; Mrs. H. Barry, Mrs. C. Beard and Mrs. G. Schofield, linens; Mrs. A. Mayfield and Mrs. D. Winkel, aprons; Mrs. F. Bass and Mrs. G. Caddick, handknits; Mrs. D. Weaver and Mrs. V. M. Robinson, the Misses Alison and Connie Chrow, treasure trove; president Miss Heather Gibney and Guild of St. Mary, cards; the cathedral Men's Club, led by Jack Price, garden; H. H. Smith, post cards from Britain.

The church choir had its own booth, supervised by the Misses Nora and Gwynedd Hughes, Eileen Napper and Mrs. Winnifred Milton. In charge of the raffle of an exquisite petit-point stool was Mrs. L. Graham. Mrs. Enid Webster was in charge of publicity and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hall and Miss Bessie Marriott handled tickets. When Mrs. Hugh Stephen opened the event, she was presented with a corsage by Little Erin Price and Brian Ginell. Corsages were also given to general convener Mrs. J. F. K. English, Mrs. Brian Whitlow and Mrs. Jack Price.

NEAR DEADLINE

Women all over British Columbia are stitching away with zest in order to meet this Friday's deadline when entries in the centennial quilt contest must be received at the various collection points in the province. The two points on Vancouver Island are operated by Miss V. Salliss 2162 Epworth Street, Victoria, and the Courtenay Credit Union, 44th St., Courtenay. The contest is sponsored by the British Columbia Centennial Committee which has authorized $1,500 for prizes. There is no entry fee. Quilts judged the best at the regional points will be shown at the PNE in Vancouver, August 19 to September 4.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

NEARLY $400 FOR OXFAM

It's fashionable to be in shape this summer—in feminine shape, that is.

Waistlines are coming back, or so it seemed at the fashion show at Woodwynn Farm on Saturday. Shifts were swinging and carefree, curving in at the waist or being definitely marked with belts. Color was the keyword for the two shows presented during the afternoon-the brighter, and the wilder the better. The presentations, featuring clothes from Woodwards, were the highlight of the garden party of Victoria OXFAM, the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief. Joan Fraser was commentator in an outfit which is 'a la mode' this centennial year, depicting the fashion of 1867.

The proceeds of $397.30 realized at the affair will be used for the committee's self-help program in under-privileged countries.

Opening the affair was one of the patrons of the Victoria OXFAM committee, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside. He is also on the Central Committee in Toronto. General convener was Mrs. Mrs. Robin Skelton.

In charge of the home baking stall at the event were Mrs. H. Siebner, Mrs. G. Walker and Mrs. H. Dobereiner. Mrs. G. Auchinachie and Mrs. M. Dane handled publicity and Mrs. R. Terry was in charge of the door prize.

Supervising the tea arrangements were Mrs. C. Gregory and Mrs. J. Fowler while Mrs. N. Stephens was in charge of a booth serving leomade.

While Mom was watching the shows and having tea, the youngsters enjoyed games, watched by baby-sitters, the Misses Mary Molliet and Grace Seinen, student nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Honeymoon in South After Friday Wedding

Following their wedding in Christ Church Cathedral Friday evening, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Robertson left on a honeymoon trip to San Francisco.

The bride, the former Darlene Carol Wilson, wore a gown of white silk styled on A-lines, encaged in daisy-patterned lace, fashioned with a full train of similar lace sweeping back from the yoked neckline. A headpiece of fabric lilies held her silk illusion veil which misted to chapel-length. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy. For luck, she had a sixpence in her shoe.

The cathedral was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons for the ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Wilson, 2960 Henderson Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Robertson, 2320 Forbes Street. Dean Brian Whitlow officiated at the service, and Mr. Wilson gave his daughter in marriage.

The organist, Richard Proudman, played "Trumpet Voluntary" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," and the boy's choir sang Crimond's "Twenty-third Psalm" during the signing of the register.

Maid of honor Doreen Falkner, and bridesmaids Diane Falkner, Nora Robertson, the groom's sister; and bridesmatron Mrs. Don Wilson, the bride's sister-in-law, wore similar gowns of lime green satin-backed shantung styled on A-lines, highlighted with yoke and skirt panel detailing. Headpieces en tone were edged with net veiling. They carried colonial bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Bill Dealey acted as best man and John Ballock, Bill Hilliar, and Harold Keep ushered guests to their pews.

At the reception following in Union Centre a three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centred the head table. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, carnations and ivy decorated the room. Bob Proctor proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the bride chose a pale green linen dress and coat ensemble which she accented with milkwood-toned accessories. A corsage of yellow garnet roses completed the picture.

On their return the couple will make their home in Charter House, Michigan Street.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Best Explanation Is Always the Truth

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a son (I'll call him Joey) who was born out of wedlock. He is six years old. About four months ago my sister married a man who refuses to take Joey into his home, but he pays for his support. Joey now lives with our parents and he can't understand why his mommy "visits" him at Granny's but she won't take him "home" with her.

My sister hasn't told Joey anything. I feel he should be told something. But what? I think I have a right to ask this question because my mother is in poor health, and now my sister wants me to promise that I will look after Joey in case something happens to our mother.

I am 24, have been self-supporting since I was 16, and plan to be married in June. Please withhold my name.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Joey should be legally adopted by someone who wants him. Ideally you, since you appear to be the only one who is sufficiently concerned about what the boy thinks.

Under the circumstances, the only explanation would be the truth. No one can be forced to raise a child he doesn't want. And if he could, I'd pity the poor child.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the father who was worried because his son was smoking pot showed that you don't know what you're talking about.

Marijuana is NOT a drug. It is NOT habit-forming. It is NOT as injurious to the body as alcohol. And it serves a very useful purpose in that it relaxes a person, sharpens his senses and gives him a happy, carefree, all-is-right-with-the-world feeling. So, dear Abby, what is wrong with that?

SMOKES POT

DEAR SMOKES: Anything, whether it's inhaled, injected, or taken on a cube of sugar to induce a "happy, carefree, all-is-right-with-the-world feeling," when all is NOT right with the world, poses a serious threat. The reason is obvious. It creates a false sense of security and wellbeing.

While marijuana itself may not be habit-forming, the "habit" of fleeing from reality rather than facing it can be as destructive to the human personality as a drug addiction.

Although many authorities on narcotics insist that not all marijuana smokers graduate to heroin or morphine, it would certainly be an easy transition for those who would try anything for kicks. For the same unscrupulous characters who peddle marijuana to kids are not above trying to hook them on the stronger stuff.

DEAR ABBY: How does a father who has excelled in sports all his life adjust to a 15-year-old son who has never shown even a normal interest in sports?

I realize that not all boys can be great athletes, but my son has the build for it and the coordination. He could be really good if he wanted to, but he's lazy and isn't competitive in anything.

I have done my best to get him interested in sports ever since this boy was old enough to hold a ball, Abby, but it never caught on. I can tell you that it's not easy to be a good father to a boy like this. Any suggestions?

CORNHUSKER

DEAR CORNHUSKER: Yes. lay off. A "good" father forgets himself and thinks of his son. He then encourages the boy to grow in the direction he seems inclined.

The initiation took place earlier this month.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Prior, 3164 Shelbourne Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Michaele Elizabeth, to Mr. Barry Walter Freeman, eldest son of Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, 1011 Pandora Avenue, and the late Mr. W. C. Freeman. The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 8, at 7:30 p.m., in St. Mary's Anglican Church. Canon Hywel Jones will officiate. (Jus-Rite Portrait Studio.)

VICTORIA MAN WED IN VANCOUVER

A wedding of wide interest to Victorians took place in West Vancouver United Church, recently, when Frances Lynn Edwards became the bride of John David Turner.

Rev. T. T. Oliver officiated at the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Edwards, of Vancouver, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Turner, 291 Tudor Avenue.

White gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the church. The organist was John Fearing, and the soloist, Miss Shirley Ging, sang "Song for a Wedding" during the signing of the register. Mr. Edwards gave his daughter in marriage.

A gown of organza over taffeta, styled on empire lines, was worn by the bride. It was complemented by a train of Valenciennes lace which swept back from the shoulder. Her veil, shimmering with sequin embroidery misted softly from a tiara headpiece. A bouquet of white carnations and ivy completed the picture.

Maid of honor Miss Wendy Drew wore a gown of yellow organza over taffeta styled on empire lines, and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. A dress of apple green organza over taffeta was worn by junior bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Knutson. Her bouquet was of similar flowers. Little Heather Drugge was flower girl in a frock of apple green organza over taffeta. She carried a basket of bronze and white chrysanthemums.

Best man was James Stewart, and ushering guests were David Duke and Douglas Smith.

Baskets of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums decorated Canyon Gardens, North Vancouver, for the reception following. Alvin Knutson proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon to the interior, the new Mrs. Turner chose a floral silk dress in aqua tones topped by a matching duster coat of aqua shantung which she complemented with white accessories. A corsage of yellow roses accented the ensemble.

CONVENTION CENTRE WOULD REVITALIZE HARBOR AREA

Waterfront Plan Key to Renewal

By JIM HUME

WEEDS AND WIRE FENCES are one of the first sights greeting tourists as they travel Wharf Street to seek the beauties of Bastion Square. But if plans for a major urban renewal scheme in the area go ahead the blight typical of the three-block area bounded by Wharf, Langley and Bastion will soon be a thing of the past.

Once the window of Victoria and its door to the world, the three-block area bounded by Bastion Square, Langley and Wharf Streets is feeling the pinch of urban blight.

Here and there property owners have made modest gestures to halt the decay.

Brightly colored paint covers many of the outside signs, but gaping windows from empty offices say the gay facade is just that.

On Wharf Street a service station stands drab and streaked. Stripped of the equipment which once made it a prosperous business, it now glooms over the Inner Harbor bidding a dejected welcome to ferry-travelling tourists.

Only in one section of the three-block area is there any sign of a major attempt to halt the waterfront blight.

In the old six-storey Liquor Control Board building across from the silent Pacific Club renovations are scheduled to the tune of $86,000. It will be used by the provincial government as the old Temple Building at Fort and Langley is, to relieve crowded office space.

It could be the first step of what city officials hope will be a massive face-lifting job to restore what is basically the old Fort Victoria site to a position of active pride.

◆

The key to the plan—which city officials admit remains in the discussion stage—is the proposed multi-purpose convention centre.

One of the two sites recommended for consideration by the city's convention centre committee lies on Wharf between the Black Ball Ferry dock and the old HMCS Malahat recruiting centre.

If council accepts the site over the second proposal to build the convention centre close to the Crystal Garden, it will also endorse the over-all committee recommendation which would see the centre built as a part of a major urban renewal scheme.

City planner Geoff Greenhalgh is convinced both senior governments would look with favor on such a project. He stands on fairly solid ground.

At the opening of Bastion Square, Canada's first completed urban renewal scheme, federal and provincial cabinet ministers urged the city not to consider the Square a completed project, but to regard it as merely the first stage of a much wider concept.

Since then Ottawa-based officials have re-asserted their belief that the Bastion Square project should seek wider boundaries to the south.

And as recently as last week the provincial government verbally informed the city that it was keenly interested in the urban renewal program and would look with favor on a detailed presentation.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has already gone on record as being in favor of a convention centre and has stated that his government will help with the cost providing the centre is built as a regional project.

But that was before the urban renewal plus a convention centre proposal was unveiled by Clyde Savage, chairman of the convention centre committee.

It is understood that the premier now favors the latter scheme and will not only support the urban renewal program but would also be prepared to approve a matching grant to the city of up to $1 million to build the centre.

◆

City officials are reluctant to make specific commitments before Ald. Percy Frampton and his select committee make a positive recommendation to council on the two convention centre sites (Wharf Street and the Crystal) proposed by the original study committee.

But they leave no doubt that the Wharf Street program is the one they support and the one they would like to see go ahead.

In the official convention centre report Mr. Savage expressed his views openly.

"Redevelopment of the waterfront from the Causeway to Bastion Square is the most significant renewal and rehabilitation project which could be undertaken to enhance the city's attraction as a resort and to secure and revitalize the commercial centre," is the way the report backs the proposal.

◆

Two weeks ago J. Everett Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs, appealed to the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities to change their thinking when approaching the problem of restoring life to a downtown core.

He was asked if the urban renewal proposal for Bastion, Langley and Wharf was closer to the provincial government's concept of restoration programs and he answered with an unqualified "yes."

Since then Mr. Brown has conveyed to city officials the fact that he was not alone in the senior government in looking with favor on the project.

What happens next?

First the scheme needs the endorsation of city council and that will not come until Ald. Frampton presents his committee's report.

With that hurdle cleared the city would commence immediately a preliminary feasibility study to determine whether the city could undertake the necessary financial commitment.

In turn that would hinge on the willingness of the federal and provincial governments to officially endorse the project as an urban renewal scheme.

Remembering the verbal commitments already made the strong indication is that senior government approval would be speedy.

With both senior governments backing the scheme the cost sharing for land acquisition and site clearance would be shared on a three-level basis with the federal government footing 50 per cent of the bill and the provincial and municipal governments sharing the balance on a 25-25 basis.

◆

City planners stress that approval of an urban renewal scheme would not mean a razing of the three-block area.

"That isn't the idea at all," said a department spokesman. "The entire concept must be regarded as an extension of Bastion Square. I think it's pretty obvious what has been done there. All the old buildings remain with the outside facade restored and the interiors completely modernized.

"If the area bounded by Bastion, Langley and Wharf is declared an urban renewal program that same thinking would be carried forward. The old buildings of historic value or architectural charm would remain as a very important part of the project."

Some of the buildings, beyond repair or restoration would undoubtedly fall to the wrecker's hammer to let some light and open spaces into the now jumbled cheek-by-jowl clutter.

City officials have no doubt that with acceptance of the project as an urban renewal scheme private capital will be quick to take advantage of development as it has in Bastion Square.

Plans are already on the drawing boards for a major hotel and small boat marina opposite the foot of Fort Street and for a 360 car parkade between Fort, Broughton, Wharf and Langley.

Preliminary plans would see the entire waterfront landscaped between the Causeway and Bastion with the convention centre located on the present Ocean Cement plant site.

Skywalks would cross Wharf from the new parkade to the convention centre-hotel sites and from Bastion to a small park-like area north of the proposed hotel.

◆

"It could be the biggest and most dramatic undertaking Victoria has made on the past 50 years or will make for the next 50 years," says Mr. Greenhalgh.

And said Mr. Savage in his convention centre report: "The waterfront site adjoining Wharf Street must be considered to be the prime location not only because of its intrinsic suitability for a convention centre, but also because of its wider impact in its ability to stimulate new development in the waterfront area."

Or maybe a 1965 report from the Panel on Water and Waterfronts said it better to President Johnson.

"We must reverse the historic tendency to use watercourses primarily for transportation and the carrying wastes, and plan for their protection and development to enhance human life and the quality of man's environment."

That, say city planners, is what they are talking about when they endorse urban renewal plan from Bastion Square to the Causeway.

22 KILLED, 200 HURT

Tornadoes Cause Havoc in Europe

LONDON (CP)—Tornadoes and violent thunderstorms roaring across northwestern Europe during the weekend killed at least 22 persons and injured nearly 200.

A tornado that smashed parts of a half dozen villages near Douai, France, left seven dead and about 40 injured. Six persons were killed and 17 injured when a tornado swept through parts of the Netherlands. Weathermen said it was the same tornado that struck the French villages.

One person was killed and about 100 others injured at Oostmalle, a small Belgian town near the Dutch border. A 12-year-old cyclist was killed near Gruges, Belgium, when hit by an uprooted tree.

Antwerp was flooded by torrential rains.

EXPLORERS DROWN

Torrential rains also fell on London. Five cave explorers drowned in an underground cave at Conistone when water rushed in from a stream swollen by torrents of rain.

Two other persons died in miscellaneous accidents connected with the storm throughout Europe.

Helicopters and boats rescued more than 500 yachtsmen off the southeast coast of Britain. Many houses were struck by lightning.

A Dutch passenger train was almost derailed when a farm building was scattered across the tracks by the storm. The engineer stopped the train in time.

Weathermen said the extreme conditions were traceable to the collision of a hot, dry mass of air with a damp air mass off the Atlantic.

NEWSPAPERMEN CHARGED IN S. AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—The editors of two of South Africa's leading anti - government newspapers were summoned to appear in court here this week on charges of publishing false information about prisons, a police spokesman announced today.

They are Laurence Gandar, editor - in - chief of the Rand Daily Mail, and Joe Mervis, editor of the Sunday Times, both strongly anti-government Johannesburg newspapers.

Also appearing with them on similar charges will be Benjamin Pogrund, a reporter of the Rand Daily Mail, and two other men, the spokesman said. The hearing was scheduled for Thursday.

The Rand Daily Mail and the Sunday Times published several articles on conditions in South African prisons in June and July, 1965. Those in the Rand Daily Mail were written by Pogrund.

Youth Admits Forging Cheque

A young man who bought a jacket with a cheque for $30.08 admitted the cheque was worthless and pleaded guilty to forgery when he appeared in central court Friday.

Gary Ellis, 20, of 1121 Pandora, blamed his drinking for the fact he had gone to Woolco and bought a jacket, subsequently stolen from him, with the cheque made out in the name of another member of his family for which no account existed.

He was remanded for one week for a pre-sentence report.

Protest Called Off

LYTTON (CP) — Two dozen women Saturday called off a planned protest march on the Kamloops home of Highways Minister Gaglardi. The march was to be in protest of unsafe river crossings for children going to schools across the Fraser River.

Medical Society Urges Third Hospital in Area

A third acute care hospital for the Victoria area is essential and planning must start immediately, according to the chairman of the Victoria Medical Society's hospital utilization committee.

But even a third hospital will not completely solve the problem.

Dr. John Hough said this morning projected population figures indicate the present bed shortage will get worse.

His committee has hired Toronto planning consultants Agnew Packnam and Associates to conduct a study of Victoria's hospital problem.

The report will be completed in five months and presented to the Intermunicipal Committee.

MAYOR AND REEVES

The committee consists of the mayor and local reeves. Mayor Hugh Stephen has said several times planning should start now for a third hospital.

According to Dr. Hough's committee, any new hospital must be connected with a system of "progressive patient care."

This would involve convalescent hospitals adjacent to the major acute care hospitals.

Patients would be moved from the acute to the convalescent hospitals as soon as possible, thus freeing the first hospital for emergency and major cases.

The new executive director of St. Joseph's Hospital praised the doctors for speaking out.

Dr. Embert Van Tilburg said, "I'm glad the doctors are getting more vocal. They know the problems and these are good recommendations."

Six Appointed To Positions In Brigade

Six Victoria men and women received appointments from St. John Ambulance Brigade at its annual church parade at St. Matthias Anglican Church Sunday.

Dr. Roy A. Sutherland was appointed corps surgeon; Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, provincial staff officer; Mrs. S. W. Bridges, RN, corps nursing officer; Dr. Andrew F. Ross and Dr. Patricia K. Johnston, divisional surgeons; Mrs. C. W. Rife, cadet nursing officer.

Mrs. W. F. Humble was awarded the president's pin.

The following certificates were awarded:

30th examination in senior first aid, Edward O. Thomas, provincial staff officer; 20th examination, senior home nursing, Mrs. P. McDonald; 10th examination, first aid, Mrs. K. Shaw, Mrs. M. E. H. Wylie; 10th examination, home nursing, Mrs. D. M. MacKay, Mrs. K. Shaw.

The awards were presented by Provincial Commissioner J. D. Taggart, QC.

The church service was conducted by Canon Jack Rogers and Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra.

Compost Study Will Be Urged By Reader

Methods of composting garbage and sewage should be investigated, says William Reader, Colwood representative on the Greater Victoria Regional Board.

Mr. Reader will urge a survey of methods when he attends the annual meeting Wednesday of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Society.

The survey should be made before the implementation of the sewerage study for the region which involves construction and extension of outfalls, he said.

The society's meeting will be held in the Craigflower school starting at 8 p.m.

Funeral Service At Cathedral For Noted Woman

Representatives of the YWCA, YMCA, the Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and various city churches will attend funeral services in Christ Church Cathedral Tuesday at 10 a.m. for Miss Kathleen Agnew, one of Victoria's most noted philanthropists.

Miss Agnew died early Saturday at her home at 1013 Vancouver Street.

Very Rev. Brian Whitlow, DD, dean of the cathedral, will conduct the service, which will be followed by interment at Ross Bay Cemetery, with Hayward's in charge.

Here to attend the funeral are Miss Agnew's nephew, Augustus Agnew, from Samoa, Calif., and her niece, Mrs. Philip E. Moore, from Bellevue, Washington.

Miss Agnew was a life member of many associations and gave her home, Schumann, on Rockland Avenue, to the Anglican Church for use as a home for aged women.

HOME GARDEN

Now Good Time to Cut Roses

By HILDA BEASTALL

As roses bloom, the home gardener would often like more plants of one particular variety.

Even a small garden is improved by having groups of a kind. It prevents the feeling of restlessness, adding continuity from one part of the garden to another and quantities of bloom at a given time.

Hilda

Roses will grow well on their own roots, though for a year or two a half-dozen plants may be a little uneven in growth. This is one reason the commercial raiser buds his named roses to briar rootstocks; it gives him plants of an equal size for sale.

From the middle of June is a good time for taking cuttings of roses to provide plants on their own roots. The home gardener should take 10 or 12 cuttings if a half-dozen plants are wanted. The best six can be selected and the rest discarded.

Mix equal amounts of thoroughly dampened fine peat moss and fine cutting sand, sufficient to fill a four-inch clay pot. Firm the mixture with the bottom of another pot.

For cuttings, select the young growths which have borne a flower this June. Remove the faded flower and make a clean cut just below a leaf node, to leave a cutting four to five inches in length.

Remove the two lower pairs of leaves and insert the cutting into the mixture to cover the node where the top pair was removed. A rooting hormone powder can be used although some varieties root readily without its aid.

Do not allow the cuttings to wilt, or dry at the cut end before inserting into the mixture.

If no propagating case is available, after watering place the pot in a polythene bag and gather the top into a rubber band. Keep in a warm place but not in full sun.

After a few days, check to see that enough moisture is in the pot. The cuttings will likely root in about three weeks when they can be potted separately, then grown as hardy as possible outdoors until they go into a nursery bed during September.

Air War Returns Diminish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U.S. officials are beginning to think the air war against North Vietnam is yielding diminishing gains while toughened ground defences are raising the price in U.S. planes.

Certain of them believe it might be a good idea to limit the bombing to the supply routes running south through the narrow neck of North Vietnam and to cut down strikes against heavily defended industrial targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

But other authorities argue that to do so would result in swelling the volume of supplies and equipment to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Those holding this general view say the Communists have been emplacing many more anti - aircraft guns in the 150-mile - long North Vietnamese panhandle, and that concentrating attacks there would not likely reduce the toll of U.S. planes.

Moreover, they contend that the movement of material should be interdicted not only at the lower end of the funnel but at the top where it enters the infiltration pipeline.

A total of 589 U.S. warplanes have been lost over North Vietnam, 139 of them since the first of the year.

GROUND FIRE POTENT

The vast majority of the losses have been to anti - aircraft guns fired by increasingly skillful North Vietnamese gunners.

The lowest estimate shows some 8,000 anti - aircraft guns throughout North Vietnam, an increase of about a thousand since early spring.

Now there are not many major targets left untouched. Yet the North Vietnamese continue to push their war effort in South Vietnam without any apparent letup.

Africans Get Posts

LUSAKA (Reuters) — Zambia's two major groups of mining firms have accepted a program to give Zambians more of the key jobs now held by white Europeans. A government statement said the program provided for 45 Zambian mine captains and 452 shift bosses by 1971.

New Colleges To Be Free In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberals joined the Union Nationale government last week to give final reading to a bill establishing free public colleges at the pre-university level.

The bill receved third reading by a vote of 74 to 1.

The pre - university colleges fill a gap in the public education system between secondary schools and universities.

Traditional route to university from a French - language secondary school has been a private classical college run by the Roman Catholic Church.

The government expects to have seven colleges open for about 10,000 students this fall. A network of more than 35 colleges with a variety of technical and academic education is envisaged. Graduates would be qualified to enter universities.

Admission will be free. The legislation follows recommendations of Quebec's royal commission on education which found existing educational institutions at the post-secondary level to be confused. At least seven separate systems are involved.

CBS Evidence Supports Warren Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The news department of the Columbia Broadcasting System said Sunday it turned up three additional pieces of evidence to strengthen the conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald assassinated President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

CBS said its own investigation supports the "basic finding" of the Warren commission, which conducted the official probe into the Dallas assassination, and "significantly" weakens "a central contention of the critics"—that Oswald would not have had enough time to fire three shots.

CBS aired its findings in an hour-long show moderated by Walter Cronkite Sunday night, the first of a four-part series on its investigation.

The news department said it concluded:

1. That a Mannlicher-Carcano rifle can be fired at least as accurately and rapidly—as the commission believed.

2. "That the first shot was fired from Dallas' Texas School Book Depository Building sooner than the Warren commission said.

3. "That the amateur film taken by Abraham Zapruder was quite possibly running slower than the commission thought.

4. "That the shot that Governor Connally of Texas insists he heard missed its mark."

To support its conclusions, the network offered what it said were three additions to material contained in the 26 volumes of testimony obtained by the Warren commission on the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

BRIDGE RESULTS

Winners in the weekly duplicate bridge game conducted Saturday by the Victoria unit of the American Contract Bridge League were:

Marjorie Fortye and Will Browne-Cave; Florence Curran and H. E. Robertson; Margaret and Jack McAvoy; Freda Small and Dorothy McConnell; Dorothy and Steve Jennings.

Texas Boy Dies of Leukemia After Reported 'Cure'

DALLAS (AP) — Frankie Hayes Jr., 9, died in hospital here Sunday of leukemia, the blood disease he was reported several weeks ago to have beaten.

The boy, who was reported holding his own only last week, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes Sr.

He succumbed at 3:15 p.m. after his condition worsened Friday, attendants at the hospital said.

Two months ago, the boy was reported to have undergone complete remission of leukemia, the dread cancer of the blood. His treatment at Wadley Research Institute here had been with the drug L-asparaginase.

Dr. Joseph Hill, director of the institute, was reprimanded by the Dallas County Medical Society for prematurely announcing that young Hayes possibly had been cured.

The announcement of the reported cure actually came from Texarkana, Tex., from J. K. Wadley for whom the Wadley Research Institute was named.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Oswald: "The almost universal use of the 4-3-2-1 point count means that many hands will be bid just the same way by a couple of students who have taken just one or two lessons as by the greatest two players in the world."

Opening lead—♠ 10

Jim: "South has a standard 16 point no-trump. Expert North will count his 22 points; shake his head a couple of times and then bid the grand slam. Beginner North may miscount, otherwise he will get to 22 also, add that to 16 to produce 38 and also bid the grand slam, because he would have learned that 37 is the magic number for a grand slam."

Oswald: "Expert South will look over the dummy and see that there are only 12 top tricks and that he will have to do something about the queen of clubs if he wants to make his grand slam. Then expert South will proceed to run off four hearts, four diamonds and two spades in order to get some idea of where the queen of clubs will be found. He will be able to discard one club from each hand in the process."

Jim: "At this point all expert South's worries will be over. He will have seen West show out on the second lead of each red suit and can count East for 10 red cards. When East follows to the second spade he will have counted 12 of his cards. He will know that East cannot have more than one club so he will cash his king of clubs and finesse against West's queen for the 13th trick."

Oswald: "This hand experts would call a laydown because when they get around to the crucial play they have transformed a probability into a certainty."

Jim: "Beginner South might go down. Maybe his two lessons did not include one on finessing. Thus he would wind up by playing the ace and king of clubs and be forced to concede the last trick."

Oswald: "Some average players would lose the hand also. They would not bother to count the East-West distribution and would wind up misguessing the club situation."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The Emmy Award system is going to be revamped, maybe not from stem to dudgeon as it deserves, but changed to help satisfy some of those who work in certain categories of the television industry.

Stephen

The move followed a complaint from composers and musicians who received not one award on June 4.

Twenty nine of them, including Leith Stevens, Wilbur Hatch, Nelson Riddle and Lyn Murray, all familiar names on the credit crawl, bought a full page ad in Variety to say so.

Their complaint was "to publish the nominations of distinguished members of the music profession and then project the opinion that in the eyes of selected 'Blue Ribbon Panels' none of the nominees was worthy appears to be a deliberate attempt to disparage the contribution of music in television."

The ad continued "when other arts and crafts can receive legitimate recognition for their members, and music cannot, then there is something unhealthy about the award system. As inadequate as this system has been in the past, this year's omission of an award in the field of music was a disgrace."

"We cannot see any further reason to support the Academy."

Before you could say "don't throw that paper onto the lawn and put it into the mail box where it belongs," the Academy moved.

It stated a new Emmy awards structure will be set up to ensure, among other things, that each category to receive nominations will have an award winner.

This statement thus promises a complete study of the award system and revisions wherever necessary, which is every year from the looks of things.

TIDBITS — "Seaway," the Canadian produced series shot on the St. Lawrence Seaway, will be seen again on CBC-TV, on an irregular schedule, during the summer months . . . Wojeck repeats start on July 4 with the award-winning "The Last Man in the World." The show will see eight glimpses of ether this summer.

FEEL LIKE A SWEEPSTAKE WINNER!
Some friends of mine have picked out a country home they want and have asked me to sell the lovely home they bought new from me two years ago. In the two years they have lavished it with additions, decorating, tasteful decor and landscaping. I really feel the first viewer will be the lucky buyer. It is a 3-bedroom, full-basement home of about 1,200 sq. ft. and as clean and lovely as a Centennial Dollar. Among some of the things they have added are lifetime wallpaper, feature walls where they are most effective, an enclosed attached garage, extra efficient insulation, a double sink, a fully landscaped lot and much more. Best of all, they want this country property and have actually priced their city home at a real loss.

Aspirin Can Prove Best Drug

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Dr. John L. Decker of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases wrote recently that since rheumatoid arthritis is usually a long-lasting disease, dangerous drugs should be avoided as far as possible; and when they are given, they should be given perhaps for four days a week. On the other three days, another drug such as aspirin can be given. Dr. Decker thinks that aspirin is still the most useful drug available for the arthritis. Many physicians think it has some tendency to reduce inflammation and fever, as well as the pain. For a while it was fashionable to give huge doses of the drug, but then this practice was largely given up.

Alvarez

As Dr. Decker goes on to say, many doctors give cortisone or cortisone-like drugs, also gold compounds and phenylbutazone but all of these drugs can have serious "side effects," and hence they must be given with care and with close supervision. I myself wouldn't think of taking certain powerful drugs unless under the guidance of a man who is well trained in giving them.

Recently, an able physician remarked that today those drugs which, while often very helpful can also do much harm should be given by a physician experienced in their actions. For instance, if I had a patient with a great big high blood pressure, I would not treat him with the new powerful blood-pressure lowering drugs; I would send him to a specialist who would put him in a hospital where he could be watched closely by people who have been well trained.

* * *

Similarly, if I had a patient suffering from an inopreable cancer, and I wanted to use one of the new powerful drugs that can slow the growth of a tumor, I would not give it. I would send the man to a physician accustomed to giving it, and skilled in watching for the first signs of harm that it could do perhaps to the person's blood-forming organs.

I suspect that many people still do not know that cortisone and cortisone-like drugs usually do not cure rheumatoid arthritis; they only make life more bearable for many a person who has the disease. It is to be hoped that in the next few years, a drug will be found which is really curative.

Gout, which is a form of arthritis, has raised cain with many a man famous in history. Fortunately, now it can usually be well controlled by at least two drugs which keep the quantity of uric acid in the blood down within normal limits. Again, the disease is not cured, but it is kept under control.

* * *

Many of these diseases are due to what a great English physician once called "inborn errors of metabolism," by which he meant a hereditary defect a certain item in body chemistry. In all such diseases, the person is born lacking a gene — which is a tiny microscopic particle in his cells which enables him to handle some particular chemical, and use it comfortably. If he lacks the gene that makes a chemical that gets uric acid out of his body, he has the gout; or lacking the gene that would enable him to make vitamin B12, all his life he must be guarded from succumbing to pernicious anemia.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Geraldine Monahan, age 11, of Flushing, New York, for her question:

Do any of the bugs have bones?

The insects far outnumber all the other animals on the earth. More than a quarter of a million assorted beetles already have been classified in one order alone. In the animal class "Insecta," there are some 25 different orders, each teeming with members and waiting for more species to swell their ranks. Most entomologists estimate that there are at least a million different insects, most of them still unclassified. And to qualify for membership in the class Insecta, a creature must have certain very definite features.

For one thing, he must have no internal skeleton. Among all the teeming bugs and beetles, there is not one with a single bone in his body. He has, however, a generous supply of very special joints. In the human body, joints are the hinges that link the movable bones of the skeleton. You may wonder how joints can be possible without bones. They can, and every bug can prove that such joints work very nicely, thank you.

Every insect has a simple heart and liquid blood, breathing equipment and an assortment of other necessary organs. These soft tissues are safely stowed away inside a tough skin. This protective coating may be crusty or leathery and it is called an "exoskeleton." A bug's small body is supported and held in shape by this external skeleton.

Movable Joints

However, an insect must move around to find food and go about his other daily affairs. His exoskeleton cannot be a solid, unmovable shell. It must be fitted with movable joints. And so it is. If you examine any insect with a magnifying glass, you will find a large number of jointed angles in his six legs and feet. There may be more joints in his antennai and if he has wings, they will be attached to his shoulders by more hinged joints.

All these joints are small bands and belts of pliable material set in the tough sections of the exoskeleton. Miniature muscles are attached to the inside of the exoskeleton and they move the pliable joints, much as our muscles move the hinged joints of our internal skeletons. The number of animals with external skeletons and insect-type joints is enormous. All of them are classified in the animal phylum "Arthropoda." This scientific term 's coined from older words meaning "joint" and "foot." All the teeming bugs are arthropods. So are the crabs and the lobsters, the spiders and the scorpions, the millepedes and the centipedes and many other animals.

Insects manage to survive very successfully, as we discover when we try to oust them. They have been using a thousand clever devices to survive successfully through the past 200 million years. However, as animals go, they are never really large. A rigid exoskeleton cannot support a large mass of internal organs, no matter how many special joints it has. A large body must be supported by a sturdy, movable internal skeleton. The bugs must remain small because their bitsy bodies are boneless.

* * *

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to George Zab, age 9, of Cleveland, Ohio, for his question:

Who invented the helicopter?

Some ideas are so old that no one knows when they were born or who started them. Some inventions were made so long ago that no one knows who made them. No one can name the genius who invented the wheel or say when he lived. The first helicopter to carry a human passenger went aloft in 1907, 60 years ago. It was made and flown by a French mechanic named Paul Cornu. Later in the same year, another helicopter was taken aloft by a French inventor named Louis Breguet.

But neither of the men invented the first helicopter. This idea began ages ago in China when toy whirlybirds were made to fly with the kites. Leonardo da Vinci was a famous Italian painter of 500 years ago. He liked to invent things as a hobby. He invented a helicopter type of flying machine and made a sketch for a model of it. But it was never made and it never flew. In the 1800s, several Englishmen made toy helicopters fitted with steam engines and later Thomas Edison fitted a model with electric power. Lots of people helped, but no one person invented the whirlybird.

THERE ARE two ways of chopping wood — the hard way . . . and the easy way. Faller Nels Olsen plumped for the easy way at Lake Cowichan Centennial logger sports Saturday. At least it looked easy as he zipped through his log in double-quick time with a power saw. Hardest part of the operation was keeping his balance astride the inclined log. Working harder for their prize were these huskies (above) who used the traditional axe to slice through the blocks. Two nearest the camera, Tony Dickinson and Pete Esau, won the contest, helping to put Western Forest Industries, Honeymoon Bay, in the running for aggregate points trophy. (Don Dingwall photos.)

In the aggregate points contest between the logging camps of the district the winner was Western Forest Industries, Honeymoon Bay, with 180 points.

Runner-up was Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mesachie Lake, with 140, followed by Crown Zellerbach, Nitinat, 110, and B.C. Forest Products, Caycuse, 50.

CHILD DROWNS

CAMPBELL RIVER — A four-year-old boy drowned Saturday night after falling off his father's fishboat.

Edward George Wilson was swept away by the swift flowing tide before his father could grab him.

The mishap occurred at 10 p.m. near Church House Indian reserve, 30 miles northeast of here on the mainland.

The youngster and his family lived at the reserve.

A police boat and other boats from the reserve failed to find any trace of Edward during a day-long search Sunday.

'ENVY OF ISLAND'

Picnic, Camping Area Planned for New Park

LADYSMITH — Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Saturday Ladysmith's centennial project will be the envy of the Island.

He was in town to open officially the 18-acre Transfer Beach Park.

The land cost the town $60,000, and the new changing rooms $14,600.

Mayor Kay Grouhel said future plans for the park include landscaping with picnic areas and camping grounds, and importing sand for the stony beach.

She paid tribute to the job of site clearance done for the town by the students of Nanaimo Vocational School.

Among the guests was Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo.

He recalled living in Ladysmith in 1903 when the new park site was a soccer pitch. He hoped the new park will be as popular with the people of the town.

Robert Strachan, Cowichan-Malahat MLA, said 100 years ago Canada was one big park.

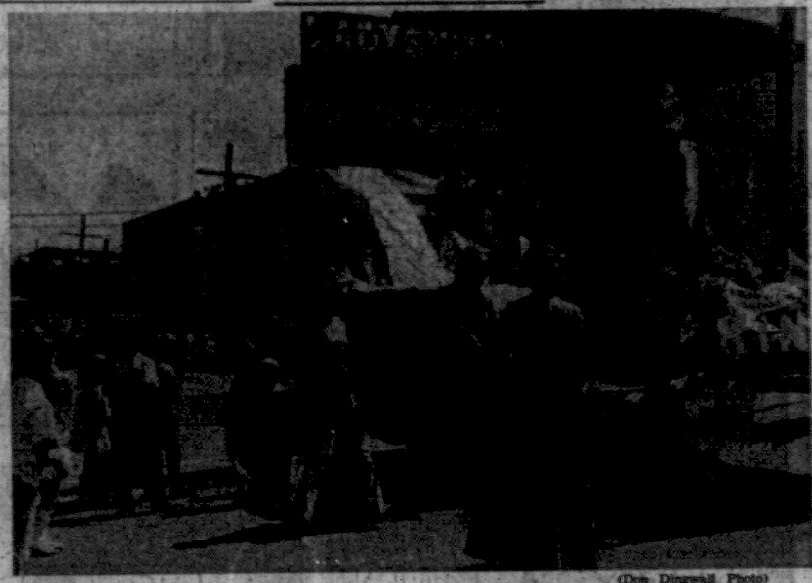
QUICK GROWTH

The fact communities like Ladysmith are having to set aside park areas is an indication of the country's quick growth.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Reg Pringle, chairman of the town's recreation commission.

Guests included centennial queen Kathryn Carey and her princesses, Shirley Johnston and Carole Gresmak, and senior queen, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Wright.

The day's activities included an hour-and-a-half-long parade.



(Don Dingwall Photo)

COLORFUL DAYS of mining in the Ladysmith district were recalled by this Kinsmen Club float in the noon. The parade was part of the Centennial parade Saturday aftertown's celebrations in connection with the opening of the new Transfer Beach Centennial Park. The parade took an hour and a half to pass the reviewing stand.

SCHOOL TAX DEBATED

Victoria Fails in Move To End 'Immoral' System

A move to end use of property tax for school purposes was defeated Saturday by Vancouver Island school trustees.

The motion came up at a meeting of the Island branch of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association in the Greater Victoria school board offices this weekend.

Greater Victoria trustees made the motion, stating provincial income tax would be a fairer way to raise money for schools.

Victoria trustee Dr. Carron Jameson called the present system "immoral."

"People are now asked to pay for schools through taxes based on property, a factor which has no bearing on their interest in education.

"The system is used because it's handy and traditional," he said.

Both the president and vice-president of the BCSTA opposed the motion.

Frank Beinder of Trail and James Campbell of Saturna Island said education can advance successfully only if citizens have an opportunity from time to time to make their views known.

END OF TRUSTEES

Campbell River trustee Bruce Saunders said the motion would jeopardize local autonomy by transferring more control to the provincial government.

"It would mean the end of trustees," he said.

The motion was defeated 17-7.

Victoria trustees intend to try again.

They will take the motion to the provincial meeting of the trustees' association in Vancouver this fall.

50 PLANES HELP OPEN NEW AIRPORT

DUNCAN — Fifty planes flew in to Duncan airport Sunday to take part in official opening ceremonies.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan declared the new airport open and congratulated Duncan Jaycees on sponsoring the project.

Claude Butler, Victoria businessman who gave a 20-year lease of the site to Cowichan Airport Society, assured members the lease will be indefinite.

Several hundred spectators were treated to a display of stunt flying during the afternoon and professional sky diving by Roy Foley, Victoria.

United Minister Wins New Trial

OTTAWA (CP)—Warning against the validity of unsupported evidence from accomplices, the Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Russell Horsburgh, a former United Church minister, on five charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

HORSBURGH
. . . jailed 107 days

In a 4 to 3 decision, the court said the original trial judge erred in treating as independent witnesses a group of boys and girls who swore in 1964 that the Chatham, Ont., clergyman encouraged them to have sexual intercourse in a church apartment.

Mr. Justice Ronald Martland, writing the main majority judgment, said the youngsters, who were 14 and 15 years old at the time, should have been treated as accomplices in the offences alleged.

As accomplices, their evidence would have required corroboration in order to be acceptable.

GAVE KEY EVIDENCE

Five girls and three boys were the main witnesses against Horsburgh, who resigned from the United Church ministry in June of 1965 after the Ontario Supreme Court rejected his appeal.

They testified about a series of incidents at the Park Street United Church in Chatham between July of 1963 and June of 1964. The theme of their evidence was that Horsburgh on numerous occasions persuaded them to use the vacant apartment for sexual activity.

A year later one of the youngsters, and another witness who was 19, made out affidavits stating that their trial evidence was false and was part of a conspiracy designed to ruin Horsburgh while taking the blame away from them.

Horsburgh heard the high court's decision today at the Kent County jail in Chatham where he surrendered himself Sunday night.

Mr. Horsburgh, who had been free on bail until 6 p.m. Sunday, has spent 107 days of his one-year sentence in jail.

DESPITE FRIENDLY SUMMIT SESSIONS

Kosygin's Hard Stand Jolts Pact Hope

By WILLIAM R. FRYE
Times UN Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The official public report by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on his Glassboro, N.J., talks with President Johnson is:

- Little if any progress on the Mideast or Vietnam.
- "Significant forward movement" on a treaty to ban the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Kosygin gave his report here Sunday at a televised UN news conference.

If Israel does not withdraw from territories conquered in the Mideast war, the Soviet Union wants the UN security council to impose "sanctions" on her, Kosygin said.

If, on the other hand, Israel does pull out, there then can be negotiations on a wide range of subjects, including limitations on arms shipments to the area, he declared.

He acknowledged that on this order of priorities, he and the president "did not reach agreement." Johnson, he said, wants to "consider the entire complex of questions" as a single package.

Kosygin was careful to protray his position as one of continuing solidarity with the Arab states. Observers said he obviously was trying to ease Arab fears of a possible Soviet-American accord behind their backs.

On Vietnam, Kosygin similarly sought to reassure North Vietnam he remained tough.

Indeed, he went a step further than the Kremlin has done in other recent pronouncements, demanding not merely a halt in the bombing of the north but also a withdrawal of all troops aiding South Vietnam.

There are "profound differences" between President Johnson and himself on the subject, he observed. "We discussed Vietnam for quite some time, but no decisions were reached."

The news conference served to dispel some of the atmosphere of bonhomie which had been generated at Glassboro by smiles, handshakes and talk of saving the peace for grandchildren.

However, it was recognized that any progress which may have been made by the two heads of state would not necessarily have been reflected in a public statement by Kosygin, who has Peking, Hanoi and a dozen Arab capitals looking over his shoulder.

Moreover, neither Soviet nor American policy is made on the spur of the moment at a face-to-face meeting of two individuals, however high-ranking. It goes through a long and torturous process in which "hawks" and "doves" pull in opposite directions, and many divergent influences are brought to bear.

Hopeful signs discerned amongst Kosygin's more negative remarks included:

- That Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will continue discussing the Mideast, seeking agreement.
- That similar efforts will continue for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty.
- That, while disagreeing with Washington on when and under what conditions an overall Mideast settlement should be attempted, Moscow nevertheless does agree that it is desirable to make the effort.

No Arab state has said this much in public.

Balancing these glimmers of hope were other, much more sombre, comments.

Asked whether as a result of his talks with Johnson he expected steps could or would be taken to end the Vietnam war, Kosygin replied: "I wouldn't say that."

In order for Soviet-American relations to show improvement, or for President Johnson to have a cordial welcome on a return visit to the Soviet Union, the United States would first have to "end" its "aggression" in Vietnam, he said.

He indicated, without saying so, that little or no progress had been made toward an agreement to curb the installation of expensive anti-ballistic missile systems in the two countries.

In an interesting aside, he remarked that he opposed nuclear-weapon tests by all countries. He was answering a question about Red China's H-bomb test, but ovservers noted that France is also preparing at least one weapons test in the Pacific.

Differences Remain Between Soviet, U.S.

'Summit Back Stab' —Albania

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Albania, an ally of Red China, charged today that Russia called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its treachery against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with U.S. President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world".

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana, Cuba.

Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-country assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He said the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson.

King Hussein of Jordan addressed the General Assembly this afternoon and accused UN members of observing a double standard on Arab and Israeli problems.

Hussein said there would have been demands for an immediate withdrawal from the big powers if the Arabs were occupying Tel Aviv today.

Nasi called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that the Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

FAILED ARABS

The Russians, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to co-ordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet revisionists he said:

"We repulse your friendship.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to fighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premediated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

RESPONDING TO CHEERS in Glassboro, N.J., Sunday, are Soviet Premier Kosygin and President Johnson, who emerge after summit talks. The world leaders wave to crowd in response to friendly chant.

Kosygin Flies To Cuba

GLASSBORO, N.J. (CP)—The United States and the Soviet Union concluded a two-session summit conference Sunday without resolving their differences over major world issues.

U.S. President Lyndon Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexel Kosygin expressed fervent hopes for peace af the THE TH Kosygin expressed fervent hopes for peace after nearly 10 hours of talks Friday and Sunday.

Then they left to deliver statements showing deep differences remain on the major issues of the Vietnamese war, the Middle East's continuing crisis or halting a costly competition in building rocket defences against nuclear - bearing missiles.

Today Kosygin left the United States by plane for Cuba.

The two leaders continued Sunday their first personal exposure to each other and the first Soviet-U.S. summit since 1961.

But this second round of talks delved directly into the war in Vietnam, Soviet backing for the defeated Arab states at the hands of Israel and other issues.

Kosygin via a nationally-televised press conference from New York, and Johnson in a more optimistic statement a half-hour earlier from Washington, showed how far apart the two nations remain on the main points.

NO PACT IN SIGHT

Johnson said he feels the world is a "little less dangerous" as a result of the talks. But "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis and . . . our well-known differences over Vietnam continue."

Kosygin — a soberer, more dour figure at New York than had been on display here—gave his TV audience the Soviet line as it has stood.

Both sides felt it "useful" to compare positions, he said.

But Israel is the aggressor in the Middle East and Israel must be censured, with damages to be paid for its aggression, he said.

The key point was that Israel must retire behind its original territorial limits.

"Profound differences" existed on Vietnam between the two countries. The U.S. must halt the bombing of North Vietnam and withdraw its troops from the South to bring about peace.

The president acknowledged that "agreement on Vietnam is smaller than on issues such as

'PEOPLE WON'T ASK WHERE IT IS ANY MORE'

Glassboro Still Blinking From Glare of Spotlights

GLASSBORO, N.J. (UPI) — This sleepy college town in the heart of the South Jersey farmland was struggling back to normalcy today, but things never again will be quite the same.

"Hollybush," for 10 hours the meeting place of the two world leaders, is once more just the home of the president of Glassboro State College.

But the 118-year-old brown fieldstone mansion may someday become a national historic shrine.

The town itself is ready to once again pick up its role of a quiet college community.

But, as 16-year-old Barbara Marshall put it: "People won't ask where Glassboro is any more."

A giant cleanup effort was launched at dawn today to remove tons of paper cups, soda bottles and assorted trash left by the 3,000 spectators who crowded around "Hollybush" Sunday for a glimpse of President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Within minutes after the two world leaders exchanged farewells, the campus was virtually deserted.

Seven state troopers were stationed in "Hollybush" during the night to guard against souvenir hunters, and workmen today began converting the mansion back into a home for college president and Mrs. Thomas E. Robinson.

The Robinsons, who have been living in a men's dormitory while Johnson and Kosygin made history in their home, voiced hopes some of the modern conveniences installed for the summit would be left behind.

The White House installed 17 new air conditioners in the old mansion and also put in a complete kitchen with all the latest conveniences.

Most of the air conditioners were coming out, but a spokesman said several would probably be left behind for the Robinsons.

Workmen were also busily taking down hundreds of feet of wooden snow fence erected Saturday after the secret service decided to tighten security arrangements for Sunday's session.

Though their flowers were trampled and their lawns used as shortcuts, the people of Glassboro were on the whole mighty pleased to have been able to host the two leaders.

"I don't think we'll ever forget it," said Mrs. Bonnie D'Amico. "I hope some good will come out of this meeting, and I believe it has."

JORDAN CLOSES ESCAPE ROUTE

AMMAN (UPI)—Jordan today closed the Allenby Bridge across the River Jordan and refused to accept any more refugees from Israeli-occupied territory.

Panic-stricken refugees have been pouring across the war-damaged bridge at the rate of 1,000 per day since the Arab-Israeli war ended two weeks ago, presenting Jordan with a chronic refugee problem.

Israelis have been openly encouraging inhabitants of the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River to flee to the east bank, still held by Jordan.

Appeals by King Hussein and other Jordanian officials to west bank citizens to stay in their homes have fallen on deaf ears.

CONVENTION PROGRAM GIVES THE CLUE

Tory Tip-Off That Dief Will Retire

By JOHN MIKA

John Diefenbaker has let the leadership convention planning committee know he will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

That was a leading interpretation at a Progressive Conservative picnic here Saturday after word spread the committee unanimously had scheduled Mr. Diefenbaker as one of the three main speakers on the convention's opening day.

Gene Rheaume, executive secretary of the committee which held a major planning session in Victoria over the weekend, denied the group had received any word from Mr. Diefenbaker.

"We have just decided to invite Mr. Diefenbaker to speak to the party as its leader," Mr. Rheaume said.

But both grass roots supporters and some of the party "brass" at the picnic said the decision was a symbolic double-edged sword indicating Mr. Diefenbaker has decided to cut out.

They reasoned that the committee had to know Mr. Diefenbaker's intentions before making such a decision 2½ months before the Sept. 7-9 leadership meeting in Toronto because:

1. If he ran, then it would be loading the dice to allow him to speak to the delegates once as leader on opening day and a second time as one of the candidates the next day.

2. If he didn't run, it would be a travesty to have failed to put on the list of speakers one of the party's greatest leaders at what is expected to be the party's biggest convention.

So the betting inside the party now is that a little bird told the planners that when Mr. Diefenbaker rises to address the 7,000 delegates, alternates, wives and observers in Maple Leaf Gardens, it will be to deliver his swan song.

An informed source fortified the theory Saturday when he revealed that "50 members of the caucus got together to ask Donald Fleming to be a candidate. None asked Mr. Diefenbaker and I think that's what finally made up his mind."

Dalton Camp, national party president and the man who engineered the leadership

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures and soybeans prices were lower on the Chicago Board of Trade in light trade.

Sellers of futures were more aggressive than buyers and dominated the activity.

There was some scattered buying activity of wheat futures on the opening but liquidation entered the pit and prices fell up to two cents at one time. There followed a slight firming up in prices.

Oats and rye trade was light and both were lower.

WINNIPEG (CP — Grain prices showed considerable irregularity in light trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Flax and rapeseed prices eased off in response to hedging sales. Export interest appeared quiet. A factor in the flax market was the failure of a predicted frost to develop over the weekend.

Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Buyers showed a definite lack of interest. Rye prices were lower, reflecting declines in the Chicago rye market.

U.K. Firm 'Gutted:' Official

LONDON (CP) — A large portion of H.S. Whiteside and Co. Ltd., a major British food manufacturing firm that imports substantial quantities of Canadian products, has been sold by the receiver on terms described by company chairman, T. A. Barnes, as "contemptuous and derisory."

Barnes said in a statement today that for the sum of £500,000 ($1,500,000) Rowntree and Co. Ltd., has been able to acquire the main Whiteside factory with an annual sales turnover of some £4,000,000 ($12,000,000).

"I must emphasize that no member of the board was told of this appalling deal until it had been done.

"The Whiteside firm has been gutted, left only with it confectionary factory, its fish canning factory and its mail order food supply company."

Established about 40 years ago and well-known in Canadian business circles, the Whiteside company imported such Canadian products as honey, maple products, pickles, a variety of Chinese foods and frozen fruit pies.

Two years ago the firm was placed under the supervision of a receiver and manager when descrepancies were found in valuation of inventories.

Municipal Group Backs Gas Link

VERNON (CP) — The Okanagan Valley Municipal Association has fully endorsed plans of the Inland Natural Gas Company to build an alternate line linking the Okanagan with Alberta gas supplies.

The line would also supply gas to Penticton, Peachland, Coldstream and other Okanagan points.

Mayor Lionel Mercier of Vernon woll attend a public utility commission hearing in Vancouver Friday to tell the commission of the association's position.

Pipeline Bids to Hike Shares Total

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. has asked Parliament to allow it to more than double its capitalization of common shares and increase its preferred shares by five times.

In a petition filed with the clerk of petitions by H. A. Olson (SC-Medicine Hat) and published Thursday the company asks for an amendment to its act of incorporation increasing its common shares to 25,000,000 shares at a par value of $1 each and its preferred shares to 5,000,000 at a par value of $50 each.

The private bill amending the act is expected to be processed though the Senate.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines was incorporated in 1951 with a capitalization of $5,000,000.

In 1954 the act was amended increasing the capitalization to $10,000,000 of common shares and 1,000,000 preferred shares at par value of $50 each.

On Tuesday the U.S. Federal Power Commission gave Trans-Canada the go-ahead to build a second line to Eastern Canada through the United States south of the Great Lakes.

The $212,000,000 project will include nearly 1,000 miles of line through the U.S. from the Manitoba border to southern Ontario near Sarnia.

MILL WORK BEGINS

'Japan Closer Than Ottawa'

CRANBROOK (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Saturday officially marked the beginning of construction on a $42,000,000 pulp mill at Skookumchuck, 33 miles north of here in the East Kootenays.

The mill, the 21st pulp mill to be constructed in the province, is a joint venture of two Japanese firms—Honshu Paper Manufacturing Co. Ltd., and Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha Ltd.—and the East Kootenay Crestbrook Forest Industries Ltd.

The mill is expected to be completed by November, 1968.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston said the new mill is the most courageous project ever launched in the pulp industry in B.C.

"The project could have gone ahead much sooner," he said, "except for the failure to obtain North American financing.

"Then the Japanese government made funds available to employ Canadian workers to produce a product for world wide use."

Premier Bennett told the gathering Japan is closer economically to B.C. than it is to Ottawa.

"On this platform we have the outstanding bankers and businessmen of Japan," the premier said. "There is nothing but a friendly Pacific link between us and Japan.

"This is the largest single investment by Japanese interests in this province," he said.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Blue Chips Ragged

THE NEW YORK market weakened late this afternoon as industrials took a loss although gains and losses remained about even on the over-all stock list. Trading was active.

Blue chips became ragged as Eastman Kodak dropped 2; General Electric, Union Carbide and Woolworth about a point each.

Meanwhile, IBM rose 8, American Smelting 2 and Southern Railway 1. It was a confused market as the international questions seemed to remain in abeyance while Wall Street turned its attention to an expected parade of second-quarter earnings, many of which will be lower in comparison with a year ago.

Among Canadians, Granby Mining gained 1⅝, Massey-Ferguson ½, International Nickel ⅝ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point, Dome Mines was down ¾ and Walker Gooderham ¼.

AT TORONTO the exchange continued an indecisive performance.

Share turnover remained light and by 2 p.m. 1,631,000 shares had changed hands compared with 1,414,000 at the same time Friday.

ITL Industries dropped 1 to 33½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅜ to 66⅛, Bell Telephone ½ to 48⅜ and Alcan ⅜ to 29. Oshawa A and Woodward A advanced 1 each to 41¾ and 31¼.

Western oils were the only major group to gain as Canadian Superior climbed 2½ to 46⅞. Dome slid 1 to 58 and Hudson's Bay ⅜ to 38⅜.

The exchange continued to withhold trading in shares of Scurry-Rainbow. Trading was suspended Thursday morning, pending a detailed release of the company's mining activities in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Base metals turned sharply lower as Denison retreated 2 to 76 and Roman Corp., whose chief asset is Denison shares, 1 to 20⅝.

AT MONTREAL the market was mixed to narrowly lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Abitibi and MacMillan-Bloedel each ⅛ weaker at 9½ and 28⅛, respectively.

Senior mines were fractionally easier. Denison slid 1½ points to 77 and Rio Algom ⅝ to 36¼. Two nickels—Falconbridge and International—each advanced ½ to 85½ and 106¾.

Shell slipped ½ to 29 and Imperial ¼ to 62¾ in the senior oil section.

Utilities were mixed. Interprovincial Pipe Line gained ½ to 24¼ while Bell Telephone dipped ⅝ to 48¼.

Industrials were stronger. Massey-Ferguson was up ½ to 21½ and Molson A and Weston A ⅛ each to 24 and 19⅞.

AT LONDON equity markets started the week on a firm note although business was not on a great scale.

Sentiment was helped by the Johnson-Kosygin talks. Tobaccos were a good section.

Gilts were quiet but price movements were somewhat irregular.

Dollar stocks were mixed despite a strong dollar premium. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas was in demand but other Canadians moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels. Inco recouped half of an initial one-point fall. Canadian banks improved.

Home banks were steady but insurances lacked interest. The international favorites often hardened a shade.

AT VANCOUVER Sun A rose .50 to a new high of $32 in pre-noon trading.

Woodward was also strong in the industrials and put on 75 cents to $31. PWA dipped .12 to $14.25.

The mining section was weak with Coronet off .15 to $1.35, Sileurian down .04 to .78 and Utica $2.82, and West Coast Resources, 92, each off .03.

In the oils, Plains Pete remained active and lost .03 to .82 on 145,000 shares.

Plant Talks In Critical Stage

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hay, president of British American Oil Co. Ltd., says he is not concerned about the way negotiations are progressing for a 60,000-barrel-a-day refinery the company is planning in the Port Hawkesbury area of Cape Breton Island.

Mr. Hay commented during the weekend on a report that negotiations between the company and the federal and Nova Scotia governments have reached a critical stage.

The company announced plans for the refinery last February, when it was estimated to cost $40,000,000. Construction was tentatively scheduled to begin late this year.

The company is said to be asking for federal aid exceeding a grant of $5,000,000. The amount of government financing, above the $5,000,000 available to the company under the federal Area Development Agency program, has been reported a stumbling block.

Because of the depressed economic state of the region and the need to find alternative employment for displaced coal miners, some federal ministers are said to be favorably inclined to giving B-A more financial assistance than would normally be available.

B-A officials have talked with several federal cabinet ministers including Energy Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Health Minister Allan MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet.

ALL EYES were riveted on the sky at Armed Forces Day Saturday as air force and navy squadrons staged one of the biggest air shows to date. Three Neptune bombers drone overhead as the planes on the ground are temporarily forgotten. In the foreground is a T-33 jet trainer, dwarfed by a Hercules transport, the largest olane owned by the Canadian forces.

Glamor Boys of the Air Bore in Hard To Win Hearts of 10,000 at Big Show

By TERRY IZZARD

The army and navy were there too.

But the air force stole the show at Armed Forces Day Saturday.

The fly-boys made sure all eyes were upturned as they treated a crowd of 10,000-plus to one of the biggest air shows yet.

And quite rightly since the show was being held at Patricia Bay airport instead of off Dallas Road as in past years.

Instead of having centre stage, the navy had to take back seat—making do with a well-patronized shuttle service to the nearby Pat Bay jetty where the destroyer-escort Mackenzie was holding open house.

However, the navy's VU-33 squadron made up for the lack of ships with several displays of its flying capabilities.

●

Under clear blue skies the airport gates opened to a steady stream of cars at noon.

In traditional style, the show opened to the blare of marching bands.

For two hours before the pilots took over, the crowds were kept interested in a variety of displays.

Firefighters demonstrated the art of quelling a blaze aboard ship and rescuing a victim from a blazing plane.

Queues formed throughout the day below a variety of aircraft which were open for inspection.

In the hangar, technical buffs were given an opportunity to inspect radar and meteorology equipment.

For the kiddies the army came through with flying colors.

Youngsters were treated to a ride aboard an armored personnel carrier. They were also given the opportunity to sit in the operating seat of mounted anti-aircraft guns.

For those who wanted to get off the ground there was a model Sopwith Camel running regular flights to the top of a nearby pole.

●

But everything took second place to the real thing when the two hour air show finally got under way.

Spectators crowded to the edge of the field as fighter planes, trackers and helicopters were put through their paces.

Most spectacular of the events was a rescue operation by the twin-rotor Labrador helicopter from Comox.

Crowds thrilled to the sight of two crew members being lowered by rope to the ground, followed by an actual pick-up of a stretcher case.

In addition to the rescue operation, the large helicopter demonstrated its manoeuvrability.

For a change of pace, the army showed off its single-engine Cessna spotter plane.

As a change from high speed jet flyovers, the army pilot gave a demonstration of low speed stalls and turns.

While being kept busy watching all this, the crowd unconsciously munched its way through Hundreds of pounds of hot dogs and many gallons of pop and coffee.

Said an armed forces spokesman: "It was one of the most successful Armed Forces Days yet held."

PILOTS FELT BETTER after this little show by armed forces firefighters. The asbestos-clad men doused 50-foot flames from a mock aeroplane in only 10 seconds. Firefighting display was one of several witnessed by crowd of more than 10,000 at Armed Forces Day. (Robin Clarke photos.)

DESPITE HOW IT FELT

City Not Hot . . . Officially

High temperatures were broken in six B.C. centres Sunday but officially Victoria was not one of them.

Vancouver's Sunday high of 80 broke the previous record for June 25 set in 1961 with 74 degrees.

Many Victoria people felt that Sunday was the hottest day so far this year but official temperatures taken at the high-level Gonzales weather station, always subject to any cooling sea breezes, registered only 63 on Sunday and 68 on Saturday.

The city weather pattern has now changed, said meteorologist Allan McQuarrie. Disturbances are moving in from the west and a little rain can be expected Tuesday.

However, an improvement can be expected in midweek, he said.

Sunday Kamloops registered a temperature of 91, the highest in Canada.

Record highs of 83 were reported in Abbotsford and Nanaimo. In the northeast, Fort St. John had a temperature of 84, and in Fort Nelson, 87 was the record high.

Youth Injured In Boat Mishap At Salt Spring

A 13-year-old boy is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria after a mishap with his father's boat on Sunday.

Richard Harrison, of Cowichan Station, escaped death by inches as the high-powered boat skimmed by him off the northwest coast of Salt Spring Island.

FOOT CUT

He was plucked from the water with a badly cut foot.

The mishap was witnessed by several persons from the shore.

Said one witness, Duncan lawyer Donald MacDonald: "The boat had been tied up at the dock on shore. The father appeared to say something to the boy as he untied the mooring rope.

When the boat started off the boy appeared to be clinging to the bow.

"Suddenly the boat swerved and the youngster was thrown into the water. As it completed its turn the boat slewed and the boy disappeared under the stern.

"I thought it must have hit him on the head.

"Then he appeared. The boat turned round and picked him up."

POLICE PROBE

Richard was rushed to Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and later transferred to Victoria.

Police at Ganges said they are investigating the mishap which happened around 7:45 p.m.

The boat was described as a 22-foot power cruiser.

Guard Saves Life Of Seven-Year-Old

The alertness of a 17-year-old girl life guard saved a little girl from drowning in Elk Lake Sunday afternoon.

Rhonda Cunningham, seven, of 870 Darwin, was floating face down and unconscious in about three feet of water when she was spotted by guard Judy Soper.

"She was unconscious when I turned her over," Judy said, "but she came around quickly when I started to give her artificial respiration."

The child was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Saanich ambulance but released after she was checked over.

Judy, who lives at 1520 Gladstone, was taking her third turn this summer in life-guarding at Hamsterly Park. Her life-saving training was taken at the YWCA.

Beaches along both Elk and Beaver Lakes were jammed Sunday as thousands headed for the water under a hot sun.

"LIVERY OF SEISIN" or "investiture" was the name of ancient ceremony which signified grant of real property. It was demonstrated by handing a piece of sod to the new owner in presence of witnesses. It was carried out at Elk-Beaver Lake Park Sunday when the area was transferred by the city of Victoria to the Regional District Board. Mayor Hugh Stephen, left, seals the deal with Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis, regional board chairman, who is holding sod. Looking on in background, from left, are Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs J. E. Brown, Esquimalt - Saanich MP George Chatterton, and Robert H. Ahrens, of the Department of Recreation and Conservation. (Times photo by William John.)

St. Croix Returns From Northern Tour

The destroyer-escort HMCS St. Croix returned to Esquimalt today from a week-long tour of northern B.C. waters.

During her trip, the St. Croix paid a two-day visit to Ketchikan, Alaska, where more than 400 toured the ship.

Two Arrested After Chase Of Stolen Car

Other Youths Hurt In Plunge Off Road

Two youths are in hospital and two others were arrested after a high-speed chase in two incidents involving stolen cars over the weekend.

Colwood RCMP officers said two 14-year-old boys were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car went over a 30-foot embankment on the Sooke Road near Kangaroo Road.

Both boys are reported in good condition today. One suffered head injuries and the other face cuts and a shoulder injury.

Police said the car involved had been reported stolen from the parking lot of the Gorge Vale Golf Club earlier.

THREE FORCES

Less than an hour later, shortly before 3 a.m., police from three forces combined to stop a speeding car on the Patricia Bay Highway and arrest the two 16-year-old occupants.

A Central Saanich police cruiser chasing the auto radioed for assistance and was joined by an RCMP police car from the Sidney detachment.

The car, reported stolen earlier in Victoria, was finally stopped at a roadblock set up by Saanich police on the highway at Royal Oak Avenue. The two boys taken into custody were turned over to city police. They were scheduled to appear in juvenile court later.

Seven Hurt When Car Smashes Tree

Four boys and a girl were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car carrying eight youths went out of control on Burnside and smashed into a tree.

Two of the three other passengers were treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital and released.

All those in hospital are reported in good condition today.

They are:

Wayne Daykin, 18, of 3061 Admirals Rd., with head injuries; Brad Jorgensen, 16, of 4244 Metchosin, head and chest injuries; Len Bowers, 18, of 2838 Inlet, with cuts; Cynthia De Laronde, 17, of 161 Little Eldon, a shoulder injury and Randy McDougall, 18, of 414 Craigflower, head and leg injuries.

Larry Cardy, 16, of 2936 Dickerson and Gerry Oulette, 22, of 1316 Grant St. were treated for minor injuries. Unhurt was Anthony Armstrong, 16, of 3098 Volmer Rd.

Saanich police said the car was northbound on Burnside shortly after 2 a.m. when it went out of control just past Marigold and rammed the tree.

$800 DAMAGE

Minor damage was also done a fence and garage. Damage to the car was estimated at $800. Officers have yet to determine who was driving the auto.

Wife Charged With Stabbing

Husband Found In Hallway

Emergency surgery was performed on a city man early today after he was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a wound in his back.

Francis McKenzie Gibbs, 53, of 703 Esquimalt Road, was at one point reported in serious condition, but later listed as satisfactory.

His wife, Mary Patricia, 42, appeared in central court this morning charged with causing her husband bodily harm "by stabbing him with a knife."

$500 BAIL

Her case was remanded to July 4 for plea and bail was set at $500.

Police found Mr. Gibbs lying in the hallway of his Esquimalt Road apartment after receiving a telephone call from another resident in the building shortly after 1 a.m.

Officers said Mr. Gibbs had a wound one inch long in the left side of his back. They said they seized a foot-long knife found under some pillows in a bedroom.

SAANICH WARNED ON GORGE FLOAT

A former prairie public works foreman said today he has twice unsuccessfully urged repair of a Gorge float.

This is the same float from which it is said six-year-old David Glanville, 1054 Tillicum, slipped to his death last week.

Robert Clark, 3166 Wascana, said along with many others he uses the float for five months of the year for herring fishing. He has frequently seen four and five-year-olds playing unattended on it.

He said that one of the four pontoons at one end is missing and another is full of water with the result the other end of the float is about two or three feet out of the water.

NOTHING DONE

He said that in February he reported the condition of the float to the reeve of Saanich and a few days later two men inspected the float but nothing was done.

Last week when Mr. Clark went to pay his taxes he again reported the condition of the float and was referred to parks superintendent Bert Richman who is away on holiday.

EASY JOB

Mr. Clark, who spent four and a half years as a public works foreman in a beach area in Manitoba, said it would not be difficult to correct the situation. "I defy anyone to stand up on that float when it is wet," he said, referring to the slope of the deck. "I fell in myself but I can get out. If a child falls in there's trouble.

"I want to see the float in good shape for safety's sake."

Japanese Ships Leave Tokyo For Victoria

The warships, carrying a complement of 1,100 men, will take part in the centennial naval assembly off Victoria between July 14 and 20.

They are the Teruzuki, Yudachi, Murasame and Chikinami.

Big Stores Staying Open On Monday

Victoria's larger stores will remain open Monday, July 3, Confederation Day, and smaller stores have indicated they will follow suit.

Banks and offices, said the Chamber of Commerce today, will close Monday because their staffs, normally off on Saturdays, are entitled to another holiday because the Dominion Day statutory holiday falls on the Saturday.

For the same reason municipal and provincial government offices will be closed on Monday as well as Saturday.

B.C. Hydro will run holiday schedules on the Saturday and normal schedules on Sunday and Monday.

Virtually all stores and businesses will be closed Dominion Day, Saturday, July 1.

CONVENTION CENTRE WOULD REVITALIZE HARBOR AREA

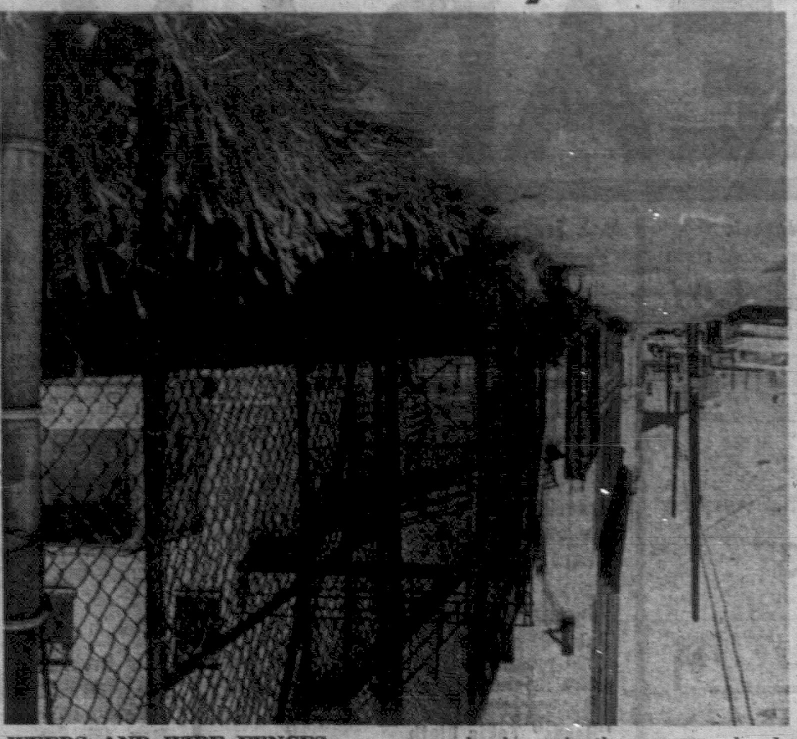
By JIM HUME



WEEDS AND WIRE FENCES are one of the first sights greeting tourists as they travel Wharf Street to seek the beauties of Bastion Square. But if plans for a major urban renewal scheme in the area go ahead the blight typical of the three-block area bounded by Wharf, Langley and Bastion will soon be a thing of the past.

Once the window of Victoria and its door to the world, the three-block area bounded by Bastion Square, Langley and Wharf Streets is feeling the pinch of urban blight.

Here and there property owners have made modest gestures to halt the decay.

Brightly colored paint covers many of the outside signs, but gaping windows from empty offices say the gay facade is just that.

On Wharf Street a service station stands drab and streaked. Stripped of the equipment which once made it a prosperous business, it now glooms over the Inner Harbor bidding a dejected welcome to ferry-travelling tourists.

Only in one section of the three-block area is there any sign of a major attempt to halt the waterfront blight.

In the old six-storey Liquor Control Board building across from the silent Pacific Club renovations are scheduled to the tune of $86,000. It will be used by the provincial government as the old Temple Building at Fort and Langley is, to relieve crowded office space.

It could be the first step of what city officials hope will be a massive face-lifting job to restore what is basically the old Fort Victoria site to a position of active pride.

●

The key to the plan—which city officials admit remains in the discussion stage—is the proposed multi-purpose convention centre.

One of the two sites recommended for consideration by the city's convention centre committee lies on Wharf between the Black Ball Ferry dock and the old HMCS Malahat recruiting centre.

If council accepts the site over the second proposal to build the convention centre close to the Crystal Garden, it will also endorse the over-all committee recommendation which would see the centre built as a part of a major urban renewal scheme.

City planner Geoff Greenhalgh is convinced both senior governments would look with favor on such a project. He stands on fairly solid ground.

At the opening of Bastion Square, Canada's first completed urban renewal scheme, federal and provincial cabinet ministers urged the city not to consider the Square a completed project, but to regard it as merely the first stage of a much wider concept.

Since then Ottawa-based officials have re-asserted their belief that the Bastion Square project should seek wider boundaries to the south.

And as recently as last week the provincial government verbally informed the city that it was keenly interested in the urban renewal program and would look with favor on a detailed presentation.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has already gone on record as being in favor of a convention centre and has stated that his government will help with the cost providing the centre is built as a regional project.

But that was before the urban renewal plus a convention centre proposal was unveiled by Clyde Savage, chairman of the convention centre committee.

It is understood that the premier now favors the latter scheme and will not only support the urban renewal program but would also be prepared to approve a matching grant to the city of up to $1 million to build the centre.

●

City officials are reluctant to make specific commitments before Ald. Percy Frampton and his select committee make a positive recommendation to council on the two convention centre sites (Wharf Street and the Crystal) proposed by the original study committee.

But they leave no doubt that the Wharf Street program is the one they support and the one they would like to see go ahead.

In the official convention centre report Mr. Savage expressed his views openly.

"Redevelopment of the waterfront from the Causeway to Bastion Square is the most significant renewal and rehabilitation project which could be undertaken to enhance the city's attraction as a resort and to secure and revitalize the commercial centre," is the way the report backs the proposal.

●

Two weeks ago J. Everett Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs, appealed to the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities to change their thinking when approaching the problem of restoring life to a downtown core.

He was asked if the urban renewal proposal for Bastion, Langley and Wharf was closer to the provincial government's concept of restoration programs and he answered with an unqualified "yes."

Since then Mr. Brown has conveyed to city officials the fact that he was not alone in the senior government in looking with favor on the project.

What happens next?

First the scheme needs the endorsation of city council and that will not come until Ald. Frampton presents his committee's report.

With that hurdle cleared the city would commence immediately a preliminary feasibility study to determine whether the city could undertake the necessary financial commitment.

In turn that would hinge on the willingness of the federal and provincial governments to officially endorse the project as an urban renewal scheme.

Remembering the verbal commitments already made the strong indication is that senior government approval would be speedy.

With both senior governments backing the scheme the cost sharing for land acquisition and site clearance would be shared on a three-level basis with the federal government footing 50 per cent of the bill and the provincial and municipal governments sharing the balance on a 25-25 basis.

●

City planners stress that approval of an urban renewal scheme would not mean a razing of the three-block area.

"That isn't the idea at all," said a department spokesman. "The entire concept must be regarded as an extension of Bastion Square. I think it's pretty obvious what has been done there. All the old buildings remain with the outside facade restored and the interiors completely modernized.

"If the area bounded by Bastion, Langley and Wharf is declared an urban renewal program that same thinking would be carried forward. The old buildings of historic value or architectural charm would remain as a very important part of the project."

Some of the buildings, beyond repair or restoration would undoubtedly fall to the wrecker's hammer to let some light and open spaces into the now jumbled cheek-by-jowl clutter.

City officials have no doubt that with acceptance of the project as an urban renewal scheme private capital will be quick to take advantage of development as it has in Bastion Square.

Plans are already on the drawing boards for a major hotel and small boat marina opposite the foot of Fort Street and for a 360 car parkade between Fort, Broughton, Wharf and Langley.

Preliminary plans would see the entire waterfront landscaped between the Causeway and Bastion with the convention centre located on the present Ocean Cement plant site.

Skywalks would cross Wharf from the new parkade to the convention centre-hotel sites and from Bastion to a small park-like area north of the proposed hotel.

●

"It could be the biggest and most dramatic undertaking Victoria has made on the past 50 years or will make for the next 50 years," says Mr. Greenhalgh.

And said Mr. Savage in his convention centre report: "The waterfront site adjoining Wharf Street must be considered to be the prime location not only because of its intrinsic suitability for a convention centre, but also because of its wider impact in its ability to stimulate new development in the waterfront area."

Or maybe a 1965 report from the Panel on Water and Waterfronts said it better to President Johnson.

"We must reverse the historic tendency to use watercourses primarily for transportation and the carrying wastes, and plan for their protection and development to enhance human life and the quality of man's environment."

That, say city planners, is what they are talking about when they endorse urban renewal plan from Bastion Square to the Causeway.

CHINA TIGHTENS ZAMBIA LINKS

PEKING (Reuters) — President Kenneth Kaunda's visit to China has ushered in a new stage of development in friendship and co-operation between China and Zambia, a communique on the visit said today.

The visit made important contributions to the strengthening of Afro-Asian solidarity, the communique said. It announced that Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has accepted an invitation to visit Zambia but mentioned no date.

President Kaunda, who made a short provincial tour after his talks with Chou in Peking, arrived in Karachi early today on his way home.

The communique mentioned no tangible results of the visit but President Kaunda told a weekend banquet that China has agreed to provide Zambia with a $17,000,000 interest-free loan "under terms which are of mutual benefit to both of us."

22 KILLED, 200 HURT

Tornadoes Cause Havoc in Europe

LONDON (CP)—Tornadoes and violent thunderstorms roaring across northwestern Europe during the weekend killed at least 22 persons and injured nearly 200.

A tornado that smashed parts of a half dozen villages near Douai, France, left seven dead and about 40 injured. Six persons were killed and 17 injured when a tornado swept through parts of the Netherlands. Weathermen said it was the same tornado that struck the French villages.

One person was killed and about 100 others injured at Oostmalle, a small Belgian town near the Dutch border. A 12-year-old cyclist was killed near Gruges, Belgium, when hit by an uprooted tree.

Antwerp was flooded by torrential rains.

EXPLORERS DROWN

Torrential rains also fell on London. Five cave explorers drowned in an underground cave at Conistone when water rushed in from a stream swollen by torrents of rain.

Two other persons died in miscellaneous accidents connected with the storm throughout Europe.

Helicopters and boats rescued more than 500 yachtsmen off the southeast coast of Britain. Many houses were struck by lightning.

A Dutch passenger train was almost derailed when a farm building was scattered across the tracks by the storm. The engineer stopped the train in time.

Weathermen said the extreme conditions were traceable to the collision of a hot, dry mass of air with a damp air mass off the Atlantic.

NEWSPAPERMEN CHARGED IN S. AFRICA

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—The editors of two of South Africa's leading anti-government newspapers were summoned to appear in court here this week on charges of publishing false information about prisons, a police spokesman announced today.

They are Laurence Gandar, editor-in-chief of the Rand Daily Mail, and Joe Mervis, editor of the Sunday Times, both strongly anti-government Johannesburg newspapers.

Also appearing with them on similar charges will be Benjamin Pogrund, a reporter of the Rand Daily Mail, and two other men, the spokesman said. The hearing was scheduled for Thursday.

The Rand Daily Mail and the Sunday Times published several articles on conditions in South African prisons in June and July, 1965. Those in the Rand Daily Mail were written by Pogrund.

Youth Admits Forging Cheque

A young man who bought a jacket with a cheque for $30.08 admitted the cheque was worthless and pleaded guilty to forgery when he appeared in central court Friday.

Gary Ellis, 20, of 1121 Pandora, blamed his drinking for the fact he had gone to Woolco and bought a jacket, subsequently stolen from him, with the cheque made out in the name of another member of his family for which no account existed.

He was remanded for one week for a pre-sentence report.

Protest Called Off

LYTTON (CP) — Two dozen women Saturday called off a planned protest march on the Kamloops home of Highways Minister Gaglardi. The march was to be in protest of unsafe river crossings for children going to schools across the Fraser River.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures and soybeans prices were lower on the Chicago Board of Trade in light trade.

Sellers of futures were more aggressive than buyers and dominated the activity.

There was some scattered buying activity of wheat futures on the opening but liquidation entered the pit and prices fell up to two cents at one time. There followed a slight firming up in prices.

WINNIPEG (CP — Grain prices showed considerable irregularity in light trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Flax and rapeseed prices eased off in response to hedging sales. Export interest appeared quiet. A factor in the flax market was the failure of a predicted frost to develop over the weekend.

Oats and barley trade was light and domestic. Buyers showed a definite lack of interest. Rye prices were lower, reflecting declines in the Chicago rye market.

Toronto Group Seeks Charter For New Bank

TORONTO (CP)—A charter for a new bank is being sought by a group of Toronto businessmen, a lawyer for the group says.

Notice of a petition for the bank was published Thursday in the Canada Gazette and Friday Richard J. Stanbury, a partner in the law firm of Hollingworth and Stanbury, said the petition will be filed soon with either the Senate or the House of Commons. Then a private member's bill would be introduced.

He said backers of the proposed Continental Bank will not identify themselves until they have met federal finance department officials and the inspector-general of banks to discuss the application.

"This meeting will take place probably within a few weeks," he said.

Mr. Stanbury, a director of York Trust and Savings Corp. and a member of the British International Finance (Canada) Ltd. group which controls the Bank of Western Canada, said he is not one of the principals.

Blue Chips Ragged

THE NEW YORK market weakened late this afternoon as industrials took a loss although gains and losses remained about even on the over-all stock list. Trading was active.

Blue chips became ragged as Eastman Kodak dropped 2; General Electric, Union Carbide and Woolworth about a point each.

Meanwhile, IBM rose 8, American Smelting 2 and Southern Railway 1. It was a confused market as the international questions seemed to remain in abeyance while Wall Street turned its attention to an expected parade of second-quarter earnings, many of which will be lower in comparison with a year ago.

Among Canadians, Granby Mining gained 1⅝, Massey-Ferguson ½, International Nickel ⅝ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point, Dome Mines was down ¾ and Walker Gooderham ¼.

AT TORONTO the exchange continued an indecisive performance.

Share turnover remained light and by 2 p.m. 1,631,000 shares had changed hands compared with 1,414,000 at the same time Friday.

ITL Industries dropped 1 to 33½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅞ to 66⅛, Bell Telephone ½ to 48⅝ and Alcan ⅜ to 29. Oshawa A and Woodward A advanced 1 each to 41¾ and 31¼.

Western oils were the only major group to gain as Canadian Superior climbed 2⅛ to 46⅞. Dome slid 1 to 58 and Hudson's Bay ⅝ to 38⅝.

The exchange continued to withhold trading in shares of Scurry-Rainbow. Trading was suspended Thursday morning, pending a detailed release of the company's mining activities in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Base metals turned sharply lower as Denison retreated 2 to 76 and Roman Corp., whose chief asset is Denison shares, 1 to 20⅝.

AT MONTREAL the market was mixed to narrowly lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Abitibi and MacMillan-Bloedel each ⅝ weaker at 9½ and 28⅛, respectively.

Senior mines were fractionally easier. Denison slid 1½ points to 77 and Rio Algom ⅝ to 36⅛. Two nickels—Falconbridge and International—each advanced ½ to 85½ and 106¾.

Shell slipped ⅛ to 29 and Imperial ¼ to 62⅝ in the senior oil section.

Utilities were mixed. Inter-provincial Pipe Line gained ½ to 24¼ while Bell Telephone dipped ¾ to 48¼.

Industrials were stronger. Massey-Ferguson was up ½ to 21½ and Molson A and Weston A ⅜ each to 24 and 19⅞.

AT LONDON equity markets started the week on a firm note although business was not on a great scale.

Sentiment was helped by the Johnson-Kosygin talks. Tobaccos were a good section.

Gilts were quiet but price movements were somewhat irregular.

Dollar stocks were mixed despite a strong dollar premium. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas was in demand but other Canadians moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels. Inco recouped half of an initial one-point fall. Canadian banks improved.

Home banks were steady but insurances lacked interest. The international favorites often hardened a shade.

AT VANCOUVER Sun A rose .50 to a new high of $32 in pre-noon trading.

Woodward was also strong in the industrials and put on 75 cents to $31. PWA dipped .12 to $14.25.

The mining section was weak with Coronet off .15 to $1.35, Sileurian down .04 to .78 and Utica $3.82, and West Coast Resources, 92, each off .03.

In the oils, Plains Pete remained active and lost .03 to .82 on 145,000 shares.

Plant Talks In Critical Stage

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hay, president of British American Oil Co. Ltd., says he is not concerned about the way negotiations are progressing for a 60,000-barrel-a-day refinery the company is planning in the Port Hawkesbury area of Cape Breton Island.

Mr. Hay commented during the weekend on a report that negotiations between the company and the federal and Nova Scotia governments have reached a critical stage.

The company announced plans for the refinery last February, when it was estimated to cost $40,000,000. Construction was tentatively scheduled to begin late this year.

The company is said to be asking for federal aid exceeding a grant of $5,000,000. The amount of government financing, above the $5,000,000 available to the company under the federal Area Development Agency program, has been reported a stumbling block.

Because of the depressed economic state of the region and the need to find alternative employment for displaced coal miners, some federal ministers are said to be favorably inclined to giving B-A more financial assistance than would normally be available.

B-A officials have talked with several federal cabinet ministers including Energy Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Health Minister Allan MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet.

Hydro Potential

VANCOUVER (CP) — Northern Development Minister Arthur Laing announced Sunday a Vancouver firm has been given a contract to assess hydro-electric power potential and needs of the Yukon. Receiving the $84,500 contract is Ingledew and Associates.

MILL WORK BEGINS

'Japan Closer Than Ottawa'

CRANBROOK (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Saturday officially marked the beginning of construction on a $42,000,000 pulp mill at Skookumchuck, 33 miles north of here in the East Kootenays.

The mill, the 21st pulp mill to be constructed in the province, is a joint venture of two Japanese firms—Honshu Paper Manufacturing Co. Ltd., and Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha Ltd.—and the East Kootenay Crestbrook Forest Industries Ltd.

The mill is expected to be completed by November, 1968.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston said the new mill is the most courageous project ever launched in the pulp industry in B.C.

"The project could have gone ahead much sooner," he said, "except for the failure to obtain North American financing.

"Then the Japanese government made funds available to employ Canadian workers to produce a product for world wide use."

Premier Bennett told the gathering Japan is closer economically to B.C. than it is to Ottawa.

"On this platform we have the outstanding bankers and businessmen of Japan," the premier said. "There is nothing but a friendly Pacific link between us and Japan.

"This is the largest single investment by Japanese interests in this province," he said.

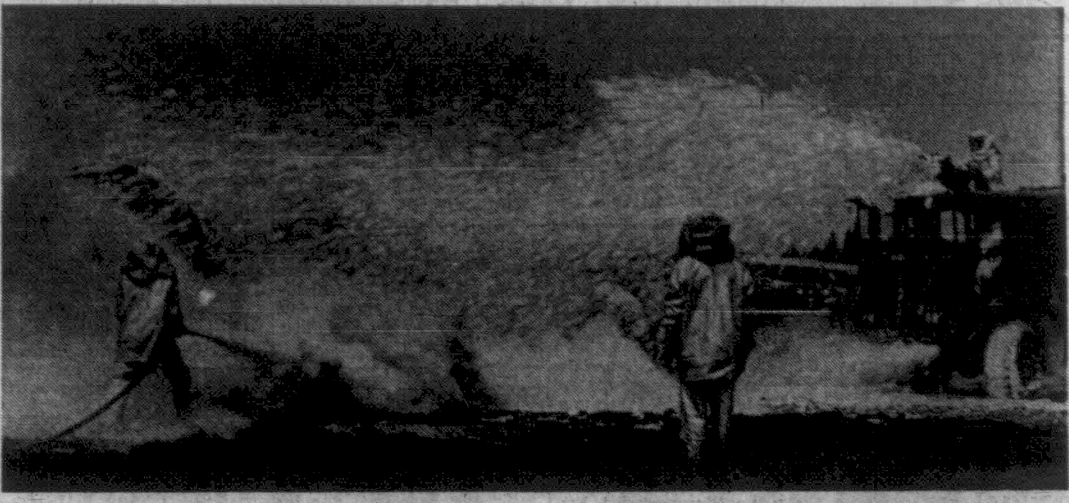
Glamor Boys of the Air Bore in Hard To Win Hearts of 10,000 at Big Show

ALL EYES were riveted on the sky at Armed Forces Day Saturday as air force and navy squadrons staged one of the biggest air shows to date. Three Neptune bombers drone overhead as the planes on the ground are temporarily forgotten. In the foreground is a T-33 jet trainer, dwarfed by a Hercules transport, the largest plane owned by the Canadian forces.



PILOTS FELT BETTER after this little show by armed forces firefighters. The asbestos-clad men doused 50-foot flames from a mock aeroplane in only 10 seconds. Firefighting display was one of several witnessed by crowd of more than 10,000 at Armed Forces Day. (Robin Clarke photos.)

By TERRY IZZARD

The army and navy were there too.

But the air force stole the show at Armed Forces Day Saturday.

The fly-boys made sure all eyes were upturned as they treated a crowd of 10,000-plus to one of the biggest air shows yet.

And quite rightly since the show was being held at Patricia Bay airport instead of off Dallas Road as in past years.

Instead of having centre stage, the navy had to take back seat—making do with a well-patronized shuttle service to the nearby Pat Bay jetty where the destroyer-escort Mackenzie was holding open house.

However, the navy's VU-33 squadron made up for the lack of ships with several displays of its flying capabilities.

●

Under clear blue skies the airport gates opened to a steady stream of cars at noon.

In traditional style, the show opened to the blare of marching bands.

For two hours before the pilots took over, the crowds were kept interested in a variety of displays.

Firefighters demonstrated the art of quelling a blaze aboard ship and rescuing a victim from a blazing plane.

Queues formed throughout the day below a variety of aircraft which were open for inspection.

In the hangar, technical buffs were given an opportunity to inspect radar and meteorology equipment.

For the kiddies the army came through with flying colors.

Youngsters were treated to a ride aboard an armored personnel carrier. They were also given the opportunity to sit in the operating seat of mounted anti-aircraft guns.

For those who wanted to get off the ground there was a model Sopwith Camel running regular flights to the top of a nearby pole.

●

But everything took second place to the real thing when the two hour air show finally got under way.

Spectators crowded to the edge of the field as fighter planes, trackers and helicopters were put through their paces.

Most spectacular of the events was a rescue operation by the twin-rotor Labrador helicopter from Comox.

Crowds thrilled to the sight of two crew members being lowered by rope to the ground, followed by an actual pick-up of a stretcher case.

In addition to the rescue operation, the large helicopter demonstrated its manoeuvrability.

For a change of pace, the army showed off its single-engine Cessna spotter plane.

As a change from high speed jet flyovers, the army pilot gave a demonstration of low speed stalls and turns.

While being kept busy watching all this, the crowd unconsciously munched its way through Hundreds of pounds of hot dogs and many gallons of pop and coffee.

Said an armed forces spokesman: "It was one of the most successful Armed Forces Days yet held."

DESPITE HOW IT FELT

City Not Hot . . . Officially

Temperature records were broken in six B.C. centres Sunday but officially Victoria was not one of them.

Vancouver's Sunday high of 80 broke the previous record for June 25 set in 1961 with 74 degrees.

Many Victoria people felt that Sunday was the hottest day so far this year but official temperatures taken at the high-level Gonzales weather station, always subject to any cooling sea breezes, registered only 63 on Sunday and 68 on Saturday.

The city weather pattern has now changed, said meteorologist Allan McQuarrie. Disturbances are moving in from the west and a little rain can be expected Tuesday.

However, an improvement can be expected in midweek, he said.

Sunday Kamloops registered a temperature of 91, the highest in Canada.

Record highs of 83 were reported in Abbotsford and Nanaimo. In the northeast, Fort St. John had a temperature of 84, and in Fort Nelson, 87 was the record high.

Youth Injured In Boat Mishap At Salt Spring

A 13-year-old boy is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital in Victoria after a mishap with his father's boat on Sunday.

Richard Harrison, of Cowichan Station, escaped death by inches as the high-powered boat skimmed by him off the northwest coast of Salt Spring Island.

FOOT CUT

He was plucked from the water with a badly cut foot.

The mishap was witnessed by several persons from the shore.

Said one witness, Duncan lawyer Donald MacDonald: "The boat had been tied up at the dock on shore. The father appeared to say something to the boy as he untied the mooring rope.

When the boat started off the boy appeared to be clinging to the bow.

"Suddenly the boat swerved and the youngster was thrown into the water. As it completed its turn the boat slewed and the boy disappeared under the stern.

"I thought it must have hit him on the head.

"Then he appeared. The boat turned round and picked him up."

POLICE PROBE

Richard was rushed to Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges and later transferred to Victoria.

Police at Ganges said they are investigating the mishap which happened around 7:45 p.m.

The boat was described as a 22-foot power cruiser.

St. Croix Returns From Northern Tour

The destroyer-escort HMCS St. Croix returned to Esquimalt today from a week-long tour of northern B.C. waters.

During her trip, the St. Croix paid a two-day visit to Ketchikan, Alaska, where more than [illegible]00 toured the ship.

Guard Saves Life Of Seven-Year-Old

The alertness of a 17-year-old girl life guard saved a little girl from drowning in Elk Lake Sunday afternoon.

Rhonda Cunningham, seven, of 870 Darwin, was floating face down and unconscious in about three feet of water when she was spotted by guard Judy Soper.

"She was unconscious when I turned her over," Judy said, "but she came around quickly when I started to give her artificial respiration."

The child was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Saanich ambulance but released after she was checked over.

Judy, who lives at 1520 Gladstone, was taking her third turn this summer in life-guarding at Hamsterly Park. Her life-saving training was taken at the YWCA.

Beaches along both Elk and Beaver Lakes were jammed Sunday as thousands headed for the water under a hot sun.

"LIVERY OF SEISIN" or "investiture" was the name of ancient ceremony which signified grant of real property. It was demonstrated by handing a piece of sod to the new owner in presence of witnesses. It was carried out at Elk-Beaver Lake Park Sunday when the area was transferred by the city of Victoria to the Regional District Board. Mayor Hugh Stephen, left, seals the deal with Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis, regional board chairman, who is holding sod. Looking on in background, from left, are Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs J. E. Brown, Esquimalt - Saanich MP George Chatterton, and Robert H. Ahrens, of the Department of Recreation and Conservation. (Times photo by William John.)

Two Arrested After Chase Of Stolen Car

Other Youths Hurt In Plunge Off Road

Two youths are in hospital and two others were arrested after a high-speed chase in two incidents involving stolen cars over the weekend.

Colwood RCMP officers said two 14-year-old boys were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car went over a 30-foot embankment on the Sooke Road near Kangaroo Road.

Both boys are reported in good condition today. One suffered head injuries and the other face cuts and a shoulder injury.

Police said the car involved had been reported stolen from the parking lot of the Gorge Vale Golf Club earlier.

THREE FORCES

Less than an hour later, shortly before 3 a.m., police from three forces combined to stop a speeding car on the Patricia Bay Highway and arrest the two 16-year-old occupants.

A Central Saanich police cruiser chasing the auto radioed for assistance and was joined by an RCMP police car from the Sidney detachment.

The car, reported stolen earlier in Victoria, was finally stopped at a roadblock set up by Saanich police on the highway at Royal Oak Avenue. The two boys taken into custody were turned over to city police. They were scheduled to appear in juvenile court later.

Seven Hurt When Car Smashes Tree

Four boys and a girl were admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday after a car carrying eight youths went out of control on Burnside and smashed into a tree.

Two of the three other passengers were treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital and released.

All those in hospital are reported in good condition today.

They are:

Wayne Daykin, 18, of 3061 Admirals Rd., with head injuries; Brad Jorgensen, 16, of 4244 Metchosin, head and chest injuries; Len Bowers, 18, of 2838 Inlet, with cuts: Cynthia De Laronde, 17, of 161 Little Eldon, a shoulder injury and Randy McDougall, 18, of 414 Craigflower, head and leg injuries.

Larry Cardy, 16, of 2936 Dickerson and Gerry Oulette, 22, of 1316 Grant St. were treated for minor injuries. Unhurt was Anthony Armstrong, 16, of 3098 Volmer Rd.

Saanich police said the car was northbound on Burnside shortly after 2 a.m. when it went out of control just past Marigold and rammed the tree.

$800 DAMAGE

Minor damage was also done a fence and garage. Damage to the car was estimated at $800. Officers have yet to determine who was driving the auto.

Wife Charged With Stabbing

Husband Found In Hallway

Emergency surgery was performed on a city man early today after he was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a wound in his back.

Francis McKenzie Gibbs, 53, of 703 Esquimalt Road, was at one point reported in serious condition, but later listed as satisfactory.

His wife, Mary Patricia, 42, appeared in central court this morning charged with causing her husband bodily harm "by stabbing him with a knife."

$500 BAIL

Her case was remanded to July 4 for plea and bail was set at $500.

Police found Mr. Gibbs lying in the hallway of his Esquimalt Road apartment after receiving a telephone call from another resident in the building shortly after 1 a.m.

Officers said Mr. Gibbs had a wound one inch long in the left side of his back. They said they seized a foot-long knife found under some pillows in a bedroom.

SAANICH WARNED ON GORGE FLOAT

A former prairie public works foreman said today he has twice unsuccessfully urged repair of a Gorge float.

This is the same float from which it is said six-year-old David Glanville, 1054 Tillicum, slipped to his death last week.

Robert Clark, 3166 Wascana, said along with many others he uses the float for five months of the year for herring fishing. He has frequently seen four and five-year-olds playing unattended on it.

He said that one of the four pontoons at one end is missing and another is full of water with the result the other end of the float is about two or three feet out of the water.

NOTHING DONE

He said that in February he reported the condition of the float to the reeve of Saanich and a few days later two men inspected the float but nothing was done.

Last week when Mr. Clark went to pay his taxes he again reported the condition of the float and was referred to parks superintendent Bert Richman who is away on holiday.

EASY JOB

Mr. Clark, who spent four and a half years as a public works foreman in a beach area in Manitoba, said it would not be difficult to correct the situation. "I defy anyone to stand up on that float when it is wet," he said, referring to the slope of the deck. "I fell in myself but I can get out. If a child falls in there's trouble.

"I want to see the float in good shape for safety's sake."

Japanese Ships Leave Tokyo For Victoria

Four Japanese cruisers due in Victoria July 14 set sail today from Tokyo.

The warships, carrying a complement of 1,100 men, will take part in the centennial naval assembly off Victoria between July 14 and 20.

They are the Teruzuki, Yudachi, Murasame and Chikinami.

Big Stores Staying Open On Monday

Victoria's larger stores will remain open Monday, July 3, Confederation Day, and smaller stores have indicated they will follow suit.

Banks and offices, said the Chamber of Commerce today, will close Monday because their staffs, normally off on Saturdays, are entitled to another holiday because the Dominion Day statutory holiday falls on the Saturday.

For the same reason municipal and provincial government offices will be closed on Monday as well as Saturday.

B.C. Hydro will run holiday schedules on the Saturday and normal schedules on Sunday and Monday.

Virtually all stores and businesses will be closed Dominion Day, Saturday, July 1.

Hard Stand Jolts Hopes for Pact

By WILLIAM R. FRYE
Times UN Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The official public report by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on his Glassboro, N.J., talks with President Johnson is:

- Little if any progress on the Mideast or Vietnam.
- "Significant forward movement" on a treaty to ban the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Kosygin gave his report here Sunday at a televised UN news conference.

If Israel does not withdraw from territories conquered in the Mideast war, the Soviet Union wants the UN security council to impose "sanctions" on her, Kosygin said.

If, on the other hand, Israel does pull out, there then can be negotiations on a wide range of subjects, including limitations on arms shipments to the area, he declared.

He acknowledged that on this order of priorities, he and the president "did not reach agreement." Johnson, he said, wants to "consider the entire complex of questions" as a single package.

Kosygin was careful to portray his position as one of continuing solidarity with the Arab states. Observers said he obviously was trying to ease Arab fears of a possible Soviet-American accord behind their backs.

On Vietnam, Kosygin similarly sought to reassure North Vietnam he remained tough.

Indeed, he went a step further than the Kremlin has done in other recent pronouncements, demanding not merely a halt in the bombing of the north but also a withdrawal of all troops aiding South Vietnam.

There are "profound differences" between President Johnson and himself on the subject, he observed. "We discussed Vietnam for quite some time, but no decisions were reached."

The news conference served to dispel some of the atmosphere of bonhomie which had been generated at Glassboro by smiles, handshakes and talk of saving the peace for grandchildren.

However, it was recognized that any progress which may have been made by the two heads of state would not necessarily have been reflected in a public statement by Kosygin, who has Peking, Hanoi and a dozen Arab capitals looking over his shoulder.

Moreover, neither Soviet nor American policy is made on the spur of the moment at a face-to-face meeting of two individuals, however high-ranking. It goes through a long and torturous process in which "hawks" and "doves" pull in opposite directions, and many divergent influences are brought to bear.

Hopeful signs discerned amongst Kosygin's more negative remarks included:

- That Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will continue discussing the Mideast, seeking agreement.
- That similar efforts will continue for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty.
- That, while disagreeing with Washington on when and under what conditions an overall Mideast settlement should be attempted, Moscow nevertheless does agree that it is desirable to make the effort. No Arab state has said this much in public.

Balancing these glimmers of hope were other, much more sombre, comments.

Asked whether as a result of his talks with Johnson he expected steps could or would be taken to end the Vietnam war, Kosygin replied: "I wouldn't say that."

In order for Soviet-American relations to show improvement, or for President Johnson to have a cordial welcome on a return visit to the Soviet Union, the United States would first have to "end" its "aggression" in Vietnam, he said.

He indicated, without saying so, that little or no progress had been made toward an agreement to curb the installation of expensive anti-ballistic missile systems in the two countries.

In an interesting aside, he remarked that he opposed nuclear-weapon tests by all countries. He was answering a question about Red China's H-bomb test, but ovservers noted that France is also preparing at least one weapons test in the Pacific.

Summit Meeting 'Stab in Back'

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Albania, an ally of Red China, charged today that Russia called the emergency session of the General Assembly to hide its treachery against the Arabs and as a plot to negotiate with U.S. President Johnson "at the expense of the peoples of the world."

The attack was delivered as Soviet Premier Kosygin already was headed back to Moscow by way of Havana, Cuba.

Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi told the 122-country assembly the Kosygin government had stabbed the Arab countries in the back.

He said the "progressive peoples" of the world were "profoundly indignant" at the "friendly meetings" of Kosygin and Johnson.

King Hussein of Jordan addressed the General Assembly this afternoon and accused UN members of observing a double standard on Arab and Israeli problems.

Hussein said there would have been demands for an immediate withdrawal from the big powers if the Arabs were occupying Tel Aviv today.

Nasi called the Soviet position on the Middle East "hypocritical" and added that the Soviet aid to the Arabs "is a vast fraud."

FAILED ARABS

The Russians, not only failed to come to the aid of the Arabs "but they reached an understanding with the United States to co-ordinate their actions both inside and outside the United Nations."

"Do not imagine, you Americans, that Albania is alone and isolated. Albania has powerful friends."

To the Soviet revisionists he said:

"We repulse your friendship.

"We can say with satisfaction that you have lost forever the monopoly over atomic arms and you will not be able to frighten us as you have done before.

"I am not speaking in a wilderness. It is you who are alone and isolated. It is you who are trembling and not us. We will beat you; you will not beat us."

Nasi submitted a resolution charging that Israel had committed a "premediated and long-prepared" act of armed aggression with the direct assistance of the United States and Britain.

JORDAN CLOSES ESCAPE ROUTE

AMMAN (UPI)—Jordan today closed the Allenby Bridge across the River Jordan and refused to accept any more refugees from Israeli-occupied territory.

Panic-stricken refugees have been pouring across the war-damaged bridge at the rate of 1,000 per day since the Arab-Israeli war ended two weeks ago, presenting Jordan with a chronic refugee problem.

Israelis have been openly encouraging inhabitants of the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River to flee to the east bank, still held by Jordan.

Appeals by King Hussein and other Jordanian officials to west bank citizens to stay in their homes have fallen on deaf ears.

Split Not Healed

Kosygin, Castro To Hold Talks

GLASSBORO, N.J. (CP)—The United States and the Soviet Union concluded a two-session summit conference Sunday without resolving their differences over major world issues.

U.S. President Lyndon Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin expressed fervent hopes for peace after nearly 10 hours of talks Friday and Sunday.

Then they left to deliver statements showing deep differences remain on the major issues of the Vietnamese war, the Middle East's continuing crisis or halting a costly competition in building rocket defences against nuclear - bearing missiles.

Today Kosygin left the United States by plane for Cuba.

The two leaders continued Sunday their first personal exposure to each other and the first Soviet-U.S. summit since 1961.

But this second round of talks delved directly into the war in Vietnam, Soviet backing for the defeated Arab states at the hands of Israel and other issues.

Kosygin via a nationally-televised press conference from New York, and Johnson in a more optimistic statement a half-hour earlier from Washington, showed how far apart the two nations remain on the main points.

NO PACT IN SIGHT

Johnson said he feels the world is a "little less dangerous" as a result of the talks. But "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis and . . . our well-known differences over Vietnam continue."

Kosygin — a soberer, more dour figure at New York than had been on display here—gave his TV audience the Soviet line as it has stood.

Both sides felt it "useful" to compare positions, he said.

But Israel is the aggressor in the Middle East and Israel must be censured, with damages to be paid for its aggression, he said.

The key point was that Israel must retire behind its original territorial limits.

"Profound differences" existed on Vietnam between the two countries. The U.S. must halt the bombing of North Vietnam and withdraw its troops from the South to bring about peace.

The president acknowledged that "agreement on Vietnam is smaller than on issues such as

Town Still Blinking

GLASSBORO, N.J. (UPI) — This sleepy college town in the heart of the South Jersey farmland was struggling back to normal today but things never again will be quite the same.

"Hollybush," for 10 hours the meeting place of the two world leaders, is once more just the home of the president of Glassboro State College.

But the 118-year-old brown fieldstone mansion may someday become a national historic shrine.

The town itself is ready to once again pick up its role of a quiet college community.

But, as 16-year-old Barbara Marshall put it: "People

10 INJURED IN MISHAP AT SOOKE

Ten people were hurt—two of them critically—in a head-on collision on the Sooke Road shortly after noon today.

Sooke RCMP said the accident took place just west of 17-Mile House.

Police are withholding the names of the injured but said one car was occupied by a man and his wife, tourists from Pennsylvania.

The other car held four adults and four children.

One person in each car was critically injured.

All victims were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by police cruiser and ambulance.

New Trial Ordered For Cleric

Horsburgh Wins Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—Warning against the validity of unsupported evidence from accomplices, the Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Russell Horsburgh, a former United Church minister, on five charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

In a 4 to 3 decision, the court said the original trial judge erred in treating as independent witnesses a group of boys and girls who swore in 1964 that the Chatham, Ont., clergyman encouraged them to have sexual intercourse in a church apartment.

Mr. Justice Ronald Martland, writing the main majority judgment, said the youngsters, who were 14 and 15 years old at the time, should have been treated as accomplices in the offences alleged.

As accomplices, their evidence would have required corroboration in order to be acceptable.

GAVE KEY EVIDENCE

Five girls and three boys were the main witnesses against Horsburgh, who resigned from the United Church ministry in June of 1965 after the Ontario Supreme Court rejected his appeal.

They testified about a series of incidents at the Park Street United Church in Chatham between July of 1963 and June of 1964. The theme of their evidence was that Horsburgh on numerous occasions persuaded them to use the vacant apartment for sexual activity.

A year later one of the youngsters, and another witness who was 19, made out affidavits stating that their trial evidence was false and was part of a conspiracy desighed to ruin Horsburgh while taking the blame away from them.

Horsburgh heard the high court's decision today at the Kent County jail in Chatham where he surrendered himself Sunday night.

Mr. Horsburgh, who had been free on bail until 6 p.m. Sunday, has spent 107 days of his one-year sentence in jail.

GLUE SNIFFING WIDESPREAD

TORONTO (CP)—The five-member jury at the inquest into the May 25 death of Norman Michael Cook, 14, was told today that glue sniffing among young people here is widespread.

Four witnesses, three of them students, told the jury of glue-sniffing parties on the beach and in theatres.

Norman Cook found his son dead in the bathroom of their home with a plastic bag over his head.

House TV

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today he prefers to delay until fall a decision on allowing the CBC to televise the Commons in action for a public affairs program.

However, he told the Commons he would be glad to look into the matter and may make a statement later this week. He said there is time before Parliament adjourns for the summer to allow the cameras in.

Boat Sunk?

KITIMAT (CP) — RCMP using three small boats were searching the waters and shoreline of Douglas Channel near Kitimat today following discovery Sunday of the body of a five or six-year-old girl, wearing a lifejacket.

The discovery led to fears that a pleasure boat carrying a family may have sunk in the area.

CONVENTION PROGRAM GIVES THE CLUE

Tory Tip-Off That Dief Will Retire

By JOHN MIKA

John Diefenbaker has let the leadership convention planning committee know he will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

That was a leading interpretation at a Progressive Conservative picnic here Saturday after word spread the committee unanimously had scheduled Mr. Diefenbaker as one of the three main speakers on the convention's opening day.

Gene Rheaume, executive secretary of the committee which held a major planning session in Victoria over the weekend, denied the group had received any word from Mr. Diefenbaker.

"We have just decided to invite Mr. Diefenbaker to speak to the party as its leader," Mr. Rheaume said.

But both grass roots supporters and some of the party "brass" at the picnic said the decision was a symbolic double-edged sword indicating Mr. Diefenbaker has decided to cut out.

They reasoned that the committee had to know Mr. Diefenbaker's intentions before making such a decision 2½ months before the Sept. 7-9 leadership meeting in Toronto because:

1. If he ran, then it would be loading the dice to allow him to speak to the delegates once as leader on opening day and a second time as one of the candidates the next day.
2. If he didn't run, it would be a travesty to have failed to put on the list of speakers one of the party's greatest leaders at what is expected to be the party's biggest convention.

So the betting inside the party now is that a little bird told the planners that when Mr. Diefenbaker rises to address the 7,000 delegates, alternates, wives and observers in Maple Leaf Gardens, it will be to deliver his swan song.

An informed source fortified the theory Saturday when he revealed that "50 members of the caucus got together to ask Donald Fleming to be a candidate. None asked Mr. Diefenbaker and I think that's what finally made up his mind."

Toronto Group Seeks Charter For New Bank

TORONTO (CP)—A charter for a new bank is being sought by a group of Toronto businessmen, a lawyer for the group says.

Notice of a petition for the bank was published Thursday in the Canada Gazette and Friday Richard J. Stanbury, a partner in the law firm of Hollingworth and Stanbury, said the petition will be filed soon with either the Senate or the House of Commons. Then a private member's bill would be introduced.

He said backers of the proposed Continental Bank will not identify themselves until they have met federal finance department officials and the inspector-general of banks to discuss the application.

"This meeting will take place probably within a few weeks," he said.

Mr. Stanbury, a director of York Trust and Savings Corp. and a member of the British International Finance (Canada) Ltd. group which controls the Bank of Western Canada, said he is not one of the principals.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Blue Chips Ragged

THE NEW YORK market weakened late this afternoon as industrials took a loss although gains and losses remained about even on the over-all stock list. Trading was active.

Blue chips became ragged as Eastman Kodak dropped 2; General Electric, Union Carbide and Woolworth about a point each.

Meanwhile, IBM rose 8, American Smelting 2 and Southern Railway 1. It was a confused market as the international questions seemed to remain in abeyance while Wall Street turned its attention to an expected parade of second-quarter earnings, many of which will be lower in comparison with a year ago.

Among Canadians, Granby Mining gained 1⅝, Massey-Ferguson ½, International Nickel ⅝ and Hudson Bay Mining ¼. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point, Dome Mines was down ¾ and Walker Gooderham ¼.

AT TORONTO the exchange continued an indecisive performance.

Share turnover remained light and by 2 p.m. 1,631,000 shares had changed hands compared with 1,414,000 at the same time Friday.

ITL Industries dropped 1 to 33½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅞ to 66⅛, Bell Telephone ½ to 48⅜ and Alcan ⅝ to 29. Oshawa A and Woodward A advanced 1 each to 41¾ and 31¼.

Western oils were the only major group to gain as Canadian Superior climbed 2½ to 46⅞. Dome slid 1 to 58 and Hudson's Bay ⅝ to 38⅞.

The exchange continued to withhold trading in shares of Scurry-Rainbow. Trading was suspended Thursday morning, pending a detailed release of the company's mining activities in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Base metals turned sharply lower as Denison retreated 2 to 76 and Roman Corp., whose chief asset is Denison shares, 1 to 20⅝.

AT MONTREAL the market was mixed to narrowly lower in light trading.

Papers were off, with Abitibi and MacMillan-Bloedel each ⅜ weaker at 9½ and 28½, respectively.

Senior mines were fractionally easier. Denison slid 1½ points to 77 and Rio Algom ¾ to 36¼. Two nickels—Falconbridge and International—each advanced ½ to 85½ and 106¾.

Shell slipped ½ to 29 and Imperial ¼ to 62¾ in the senior oil section.

Utilities were mixed. Interprovincial Pipe Line gained ½ to 24¼ while Bell Telephone dipped ¾ to 48¼.

Industrials were stronger. Massey-Ferguson was up ½ to 21½ and Molson A and Weston A ⅜ each to 24 and 19⅞.

AT LONDON equity markets started the week on a firm note although business was not on a great scale.

Sentiment was helped by the Johnson-Kosygin talks. Tobaccos were a good section.

Gilts were quiet but price movements were somewhat irregular.

Dollar stocks were mixed despite a strong dollar premium. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas was in demand but other Canadians moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels. Inco recouped half of an initial one-point fall. Canadian banks improved.

Home banks were steady but insurances lacked interest. The international favorites often hardened a shade.

AT VANCOUVER Sun A rose .50 to a new high of $32 in pre-noon trading.

Woodward was also strong in the industrials and put on .75 cents to $31. PWA dipped .12 to $14.25.

The mining section was weak with Coronet off .15 to $1.35, Sileurian down .04 to .78 and Utica $2.82, and West Coast Resources, 92, each off .03.

In the oils, Plains Pete remained active and lost .03 to .82 on 145,000 shares.

Plant Talks In Critical Stage

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hay, president of British American Oil Co. Ltd., says he is not concerned about the way negotiations are progressing for a 60,000-barrel-a-day refinery the company is planning in the Port Hawkesbury area of Cape Breton Island.

Mr. Hay commented during the weekend on a report that negotiations between the company and the federal and Nova Scotia governments have reached a critical stage.

The company announced plans for the refinery last February, when it was estimated to cost $40,000,000. Construction was tentatively scheduled to begin late this year.

The company is said to be asking for federal aid exceeding a grant of $5,000,000. The amount of government financing, above the $5,000,000 available to the company under the federal Area Development Agency program, has been reported a stumbling block.

Because of the depressed economic state of the region and the need to find alternative employment for displaced coal miners, some federal ministers are said to be favorably inclined to giving B-A more financial assistance than would normally be available.

B-A officials have talked with several federal cabinet ministers including Energy Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Health Minister Allan MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet.

MILL WORK BEGINS

'Japan Closer Than Ottawa'

CRANBROOK (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett Saturday officially marked the beginning of construction on a $42,000,000 pulp mill at Skookumchuck, 33 miles north of here in the East Kootenays.

The mill, the 21st pulp mill to be constructed in the province, is a joint venture of two Japanese firms—Honshu Paper Manufacturing Co. Ltd., and Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha Ltd.—and the East Kootenay Crestbrook Forest Industries Ltd.

The mill is expected to be completed by November, 1968.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston said the new mill is the most courageous project ever launched in the pulp industry in B.C.

"The project could have gone ahead much sooner," he said, "except for the failure to obtain North American financing.

"Then the Japanese government made funds available to employ Canadian workers to produce a product for world wide use."

Premier Bennett told the gathering Japan is closer economically to B.C. than it is to Ottawa.

"On this platform we have the outstanding bankers and businessmen of Japan," the premier said. "There is nothing but a friendly Pacific link between us and Japan.

"This is the largest single investment by Japanese interests in this province," he said.

New Colleges To Be Free In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberals joined the Union Nationale government last week to give final reading to a bill establishing free public colleges at the pre-university level.

The bill receved third reading by a vote of 74 to 1.

The pre - university colleges fill a gap in the public education system between secondary schools and universities.

Traditional route to university from a French - language secondary school has been a private classical college run by the Roman Catholic Church.

The government expects to have seven colleges open for about 10,000 students this fall. A network of more than 35 colleges with a variety of technical and academic education is envisaged. Graduates would be qualified to enter universities.

Admission will be free. The legislation follows recommendations of Quebec's royal commission on education which found existing educational institutions at the post-secondary level to be confused. At least seven separate systems are involved.

won't ask where Glassboro is any more."

A giant cleanup effort was launched at dawn today to remove tons of paper cups, soda bottles and assorted trash left by the 3,000 spectators who crowded around "Hollybush" Sunday for a glimpse of President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Within minutes after the two world leaders exchanged farewells, the campus was virtually deserted.

Seven state troopers were stationed in "Hollybush" during the night to guard against souvenir hunters, and workmen today began converting the mansion back into a home for college president and Mrs. Thomas E. Robinson.

The Robinsons, who have been living in a men's dormitory while Johnson and Kosygin made history in their home, voiced hopes some of the modern conveniences installed for the summit would be left behind.

The White House installed 17 new air conditioners in the old mansion and also put in a complete kitchen with all the latest conveniences.

Most of the air conditioners were coming out, but a spokesman said several would probably be left behind for the Robinsons.

Workmen were also busily taking down hundreds of feet of wooden snow fence erected Saturday after the secret service decided to tighten security arrangements for Sunday's session.

Though their flowers were trampled and their lawns used as shortcuts, the people of Glassboro were on the whole mighty pleased to have been able to host the two leaders.

"I don't think we'll ever forget it," said Mrs. Bonnie D'Amico. "I hope some good will come out of this meeting, and I believe it has."

BRIDGE RESULTS

Winners in the weekly duplicate bridge game conducted Saturday by the Victoria unit of the American Contract Bridge League were:

Marjorie Fortye and Will Browne-Cave; Florence Curran and H. E. Robertson; Margaret and Jack McAvoy; Freda Small and Dorothy McConnell; Dorothy and Steve Jennings.

Texas Boy Dies of Leukemia After Reported 'Cure'

DALLAS (AP) — Frankie Hayes Jr., 9, died in hospital here Sunday of leukemia, the blood disease he was reported several weeks ago to have beaten.

The boy, who was reported holding his own only last week, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes Sr.

He succumbed at 3:15 p.m. after his condition worsened Friday, attendants at the hospital said.

Two months ago, the boy was reported to have undergone complete remission of leukemia, the dread cancer of the blood. His treatment at Wadley Research Institute here had been with the drug L-asparaginase.

Dr. Joseph Hill, director of the institute, was reprimanded by the Dallas County Medical Society for prematurely announcing that young Hayes possibly had been cured.

The announcement of the reported cure actually came from Texarkana, Tex., from J. K. Wadley for whom the Wadley Research Institute was named.
